Reports of Committees.

Mr. Anderson, chairman, presented a report from the Elinance committee which recommended payment of a number of accounts and dealt with several applications for a refund of fees. Secretary Spier was instructed to inform the Town Council that the Board would submit its estimates for the year at the earliest possible moment. The report was adopted Mr. Staples, chairman of the Managing committee, reported verbally. The Collegiate Institute repairs elbuid be arranged for, and he would like the full board to make an examination.—Agreed to. The Trustees' Convention.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, second-ed by Mr. John Kennedy, Rev. J. W. Macmillan and Col. Deacon were ap-pointed to represent the board at the annual meeting of the Ontario Edu-cational Association, to be held in Toronto about the end of the month.

Public School Libraries. Public School Libraries.

Rubhorpul Broderick addressed the board in support of his scheme to establish a small library in each of (b) ward schools. He had ascertained that one child in every five reads school text books only, and only one in every sine or ten takes books out of the Public Library. Experience had tangint him that it would be described to have a number of books in the schools, so that the teachers might be able to recommend the book best suited to the child. Mr. Broderick said he would also like to get the board's endorsation of a radical change in the method of teaching geography—he proposed to introduce stereopticon views, and he wished the board to provide the slides or views, the west to be repaid later on out of the proceeds of an Empire Day entertainment. He also desired the board to provide the slides or views, the west to be repaid later on out of the proceeds of an Empire Day entertainment. He also desired the board's permission to spend a couple of weeks visiting the schools in other towns with a view to the introduction of other improvements.

The suggestions were discussed for some time. Rev. Maomilian thought that perhaps the directors of the Public Library might arrange to make the Juvenile department more interesting, but Mr. Broderick said the Henty class of books most frequently called for by Library readers, was not the kind desired—wen the books in some of the Sabbath school libraries were unsuitable. One teacher had expended about $20 during the last three or four years in establishing a small library, and the children were eager to get the books. There was an amount of $70 on hand from the last Empire Day concert, and this would suffice for a start—later on, if the libraries were well patronized, the board would be asked for a grant to buy new books.

The two propositions were endorsed and on motion Mr. Broderick was granted two weeks' leave of absence, his expenses to be defrayed by the board.

Mr. Anderson, seconded by Col. Anderson and Others Think the Issue Should be Faced at Once —Principal Broderick will introduce Stereoptican Ylows in the Teaching of Geography and in the Meantime Will Visit Other Schools at the Town's Expense—Libraries in the Public Schools the Next Innovation—Sir Wilfrid to be Invited to Lecture. They Want the Premier.

A communication was read from the Lecture Course committee of the Collegiate Institute asking the board's co-operation in an endeavor to secure $15 r Wilfrid Laurier as one of the lecturers on next year's course. Principal Harstone was heard in support of the request.

Mysterious Disappearance of Paddy Donoghue.

Paddy Donoghue laborer, is missing

Paddy Donoghue, laborer, is missing from his home and accustomed haunts, and there is some reason to fear that he ended a life that held few joys and many sorrows by plunging into the river yesterday morning at an early hour.

Paddy indulged in frequent drinks Monday, having heard that prohibition was on the way, and that evening Chief Nevison stowed him away in the lock up for a few hours to give him a chance to sober up. He was liberated about 10 o'clock, and proceeded to his shack in the east ward, but was unable to gale admission. Where he spent the night is not known—probably in some stable. Next morning a young man named O'Brien, who works at Sylvester's foundry, met him about 6.30 near. Lockmaster Curtin's office, at the morth end of the Linday-st, bridge Since that hour he has not been seen of men.

A few minutes later Mr. Lew Winters heard a best each in the last of the lates.

Since that hour he has not been seen of men.

A few minutes later Mr. Lew Winters found a hat and one overshoe on the river bark near the steps leading to the water. No significance was attached to the find until it was learned that Proddy was missing the head and foot coverings were identified by Mrs. Paddy as having been worn by her erring sponse when he left the house Monday.

Child Nevison and other poked around in the water for a time with long poles, but without result. Many are of the opinion that Paddy's body is under the ice, while others believe that he has gone to the country for a few days, fearing that he would be sent to gool for his Monday escapade. All will be pleased if his turns up in the course of a few days.

Without another word Hicks led the way to the cellar, and there, sure enough, they found Ebenezer, the brave and the bold, buried under a mass of potatoes which had rolled down over him when he had attempted to secrete himself by burrowing into them.

Since early morning he had been in the saddle, and for 12 long hours he had followed the tortuous course of a dimly marked road which wound uncertainty up and down and in and out among the rugged hills that border the Missouri river.

He looked sheepish and cheap when he was hauled out, and when the men laughed at him he was in haif a mind to get angry, but he thought better of it and grinned instead.

"Lord, Mis'us Sparks, we don't need

"Guess Ebenezer an Sim Banks has done showed jest how brave they are," Jason Roberts observed, with a laugh, "One of 'em a-hidin in a cellar an the other'n tearin down the road lippety-ellppety, an all on account of a drove of old cows. Say, I bet the war'd soon be fit if they une had a whack at it."

"Lord! Wouldn't it, though?" Pap said, with a chuckle. "Why, it'd jest be whupped all to frazzles in no time."

Then everybody laughed—everybody, except Sparks and Banks and their wives. The two first hung their heads in shame, Mrs. Sparks bristled up in her husband's defense, while Mrs. Banks gave her husband a look full of disguest and coolly turned her back on him.

Sim looked up at his wife, a pained expression in his eyes and his face very

Mrs. Banks, instead of being touched, gave her husband one scornful glance

With her utter want of tact Mrs.

Mann said:
"I guess, Sim Banks, Loueesy's been an I reckon she thinks you ain't much

Sim's eyes flashed fire in an instant, and, trembling with anger, he cried:

Mrs. Mann sniffed contemptuously. —

"Sim Banks," she said, "you kin jest stand up for Loucesy all you pleases, but I mind she didn't stand up for you none, an my notion is she hain't goin to stand up for you, no matter what anybody says. Mrs. Mann, though actuated by a selfish interest and influenced by that feeling of bitter enmity which a woman has for a successful rival in the affections of the man she loves, spoke nearer the truth than any of her hearers dreamed—nearer even than she herself supposed. the old man continued, taking no notice of Melvin's question, and as for a successful rival in the affections of the man she loves, spoke nearer the truth than any of her hear ers dreamed—hearer even than she herself supposed.

the saddle, and for 12 long hours he had followed the tortuous course of a dimly marked road which wound uncertainly up and dewn and in and out among the rugged bills that border the Missouri river.

His assertion that the horse he rode possessed a galt like that of a cow was not an exaggeration, and neither was that other assertion, that he was hungrier than a bear. He had eaten nothing since early moraling, and his breakfast, secured at a log cabin back in the hills, had not been anything like as sumptuous as he could have desired.

And now, on top of these discomforts, James Melvin had suddenly awakened to a realization of the fact that he was lost—lost, with night and darkness coming on and nothing to guide him back to his course.

Since leaving Beckett's Mill he had.

And now, on top of these discounts, and solely in had suddenly awakened to a realization of the fact that he was lost—lost, with night and darkness coming on and nothing to guide him back to his course.

Since leaving Beckett's Mill be had traveled the main road for a short distance, then had turned off to follow a path that led up a ridge through a dark, heavy forest. For a time he got on very well, but by and by he came to a point where the path gave out, and, having nothing to further guide him, he began to ramble about the wood in an uncertain manner. This he continued for an hour before he discovered that he was merely wandering around and around, and it dawned on him that word, but under the circumstances he ued for an hour before he discovered that he was merely wandering around and around, and it dawned on him that he was lost.

He reined up his horse to consider his situation and to try to decide what he had better do under the circumstances. He found that reining up his horse was the easiest thing he had at tempted that day. The animal may have possessed other strong points, but the speed with which he came to a halt was certainly far the strongest.

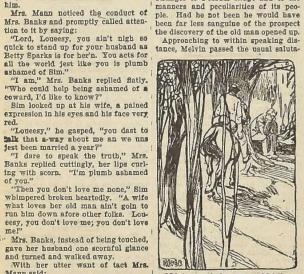

While Melvin sat there puzzling over his situation, unable to decide which way to turn, his attention was attracted by a noise which came from a point just beyond a clump of trees. That noise sounded like some one coughing, and it brought a thrill of joy and a ray of hope to Melvin's weary soul.

Getting his horse in motion as soon as possible and after some effort, he rode forward until he had passed the

It must be remembered that Melvin was a total stranger to Possum Ridge and to the manners and peculiarities of its people. There was a momentary silence. Then slowly the old fellow raised his head and, looking Melvin over calmly and deliberately from head to foot and back again, said quietly:

The native remained silent. Melvin waited a moment, then added:

The old man rose to his feet and started forward, his eyes gleaming with anger. Melvin scented serious trouble and put spurs to his horse and moved on.

"I almost wish now," he said to himself, "that I had taken the chances and stopped at Beckett's Mill. It would be no worse to run a little risk there than it is to sleep out in these woods and go without food. O God, if I could just recall that one act which shadows all my life I'd give the world!"

THE TENDER PASSION.

There were three very thoughtful and erious people at Beckett's Mill that night. They were Mr. and Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Mann. The rest of the population, both men and women, collected lation, both men and women, collected in little groups, either at a neighbor's house or on the street, and discussed the war and the events of that day. But those three remained aloof, their thoughts centered on things of far more interest to themselves.

Mrs. Banks had never felt at home among the people of Possum Ridge, at least never since she had spent a year away at college. She knew that as a way at college.

Mrs. Mann sniffed contemptuously.

few months later the wedding.

Then there came an awakening of which she had never dreamed—a sad, bitter awakening that was like a cruel crueffaxion. She realized that to make marriage sacred and happy there must be mutual love, and she know that on the real times was rope, and she felt be mutual love, and she know that on her part there was none, and she felt that the time would never come when there would be Sitting alone in her room that night, she folded her arms on the table and, pillowing her head on them, wept as though her heart would break. She had known many unbappy hours, but never any so thoroughly miserable as that.

She felt toward ber husband as she had never felt before. Often and often she had never felt before. Often and often she had experienced a feeling of dislike for some trait of his character, but it was not until now that she felt that she hated the man himself. There had been many times when his absence was a relief to ber, but it was never until this night that she had wished with all her heart that she might never see him again.

That James Melvin had much to do with her feelings she could not help but admit, although the admission caused her face to burn with shame. The knowledge that another man, and caused her face to burn with shame. The knowledge that another man, and that man at that, could be the means of making her despise her husband was bitterly humiliating, and she wished with all her heart that she could dispise Melvin as well; but, alas, that was something she could not do.

While she sat there Sim came into the room. It was late, and he had walked two miles out into the country and back. He was restless and uneasy and back. He was restless and uneasy and far more unhappy than he had ever been in all his life.

Mrs. Mann's prophecy, coupled with the words Louisa had spoken, had made a much deeper impression on him than be would have admitted to any living soul, than he even liked to admit to himself.

That there was something lacking in his married life he knew only too well, and he had known it from his wedding day, but never until now had it occurred to him how serious that lacking might be. That Louisa did not love him as a wife should be had been long him as a wife should be had been long assured, but the possibility of her loving another man was something that had never crossed his mind until this day, and the bare thought of such a thing fell on him with a crushing blow.

"Great God!" he cried aloud as he tramped the lonely country road. "Such a thing capnet must not shall not ha!

a thing cannot, must not, shall not be! It would kill me. O God, it would kill me!"

When he entered the room, Louisa did not look up, and when he spoke her name she paid no attention to him. He waited a moment, then asked her what was the matter. "Nothing," she replied between her

"Is it anything I've done?" he ques-

"Then what is it?"

"Then what is it?"

"But it is somethin, Loueesy. You know it is. Won't you tell me what?"
She shook her head.
"Did you hear what Mary Mann said this evenin down there on the street?" he asked. She shook her head again. "She said you didn't love me an that if ever you got to know that stranger you'd love his little finger better than you love my whole body. Do you know what I told her?"

"No."

"Well, I give her a settler, I guess, for once. I said, 'Miss Mann, you are a-lyin when you say any sich a thing as that, an if you was a man I'd whup you till your hide wouldn't hold shucks.' Them's the very words I said to her, an I meant 'em too."

He paused as If expecting his wife to speak, but she remained slient. He hoped that she would be pleased with him for speaking so strongly in her defense, and he felt hurt when she took no notice of his words. Presently he went on, saying:

no notice of his words. Presently he went on, saying:

"Them was hard things you said about me down there today, Loueesy, an I'd never 'a' thought you'd 'a' done it. I guess, though, you didn't mean it, did you?"

"Do you want me to tell you a lie?" she asked in turn.

"No, of course not."

"Then you'd better not ask such questions."

"You did mean it, then?" She hesitated a moment, then said:
"If I hadn't meant it, I wouldn't have said it. Now I hope you're sat-Isfied."

Sim was thoughtfully silent for almost a minute. Then he said slowly:

"I know it was cowardly for me to act like I done, a-runnin from them cattle. But, Lord a-mighty, how was I to know they was cattle 'stead of soldiers when I didn't look back to see what they was?"

"Why didn't you look back instead

Louise reland her head and fixed her and, looking Melyin over calmly and deliberately from head to foot and back again, said quietly:

"Young feller, air you a-sp'illin for a fight?"

Melvin started back and opened his eyes wide in astonishment.

"Why, no," he stammered presently;

"Mry, no," he stammered presently;

"Are you wachin to be chawed up?" the old man continued, taking no notice of Melvin's question.

"Of course not."

"Are you wantin to be larruped around here among these saplin's till your hide's wore plumb into fiddia strings an their ain't a piece left of yon big enough to bait a fishhook?"

"Certainly not. What do you mean by asking such things?"

She arose and swept out of the room, leaving Sim dumb with astonishment. It was the first time in her life that she had ever shown such spirit as that, and he did not know what to make of it. Still, he was more rejoiced than angered by her words, for he reasoned that they proved conclusively that she had not been struck by Melvin's appearance and that there was no probability of Mrs. Mann's prediction coming tare

Almost light hearted he went out on the street and walked up and down in the cool night air. He had been walk-ing so for a quarter of an hour when in passing a bouse he heard his name call He stopped and looked around, and a woman stepped out of

"Didn't you love your husband?"
"You know I didn't."
"How abould I know that?"
"You ought to know that a woman never loves but one man."
"An in your case Dick Mann wasn't that one?"
"No."

"Who was it?"

Mrs. Mann blushed and acted confused and finally stole a sly glance at Sim's face that ought to have told him the whole story. But he was thinking of something else and looking in another direction, so the effect of that smile and that glance was to a great extent lost.

says there is reason for both con-gratulation and dissatisfaction in a survey of the forestry situation in Optario. He says Ontario has gone far towards the solution of the forestry problem as regards Crown lands, while the danger from denudation in southern Ontario has not only increased, by reason of the steady diminution in the area of woodland is becoming more and more apparent to the general public. It is stated that Ontario to-day occupies a far more favorable position as regards reforestration than the majority of the adjoining states. This is because the lands have been held by the Crown when timber licenses were granted.

The report says that it has been established beyond doubt that on land where a pine fercet has grown and been cut down a young forest of pino will succeed, except when burbed over a number of times.

Art. Southworth tells of the growth of the forest reserve, which contains 1,400,000 acres, it is estimated at from three billion to five billion feet board measure. He says if this region had not been set aside as a forest reserve it would probably have been partially settled, and forest fires would have occurred.

The clerk of Forestry thinks the government has the right to cancel bleense when they see fit. He says that but for the claim of these timber licenses, which are still extant in respect to the territory from which the matured timber has been removed, the forest system could be largely extended. There are, he asserts, large tracts of country on the north shore of the Georgian Bay and lying along the C.P.R. between Pembroke and Mattawa, which are being reciothed with a growth of young pine, which could advantageously be set sidd as a timber reserves if the licenses covering them were cancelled or placed on a different basis as to dues. It is pointed out that the amount paid by way of bonus in the sale of timber berths at auction was based on the quantity and stumpage value of the pine timber standing on the territory at the time.

According to Mr. Southworth, another serious penoblem affecting our forestry operation lies in the disposal of the waste material loft by the lumbermen. This waste comprises the tops and branches of fellial trees, and constitutes a constant and serious danger, owing to its combustible nature. Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill gives telegraph and telephone companies the right to construct these or roads and highways, provided the public of such roads and highways is incommoded, or free access to any house or building shut off. Subject to the provisions contained in this act, or in the special act, a telegraph act, or in the special act, a tolegraph or telephone company is authorized to fix by bylaw the toils to be taken for messages or services. The toils may be fixed for the whole or any particular portion of the company's lines, but they are to be charged equally to all persons, and no reduction is to be made either directly or indirectly in favor or against a particular company or persons. The works of all telegraph and telephone companies incorporated under provincial laws are declared to be works for the general benefit of Canada. The bill will fix a period after the passage of the act within which telegraph and telephone companies must substitute the contract of the contract o submit their bylaws fixing tolls to the Governor in Councit, through the Public Works Department, for approval. The Government is given power at any time to assume temporary or permanent possession of any telegraph or telephone line, and the rights and privileges of any such company are then vested in the Crown. In the event of difference between a company and the Crown as to the compensy and the Crown as to the compensation to be paid, reference will be had to arbitration. The clauses relating to Government, ownership are taken bodily from the present telegraph act. Upon the application of any person to a telephone company, and tender by him of the lawful amount of foll, the complication of any person to a telephone company, and tender by him of the lawful amount of toll, the company is required with all reasonable despatch to install telephones upon such person's premises, situated within any city, town, village or territory within which a general service is given by the company, and adjoining or within 150 feet of any highway or street upon which the company has a main or branch line, and to make the necessary connections with its system. Except as otherwise provided in the bill, no higher tolls than those usually collected in any place within which a telephone company has a general service are to be asked, to be chargeable, payable, or recoverable. Any sum paid in excess after the act comes into force may be recovered in an action at law or deducted from any tolls unpaid. Every bylaw fixing and regulating tolls is made subject to revision by the Covernor in Council. In case of an order in Council altering the tolls, the revised rates are to prevail so long as the order in Council remains unrevoked.

London, March 3.—An apparently incomplete list of the casualties sustained by the British when the Boers attacked and captured the convoy of a train of empty wagons at Von Bonop, southwest of Klerksdorp, Feb. 24, published last evening, says five officers and 45 men were killed and six officers and 116 men were wounded.

London, March 3.—In response to an enquiry made by the Government as to the fate of the escort of a convoy of empty wagons, which, according to a despatch from Lord Kitchener, made public Feb. 26, was attacked and captured by the Boers southwest of Klerksdorp, Transvaal Colony, Feb. 24, Lord Kitchener has cabled the following: "A report has just been received that 16 officers and 451 men were taken prisoners. Of these one officer and 105 men have been released. Col. Anderson of the Imperial Yeomanry, who commanded, is still a prisoner. Major Enderby, who commanded the infantry, was wounded; hence the delay in obtaining definite information."

Eight Hundred Casualties.

Light Hundred Casualties.

London, March 3.—Lord Kitchener roports Saturday that the Boer casualties during the recent operations amounted to 800 men, killed or captured. General Dewet's son, who is among the prisoners, was his father's secretary.

In detail, the Boer losses were 50 men killed, 10 men wounded and 759 unwounded men made prisoners. In addition to these Lord Kitchener says it is reported that more than 100 Boers, killed or wounded, were carried of after the attack on the blockhouse line, Feb. 24. These figures, however, cannot be verified, so they are not included in the above totals. Apart from the losses of the New Zealanders, the sther British casualties were only one officer killed and four men wounded.

affair was the climax of frequent quarrels. A week ago Hunt was ordered to pay $2 a week for his wife's maintenance, and on Friday he secured a writ of replevin, which authorized a bailiff to remove his household goods from the room the pair had occupied. Mrs. Hunt, who is 20 years of age, says she meant to kill herself, and not her husband.

Work.

London, March 3.—H. H. Asquith has prepared a manifesto which will be published to-day, setting forth his reasons for withdrawing from the official Liberal party and abandoning the policy of Irish Home Rule, in company with Lord Rosebery. The chief interest in his paper will be his declaration on the Irish problem. He says:

'In 1886, whon I first entered Parliament, Home Rule was the dividing line between parties and the governing issue of the general election in that year. Looking back to the years which followed I may fairly claim to have done what in me lay, both to Parliament and outside, for the promotion of that cause, and it will always be to me a cherished memory that I had the honor of being associated with Mr. Gladstone, the most illustrious Liberal of the nineteenth century, in his last attempt to bring loyalty and contentment to Ireland.

'Why did that attempt fail? It falled because of the rooted repugnance of a large majority of the electorate of Great Britain to the

"Why did that attempt fail? I failed because of the rooted reput nance of a large majority of the electorate of Green Britain to the creation of a legislative body i Dublin, a repugnance which no even Mr. Gladstone's magnificen courage, unrivaled authority and unquenchable enthusiasm were able to overcome. The eight years which have elapsed since have done nothing to conciliate and not a little that the elapsed since have done nothing to conciliate and not a little that of the British electorate. I great deal of loose rhetoric is current on the subject. But if we were honest we must ask ourselves this practical question: Is it to be part of the policy and program of our party if returned to power that it will introduce into the House of Commons a bill for Irish Home Rule? The answer in my judgment is 'No.' And why so? Because the history of these years has made it plain that the reconciliation of Ireland to the empire can only be attained by methods which will carry, step by step, the sanction and sympathy of the British opinion. To recognize facts like these and to act accordingly is not apostasy. It is common sense."

Wonder witht Gen. Buller thinks when he reads the "I-regret-to-say" reverses Lord Kitchener sends home, after the Boer forces have been shattered into fragments.

When the various items in the British budget are added together they will probably total about $800,000,000. Of this about $500,000,000 wild be for army, navy and war. The fiddler must get his fee; the dance has been

He acknowledges that the kiquor sellers would have a poor chance in a fight against the prohibitionists, if left to flight it out alone, but he depends upon the assistance and support of moderate men who value individual liber-ty.

That wireless telephony must as suredly be developed as well as wire-telegraphy goes without the saying, and it is therefore not very surpris-ing to learn from "Electricity" that an English firm, Mesers. Amretrong & Orling, have brought a system to a degree of perfection which promises much in the future. So perfect has the plan been found, in fact that the local authorities in Man-chester are applying to parliament for powers to enable them to establish a telephonic service in com petition with what is known as the National Company. Glasgow is also making approaches to the inventors. making approaches to the inventors.

Armstrong & Orling say they utillize ripples in the electricity of earth or water which can be created with as much certainty as ripples can be caused in a pond by throwing a stone. As to the probable cost of the system the inventors state that probably subscribers would purchase an instrument outright. This would cost from $25 to $60 and in addition a royalty of $5 $10 or $25 as fixed by the municipality or other as fixed by the municipality or other authority. It is claimed that any reading of a person's message by another person is impossible as each instrument is "tuned" to a corresponding instrument and these communicate. Another inventor in France well knowe as an electrician of the bighest ability has been experiment-ing in the transmission of words and Morse signs with the result that at 1500 metres a convensation has bee as distinctly heard as by the bes ordinary system and at four kilo-metres the speech has been equally distinct through at six the Morse signal bad to be used. The Town Seeks Aid.

Aldermen J. O'Rigliy and Dr. Burarows, deputed by Lindsay Council, addressed the Council on behalf of the citizens of Lindsay and Ops living along the north-eastern boundary of the town, saying a sidewalk was greatly needed there and would be much appreciated by the people more of whom belonged to Ops than to Lindsay. Mr. O'Rielly said the cost of material would be about $67 and the labor about $24, and that Lindsay would maintain it if Ops share the expense of building it. Dr. Burrows said it was but a trifling matter—scarce worth dividing—but if Ops would provide the material Lindsay would pay for the work. The aldermen then withdrew.

The Reeve asked an expression of opinion from the Council and Commissioner Sluggett said he had expended $114 on the boundary east of the town last year, half of which Lindsay Council should pay, but they hearn't paid it yet.

Councillor Hawkins then suggested that Lindsay might apply the $57, due Ops, to the building of the sidewalk and the matter ended.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Miss Stone is, it is said, sworn not to give information leading to the identity of the brigands who have held her in captivity. Is such an obligation to be respected?

Those people who would raise our tariff to shut out all imports from the United States probably do not know that over $56,000,000 of our imports therefrom are free goods necessary to the success of our manufacturers and farmers. Who benefits by that?

The Chatham Banner is interviewing prominent people in that city to get opinions as to accepting the proffered Carnegie library gift. We notice that opponents of the acceptance of the money are like hears teeth, few and far between. That is creditable to the good sense of the people.

A recent census of Japan taken with a view to discovering how many rich men were in the country, failed to disclose a single milliomare. The number found possessed of 500-00 yen (about $230,000) was 441, and of these nearly one-third live in Tokio, and most of the others in the capital and other large cities.

Speaking of the evils of intemperance to a London England, audience recently. John Burns placed the annual drink bill of the United Kingdom at $500,000,000 a year, or $23 a head. He advocated "abstinence" as "the best and most simple remady" for the individual, and the restriction of the number of drinking places as the duty of public authorities generally. ities generally.

Mr. Green-hields' announcement that the Canadian Northern Railway will be extended through the Yellow-head Pass to Bute Indet on the Pacific is of great importance to the whole Dominion. That was the route chosen for the Canadian Pacific by the Mackonzie government. It will open up a lot of agricultural lead, and will doubtless cause the development of many new mines. Briti-h Columbia will pay $1.800,000 and conate $8,000,000 acres of land to assist the enterprise, and the Dommion parliament will doubtless give the usual subsuly. The distance from Yellowhead Pass to Bate Inlet is 400 miles. There is room and there will be plenty of traffic for both the transcontinental railways.

The day's Globe: The argument

To-day's Globe: The argument that if something more than a simple majority vote is required for prohibition "the minority rules" ignores the most important element in the discussion. Every thoughtful man admits that prohibition of the liquor traffic stands on an entirely eliferent footing from other laws, and that the possibility of enforcement is at least an open question. The referendom is intended to ascertain whether public opinion is strong enough to make the law a success. To compare a vote on success. To compare a vote on success. To compare a vote on success a question with an ordinary political election is absured. If a candidate obtains one vote more than his opponent he is just as much the member as if he had a majority of a thousand, and the smallness of his majority does not create the slightest difficulty in the way of his doing his parliamentary work. But if a county under the Scott act adopting properties of the majority would be a very important question.

Don't worry about the weather The formers will feel thankful for a liberal coating of snow on the wheat and hay fields for some time to come yet.

The London Free Press complains that the post office in that city is run by the government "with peans adous parsimony." Yet when it comes near election time the Free Frees will ask it readers to believe that the government has been gross-best that the government has been gross-with every other tory organ. They shrick for increasing expenditures, and then simile against those who grant them.

Ottawa Free Press: The town of Peterboro is about to place on the market debentures amounting to $230,000, and quotes at length an article which recently appeared in these columns advocating the issue of civic bonds in small sums for the benefit of local lawestors. The Examinor seems to fiveld the opinion that this is the course which should be pursued and it is certainly the wisest. We hope to see every tawa and city in the Dominion agitating the subject.

Dominion agitating the subject.

The appointment of Mr. John Cameron to the postmasterality of Lordon is patronage well dispensed. Mr. Cameror has all his life been a public-spirited citizen and a conscientions and industrious journalist, doing much for the public for little reture, and in this way has fully earned such a reward, if reward it can be called. There can be no doubt about Mr. Cameron's ability to perform the duties, and no question as to his claim on the liberal party. The London Advertiser, which he founded and controlled up to the present time, has always been a power for good in the community, while his personal oxample has been no less edifying. Mr. Cameron has our heartlest congratulations on his retirement to comparative easo after the bustle and worries of an active newspaper career.

Hamilton Times; The endeavor to establish the beet root sugar manufacture in Outario has the good wishes of all the people, because it is believed that the business would furnish employment for a lot of Canndians in whater and in summer, and it would supply a cash market for a profitable crop, thus giving the farmers more money to spend. At the Toronto banquet Mr. Whitney said: "In the light of his experience in the past four years he believed that if the elections were held to-morrow the majority of the corservative party would be more than tweaty." Those who listened to this prophesy, of course, cheered it vociferously but, as a contemporary points out, the experience of the past four yours does not substruite the conservative leader's statement. Since the provincial general elections of 1808 there have been twenty-five bye-elections in this province, of which the liberals have won twenty, and the conservatives five. If the city of London, where the conservatives all not put up a candidate, is included, six seats went liberal by acclamation, and, except in one case, all their majorities were rot less than fifty. In seven bye-elections during the last two years, the government carried every one of them, five by acclamation, and two of them elected conservatives in 1898. Mr. Whitney would probably say that the seats were sholen by the government, but he cannot account for the turn-over in two constituencies in this way since the elections were by acclamation. If the experience of the last four years teaches anything it is that the tide which find set in against the government has receded and is now running the other way. Mr. Whitney will experience this in due time.

A HELPLESS MAN.

A man is certainly in a helpless condition when he has to sife with his leg on a chair for weeks, unable to move. William Grimshaw, Wolfe Island, Frontenac County, Ont., was in this plight. Doctors could do nothing for him and the pain remained in his legs for six months. Three bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure and three boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills routed the disease and restored him to perfect health. He now recommends it to all sufferers. THE PREMIER IS FIRM

The Terms of the Referendum Held to Be Fair.

HON, MR. ROSS' STRONG SPEECH

Reviews at Length the Rensons For His Course-Date of Polling May Be Al-tered to Municipal Election Day -Objections of Prohibitionists on This Point to Be Considered. Toronto, Feb. 27 .- The deputation which waited on the Government at the Parliament buildings yesterday afternoon, representing the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, numbered upwards of 100. persons, including several fadies. They were received by Premier Ross and all the members of his Cabinet, and by the members of his Cabinet, and by a number of members of the Legislature. The interview took place in the Council Chamber.

Rev. Dr. McKay of Woodstock, President of the Alliance, in introducing the deputation, reminded the Premier that he was an honored Vice-President of the Ontario branch, which they represented. They came ducing the deputation, reminded the Premier that he was an honored Vice-President of the Outario branch, which they represented. They came, he said, to impress upon the Government two points in regard to the present situation: (1) that the vote should be a fair one, and (2) that it should be taken at an opportune time. By a fair vote they meant that a majority should carry, as on other questions. Regarding an opportune time for taking the vote, the general opinion of the convention had favored the day of the municipal elections. Any other day, the speaker contended, would lay the voters open to an intimidation and boycott. He thought that the clause regarding the date of the vote was the most objectionable feature of the bill. A change in the date would be agreat help, and would be fairer to both sides. It has been stated, Dr. McKay went on, that the referendum had been adopted by the Alliance. He declared that the referendum had not been adopted by the Alliance. He declared that the referendum had been adopted by the Alliance, but we have, under protest, submitted to it. So far as I have heard, we have not endorsed the principle of the referendum. We are prepared to go forward and do our work faithfully, provided we have these two things, a fair referendum and a different day to vote upon it.

A. B. Spence of Collingwood said he speke on behalf of the independent people who composed the great body of the electorate. They desired to express their thanks that the Manitoba bill had been adhered to in its entirety. The Government had held to well-defined constitutional lines, and assumed the whole responsibility for the bill instend of taking a referendum. He felt that no fair-play-loving British subject could accept the referendum in its present form.

C. J. Miller of Orillia said he desired to thank Premier Ross and the left that no fair-play-loving British subject could accept the referendum in its present form.

C. J. Miller of Orillia said he desired to thank Premier Ross and the Cabinet for the greet and good work they had done in the past for the temperance cause. They could not, however, maintain that confidence, so far as the present bill was concerned. He said there was only one sentiment at Tuesday's convention with regard to the referendum, and that was that they did not approve of it. They felt that they were heavily handicapped in the race. He believed the sentiment of the country was ripe for the emactment of this partial measure of prohibition. (Applause.)

Mrs. Thornley of London said the attitude of the W.C.T.U. on the question of the referendum had been much misunderstood. She read a resolution passed by them demanding a majority vote, and protosted against the date of the election on the ground that it would not only give the liquor men a chance for intimidation, but employers of labor also. She said that as a majority the wealthy people had nover been on the side of reform, and in the last plebiscite many of chem to the curtum anow-ledge of the temperance people had called their employes together and forbidden them to vote in favor of prohibition. She expressed the hope that if the bill did not now include it it should be made to include a provision to prevent corruption, which was so rampant at the last plobiseite.

Rev. Dr. Carman, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church, entered a very strong protest against the date of voting and the method of the vote. It could say to the vorernment that personally he did not feel justified in going to the poil when the ballot boxes were stuffed with 200,000 votes before he got there. That was the biggest ballotbox stuffing the country had over known. If he judged the voice of the convention rightly it was that the people were not going to be turned aside by academical nonsease of men in sents high and mightly. They did not eak for any advantage over the liquor men, they simply asked for British fair play. He also said that if it was decided not to hold a vote at the date of the municipal elections then they would ask the Covernment to take the vote on the date of the general elections. He did not see how the Government could justify itself by taking the academical position that such and such a majority must be polled to enforce the law. They could, he said, move the Premier Reply.

Premier Ross, in his reply, reviewed the circumstances leading up to the prosent measure. He said the Province had at different times prode the circumstances leading up to the prosent measure. He said the Province had at different times pronounced in favor of total prohibition. They had not, however, committed themselves to any measure of partial prohibition such as had been found was in the power of the Province. He denied that the referendum was unconstitutional, and said that on this point he would accept the opinion of high constitutional authorities, admitting, he added, with a smile, that he would consult the clergymen on questions of theology. The referendum had already been adopted in principle, in the case of the Scott Act and Local Option. He reminded his hearers that the enforcement of law was no easy matter. The Government had at first decided that the bill should require a three-fitth majority, but that had been objected to as too large.

The Government's proposition was simply this: They asked that, say 75 per cent. of the vote on the list be polled and that half of that vote shall be in favor of the bill. That meant that three men out of every eight on the list would have the power of governing the actions of the other five in regard to certain habits of their life. That was a fair proposition, he said, and, amid some interruptions, he declared that was as far as they intended to go. If the temperance people could not be successful. He did not think it mattered if the liquor vote did stay at home. All the temperance people should care about was to get their own vote out.

As to the day of the vote, he said that that 14th of October would should care about was to get their own vote out.

As to the day of the vote, he said that the 14th of October would not be chosen owing to the Methodist General Conference being is ession at that time, and other objections. He would say that it would not be on the day of the general elections, but as to its being on the day of the municipal elections, he and his colleagues would give it serious consideration. The deputation, then withdrew.

"Respectfully submitted on behalf of the legislative assembly of the Province of Ontario."

In moving the resolution the Premier alluded to the pleasure that would be felt in welcoming the Prince on account of his relationship to the royal family. He only regretted that he would not have an opportunity of seeing more of the country. His brother, the Emperor, had taken a place among the first statesmen of Europe, and the Prince himself had given much attention to the improvement of the resources of Germany, and in purticular to the development of the resources of Germany, and in purticular to the development of her naval supremacy. He alluded to the valuable qualities of the Germans as settlers, owing to their industry and frugality. The world owed much to the leadership of the Germans in science and research. German thought directed the investigation of chemical science and the province owed much of its educational standing to the advances which Germany had made in the system of public institutions.

Mr. Whitney briefly seconded the motion, which was supported by Mr. Breithaupt, who regretted that the Prince could not pay a visit to Berlin during his stay, and Mr. Gross, who pointed out that the German-Canadians formed a considerable and progressive factor of the population of the province and continued to take a pride in the country of their origin. A number of private bills were adopted in committee and the following were read a second time: To incorporate the New Ontario Railway Co., Mr. Robson, to incorporate the Southwestern Traction Co., Mr. Robson, to incorporate the Southwestern Traction Gross a pride in the country of their origin. About It.

Two weeks ago a lady called at our store to look at our DINNER SETTS. She fancied two designs, but being a careful body, and intent on a bargain, she said she would call again.

The promise was kept faithfully, and we made a sale. The lady volunteered the information that she had inspected and priced all the Dinner Setts in town, and that ours were the prettiest and cheapest.

We selected our China and Crockery stock with great care, and were pleased to receive this evidence that it compares in value and appearance with the assortments of other town dealers. We believe our prices are lower than those of most merchants.

Premier Ross Says the Municipalities Should Do More

A large deputation representing the landdian Hospitals' Association, walt-

(The treatment in modern hospitals costs 80 cents or $1, and medical science was advancing so rapidly that it was likely to be increased. At the same time the Greenments' grant had drapped to about 18 cents per diem, and was likely to go still lower. In adopting this Succession Dutles Act the Government Lad embodied a clause that those duties were to be applied in part to hospitals. The effect of that Act, morroover, had been to diminist the bequests and subscriptions of wealthy men to such institutions. They agked that at least the grant be raised to the old figure of 30 cents per them.

The Premier replied that the total grants to speh institutions had largely increased. He recognized the duty of the Government in the matter, but they had such a large and growing family that the question was where to find the money for all. Mr. Stratton pointed out that the diminishment of the grants to included he had been due to the barden of the world of the form of the world out that for the total sum.

Mr. Gurney pointed out that the hospitals were actually in need and the Government must fare the condition.

The Premier said he was afraid they would have to place more of the burden of maintenance of such astitutions on the municipalites.

-A committee has been appointed to collect the amounts promised to-wards the carrying on of the work. Dr. Shier is chairman and Mr. E. Peel, Secretary. Contributors are requested to leave their subscriptions with the above gentlemen at earliest convenience.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Belleville, inspector of weights and measures and gas and elec-tric meters, spent a couple of days in town last week examining electric light meters that have been in use for five years, ag-required by statute. There were some 65 of these, and nearly all of them were tound to register correctly. Of the balance a couple were fast and the others slow.

He is doing his share in the promotion of the town's prosperity, and is being ably assisted by his son Charles, whose genial disposition and sodulous attention to business combine to make him very popular with our townspeople as well as with the farming community. The partial failure of the pea crop last year in this section was a severe disappointment to Mr. Squier, it being his first season here, but the market is new looking favorable and with an average crop the coming season will te a favorable one both for dealers and growers.

Muskoka and Summer Residents.

The Bracebridge Gazette, commenting upon an article printed in the Toronto Telegram, ertitled "Wicked Ways of Muskoka," advances the proposition that summer residences in Muskoka be exempt, or nearly so, from taxation. The money spont by the summer residents in creeting their cottages, says the Gazette, goes into the pockets of the people of Medora and Wood townships. Besides, every summer, as soon as these cottagers arrive they purchase all the milk, butter, eggs, meat, fruit and vegetables the people of the townships can supply, and at fancy prices. "Indeed," declares the Gazette, "If the municipalities have the power, it would pay them to exempt summer cottagers from taxation all over Muskoka.

WOLVES ON THE RAMPAGE.

Herd of Moose Wiped Out up North Ottawa Journal? Wolves and a snowstorm combined to wipe out a herd of moose north of Mattawa in a recent snowstorm and Mr. Jas.
Wright, a trader, who makes Mattawa his headquarters, tells the story. Mr. Wright saw the item in the Journal a few days ago about the alleged slaughter of moose near Mattawa and which Mr. N. E. Cormier, chief game warden for Quebec, is investigating.

The story by Mr. Wright came to him from a trapper who had been out in a big storm and who had to take shelter in a thick bush. A fine herd of moose, about seventeen in all, were going before the storm and the travelling was hard owing to the depth of the snow. Wolves in large numbers came after the moose and harrled them for mile: The moose held together and ran on for miles until the baying of the wolves could no longer be heard. Thwo days later the bones of many moose were to be found lying across a wide plain.

the bones of many moose were piled.

have not joined those who wan were personally enlisted, they would probably say that some provision should be made that there should be something more than an insignificant vote. A referendam vote recently taken in Montreal on an important linancial issue did not draw out half a dozen votes in the mort it telligent ward in the city. Surely, a government wanting to hive the substantial backing of the community in essaying new and untriedlegalisation may demand some greater evidence of zeal than this. Granting, then, that there should be some limit to the vote's insignificance, the only question that remains is what that limit should be. We have had no hist from any of these repudlators of the referendum how they, for their part, would, propose to secure a reasonably responsible vote. We think that a government which really wanted a large vote would have, if possible, arranged that the prohibition vote should be taken at some time when the voters would have, if possible, arranged that the prohibition vote should be taken at some time when the voters would have if possible, arranged that the prohibition vote should be taken at some time when the voters would have if so the attractions to the polis, though it must be admitted that less weight would attach to the additional vote evoked by that process. There is one thing, however, about the attitude of these ardent prohibitionists which is fincomprehensible to us. While declaring that every one who stays away from the polis will be counted in the negative, they threaten if the referendmy cannot be annulled to add themselves to that number. They may rest assured that if the vote is taken, whatever defects may attach to the method the attitude of the parties towards prohibition for many years to come will certainly be governed, by the result of it, not necessarily by whether it reaches Mr. Ross of playing luto the handa of the liquor interest, and yet they propose themelieves to do exactly what the liquor interest, and yet they propose themelieves to do exactly what the liquor interest, and yet th

Emma Jane Levey.

Emma Jane Levey.

It is with deep regret we chronicle the death of Miss Emma Jane Levey, third daughter of John and Emma Levey, Lindsay-st., at the early age of 24 years and 6 monthly. For over a year she had been a patient sufferer, and although everything was done that medical skill could devise and kindly hand could dispense she passed peacefully away at 12.30 clock Monday. While her loss will be left in the town and county as a whole, the greatest loss is that shared by the congregation of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church, the Young Peoples' Society of C. E. and the choir, in all of which she was an ardent and diligent worker. At the time when first laid aside by illness she was the esteemed and devoted secretary of Victoria County voclety was due to her zealous efforts.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—In the Legislative Assembly to-day bills were introduced by Mr. Gross to amend the High School Act, and by Mr. Russell to incorporate the Huron & Bruce Railway Co.

Hon. G. W. Ross took the opportunity to make an explanation as to statements by Mr. Whitney in his speech at the recent banquite given to him, to the effect that for the last 3 years there had not been a week during the session when he had not been approached to ascertain whether he would support propositions for subsidies, stc., proposed by the Government, as the Government would not proceed with their legislation without being assured of the support of the Opposition. He (the Premier) streamusly denied that the Government had ever consulted the Opposition as to subsidies or legislation, either through any member of the Administration or by any emissary. The Government had not abrogated its functions by waiting to see what position the leader of the Opposition would take in regard to subsidies opproposed measures. He did not want the impression to go abroad that the Government had sunk into a position of obscurity or that the power had past to the left side of the Huse.

A somewhat warm discussion followed. Mr. Whitney replied to the Premier affirming that he had repeatedly been approached by men of responsibility, members of the Liberal party, who told kim that they had been informed that the Government would not toke up measures in which they were interested unless they were assured that the Opposition would not popose them. Hon. G. W. Ross emphatically denied that such persons had had any authority from the Government the make such overtures or were in any sense "emissaries" as Mr. Whitney had stated, to which Mr. Whitney had stated, to which Mr. Whitney replied that they had represented themselves as such overtures or were in any sense "emissaries" as Mr. Whitney had stated, to which Mr. Whitney had stated, to which Mr. Whitney had stated, to which Mr. Whitney had stated, t

Mr. Crawford drew attention to the importance of the transportation question, pointing out the disadvantageous position occupied by Canadian shippers, as compared with those of the United States, on account of the discrimination against them by the railroads. The burden of these high freight nates was all borne by the producer. The annual loss to the Ontario producers amounted to fully one million dollars. The Provincial Government should stir up their friends in Ottawa to take action. It cost less to ship cattle from Chicago to Montreal than from Huron and Bruce to the same point. He concluded by moving in amendment "that in the opinion of this House it is the duty of the Provincial Government to without delay urge upon the Government of Canada the necessity of taking steps to obtain for the people of this province cheaper rates for the transportation of agricultural products."

Hon. John Dryden pointed out that the amendment was a resolution of want of confidence. The mover was asking the Government to go outside of its jurisdiction. While recognizing the need of cheap transportation he thought the figures quoted by Mr. Crawford were hardly fair. One reason why the rates from Chicago were lower was doubtless becaus shipments were on a larger scale. The Government were fully prepared to do anything in their power to secure to the farmers full advantages as regards transportation, but the resolution asked them to interfere in a matter which was wholly within the sphere of Dominion legislation.

Mr. Duff spoke ia favor of the amendment, contending that the House was substitied in expressing an opinion of pages and contending that the House was substitied in expressing an opinion of a contending that the House was substitied in expressing an opinion

What he asked had the friends of the Opposition cone during 40 years of power copined the transportation question on a better basis? He pointed out that the Provincial Covernment had increased transportation facilities by aiding railways, being frequently opposed by the Opposition in so deling, and where railways had been controlled. The Government had not been neglectful in opening up arteries by building colonization roads in the newer sections. They had almost set apart a million dollars for highway construction in ofder Ontario, of which several important counties were availing themselves. This record indicated that the Covernment had not doubt from the tope of the discussions at Ottawa that the Dominion Government also realized their responsibilities in the matter.

Mr. Carscallen spoke at length in favor of the amendment, urging as a precedent that the Liberals some years since had passed a resolution favoring Senate reform which was equally beyond their jurisdiction.

Our Educational Systems.

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY PRESI-

At the East Victoria Teachers' Conven-tion—Provincial School Systems Outlined and Compared.

At the recent convention of the East Victoria Educational Associa tion, the address of the president, Mr. Norman F. Black, Lingsay, proused considerable discussion. In view, of the importance of and general interest attaching to the facts compiled in Mr. Black's essay, the Association have requested its publi-cation. The text of the address has just been handed to us and is as follows:

Canadian Educational Systems.

From childhood we have been actem of Ontario as one of the proud-cal distinctions of this premier, province of the Dominion. And our pride has been justifiable, for the states-men who more than half a century age instituted our school system carned a fame not merely provincial but wide as the educational world. To say nothing of allen States that have adopted as their own many fea-tures once practically unique in our own system, there has arisen during the post half century a splendid sisterhood of Canadian provinces each in turn modeling her school laws to a greater or less degree on that of Ontorio. This imitation has not been slavish, however, for the other provinces have wisely sought to benefit by our experience, to avoid provinces have wisely sought to benefit by our experience, to avoid errors into which time hos shown that Ontario fell when clearing the way for educational progress, and to make their various systems micquately reflect the best educational ideals of the day. And now the time has come when the friends of education in this province may well look beyond our provincial borders to see whether after fifty years of logislative inactivity there may not be in the distinctive features of the other provincial school systems some things we might well incorporate in our own.

In the educational history of Cannia, 1846 marked an epoch full of import. In that year Dr. Ryerson's report on a projected schome of popular ceducation for Upper Canada was published and his first School Bill, based thereupon, was passed; a Board of Education was appointed for the Province and the Education Department was organized; a Provincial Normal School was established; district superintendents; and a series of school books was selected which remained in use for twenty-two years. To attempt here to recount even briefly its story of the agitation and experimental legislation along educational lines prior to the middle of the century, and of how in 1849 Baldwin delibrately strained the constitution itself to facilitate Ryerson's reforms and hold opposition in check, would lead us too far affeld. It must suffice to say that after years of flighting, Ryerson by his ling, Ryerson by his

crystollized a system that in its outstanding fatures remains an hinged to this day. The only important alteration in the machinery of educational administration since 1850 was made in 1876, when the office of this Superintendent was replaced by that of a Minister of Education responsible to the legislature.
Ryerson modeled our school system on that of Prussia, and in his report-borrowed largely from a stimilar document just previously Issued by Hornee Mann, then secretary of the Massachusetts State Board of Education Ryerson's ideal for a general school system demanded that the schools be subject to general provincial supervision, control and financial aid, but that the details of management and the main pecuniary responsibilities be left to the respective localities in which the various schools were situated; that the financial burien be borne chiefly by a general tax; that elementary schools he free and attendance compulsory; and that school inspectors be experienced educationist possessing teaching certificates of the first graple. In addition to the character-of our Ontario system impli

National Rather than Sectarian.

Of these manifold advantages I mean to say very little, for it is my purpose in the address to call attention especially to the law government of respective successions of the same of the same stated at an average of $5.55 per pupil enrolled.

Though it is exceedingly interesting and ingenious in many respects, I shall refer but very briefly to the school system of Quebec, framed as it is to meet conditions widely different from those prevailing in Ontario. The schools in Lower Canada, are sectrian and educational affairs are redministered by a Conneil of Public Instruction, which is subdivided little the Protestant Committee and the Catholic Committee, superintending the schools of their respective co-religionists. The Superintendent of Education, appointed by the Government, is ex officio a member of both these committees. In '97 a bill to secularize the schools and organize the system along the lines adopted in Ontario passed the Legislative Assembly but was defented in the Legislative Council. In Quebec School Inspectors are appointed by the Licutenant-Governor, on recommendation of the Protestant or of the Conneil of Public Instruction.

Let us now turn to Nova Scotinant set facts interesting and valuable regarding educational affairs down by the Atlantic. The first Provincial Superintendent of Education in that province was no less the tinguished an educationist than Sir William Dawson.

Who held the office from 1850 to 1853. The first Nova Scotinan Normal School was established in 1855, nice years after ours. Tupper's Free Schools Act in 1845 brought the system into its present form. The Council of Public Instruction consists of the Cabinet together with the Superintendent, who is not called upon to find a constituency and is answerable directly to the Government, not to the Legislative Assembly. The provincial and one municipal appointed by the municipal council and two appointed by the Government, one provincial and one municipal appointed by the Superintendent that successful First Common sedaminace as in Ontario, but on the basis of the qualifications possessed by the teacher. The provincial school enrollent to the Superintendent in the superintendent of the Superintendent and well accounc

The government grant for school purposes, according to a British special parliamentary report (1901) on Colonial Educational Systems, amounts to about One-Seventh of the Entire Income one-seventh of the Entire income of the Government and is about three times as great as that of Ontario in proportion to the sum raised by local taxation. The law makers of New Brunswick also diverged from the Ontaria model regarding the appointment of the grant and evidently felt that even the law in New Brunswick overlocked considerations that should weigh with legislators. Accordingly the od considerations that should weigh with legislators. Accordingly the grant depends in amount on the grant depends in amount on the grande of the teacher's certificate, upon his rank as principal or assistant, and upon the grading of the school as regards equipment and efficiency. It is noteworthy that the County Grammar Schools in New Brunswick are free.

In British Columbia the problem of public instruction was faced in 1872 with a courage and enterprise herote in kind. The central administrative body is similar to that in Nova Scotia and, as in the eastern maritime provinces, the inspectors are $3/88.085 ipstead of less than $375.000.

British Columbia is the country teacher's Eldorado, for our western cousins understand the importance of good rural schools as an inducement to immigrants. Accordingly the shamefully low suburies that we know of in Ontario are not a feature of the British Columbia system. As soon as a district is ready to employ a teacher at all it is considered ready to employ lor femas tempers a manurea delars less.

One valuable feature of the British Columbia annual official report is a directory or schidule stating the salary paid in each school, the grade of the teacher's certificate, and the names of the trustees. How much saved if Ontario teachers answering advertisements with the motorious "state salary" clause could obtain at cost a schidule affording similar information."

In 1877 the public school system of Frince Edward Island assumed thips. The administrative body that by that time best commended itself to legislators includes the Cabinet, the Chief Superintendent and the Principal of the Provincial College and Normal School, together with two inspectors appointed by the government grant, as in Ontario. One interesting detail of the law in that teachers' certificates lapse after two years of non-use.

When in 1882 the Territories were organized the new Council of Public Instruction could not includ? Principal of Colleges and Normal Schools, as in Prince Enward Island and other provinces for no such institutions had yet been established; but the same sentiment underlying the organization of the more recently established eastern councils manifests itself in the inclusion of two Roman Catholic and two Prolestant advisors, who, however, have no voting power. The Superintendent of Education is chrimmen of the Caunti, not merely its secretary as in other provinces employing such an officer, and the cristence of extensive settlements of the inspectors are appointed by the Cabinet, so his position closely approximates that of the Minister of Education for Ontario. This present Superintendent is Dr. Goggin says in practirs it his resulted advantageously to the public servoid his necessary for a generated of the burden of school support as the provincial authorities in British Columbia had done, but also recognized the necessary for the Superintendent is not the consideration of the Public Render of School says of the public servoid on the provincial authorities in British countie

The Atthoritative Regulations, regarding the dimensions, equipment, style, plan farmishing, decoration, ventilation, etc., of schools. It controls the authorization of text books, it determines the qualification of teachers and inspectors. It appoints the examinations. It determines the standard for High School Entrance. It prescribes the form? of the Provincial examinations. It determines the standard for High School Entrance. It prescribes the form? of religious exercises. It supervises the classification of all schools. And besides many other specific duties in remains the general one of advising the Educational Department, i. e., the Cubinet, or any educational matter which the department may submit for the consideration of its advisory board. The advantages of this system are obvious from every legitimate point of when, and the Manktoba School Act of 1890, or regards the central administrative bedies, marks the legislative high water mark in the tide of public educational opinion, which has definitely set toward the climination of polytics from educational administrative bedies, marks the legislative high water mark in the tide and public educational opinion, which has definitely set toward the climination of polytics from educational administration and toward granting a voice in the management of educational affairs to the elected representatives of professional educationists. Thus we see that Ontardo stands alone in assigning the duty of appointing inspectors, not to the central authorities, but to County Countries, and this way fee a reform of the greatest importance. A resolution was introduced in the laspectors' department of the Ontards.

Fee a reform of the greatest importance. A resolution was introduced in the Inspectors' department of the Ontario Educational Association last spring by William Johnston, M.A., L. L.B., of Athens, Oat., recommending the apprintment of inspectors by the minister of education, and public opinion is awakening to the weakness of the present system. No great opposition to the reform suggested need be feared so far as Canary Councellors are concerned, once they grasp the situation. If they war eto be relieved of the duty of providing half the salamy paid the inspector they would generally be ready enough to sarrender into the hands of a distinctly educational authority the responsibility of solecting officers upon whom so much of the welfare of education depends.

Further, the various school laws passed since ours emphasize the fact that unless we are content to lose our place in the front ranks of educations progress, our system of government grants must be made more librat and should be ullotted chiefly on the basis of the teacher's qualifications and the efficiency of the school in se far as the latter is controllable by the trustees. Only in his way can we prevent the crowding out of competent and experienced teachers by cheap substitutes,

Inexperienced and IB-Trained.

At the last provincial educational convention the deputy Minister of Education upon the fact that there is no more antiquated system under the sun, so far as I know, of distributing the legislative grant, than that which is now and it is the duty of all thoughtful friends of educational affairs to be shared much more largely by a representation is toward allowing the control of educational progress to agitate vigoroucly till reform its granted.

Riestion Act Amendment.

The House went into committee on the bill to amend the Election Act. Some discussion took place in regard, to the form of oath, to be required of clectors. Messrs. Matheson and Wardell contended that an oath to the effect that he had not been bribed should be required of every voter. The Attornoy-General held that the oath should only be administered in the case of suspected persons. Mr. Barr said that there were a large class of voters who belonged to the floating population and were not permanent residents of the place where they were entered on the lists. They belonged to the working class, which was the class most liable to be bribed, and therefore the oath should be administered to every class. Mr. Carscollen said that so far as Hamilton was concerned those who registered were a reputable class. He believed in manhood suffrage and would not throw any obstacles in the way of young men registering. Hon R. Harcourt said the arguments of the Opposition showed a want of faith in the masses of the people who were the menother. The number of people who were the another. The number of people who were open to the imputation of receiving a bribe was small in most constituencies. Why impute dishonesty to every man who came to be registered? Mr. McLaughlin said that it was such men as Mr. Vance who would offer money for votes; who rendered such percautions necessary. Mr. Harcourt asked Mr. McLaughlin whether he was reported to state on his own responsibility that Mr. Vance had bribed anyons to vote. Mr. Latchford never heard of any one being paid to register as a voter. The bill was reported without amendment.

The Prohibition Bill.

The Prohibition IIII.

The House went into committee on the Liquor Bill. The date of the referendum election was fixed for December 4th.

Mr. Marter moved an amendment to the effect that the vote under the referendum should be taken on the day of the municipal elections. Mr. Foy was opposed to the vote being held on any day. The amendment was defeated.

The Legislature met at 11 o'clock a yesterday morning, with nearly all the members in their places. It immediately adjourned on the motion of Attorney-General Gibson and Mr. Whitney, both of whom made brief speeches. Mr. Gibson displayed deep emotion, and his voice quavered, so that he almost broke down which he spoke a few sentences. He said:

Mr. Harcourt strongly opposed the bill. He did not consider the basis of representation, 20,000, unreasonable, but is any case he did not think that a question of such importance should be considered in the closing session of a parliament. It required thorough the country and in the press. Ho urged that with the development of New Ontario the province was likely to demand an increased rather than a diminished number of representatives. Mr. Whitmey criticized the re-adjustment of representation in the New Ontario constituencies. The bill was lost on division.

The Municipal Amendment Act, embodying all the recommendations of the Assessment Commission, came up for its second reading, and provoked a long discussion. A cleuse was added, providing that a fine of $50 be inflicted on those found guilty of "repeating" votes in municipal elections.

tec The House adjourned at 11.50 o'clock p.m.

CANADA'S SHOE KING

(Condinued from last work)

"Humph! You don't know much about women folks or you wouldn't get no store by that. I know what I'm talkin about, Sim Banks, an, as I said before, if you live you'll see I do. Louessy don't love you. I know she don't. But let her go, Sim. She ain't the only woman, an there's one I know that does love you with her whole soul."

"Great Lord! Are you blind-plumb blind and dumb?"
Sim did not reply at once, but stood measily twirling his hat about in his hands, first looking down at his feet, then casting a furtive glance at his companion. When at last he did speak, it was in cold, unimpassioned tones.
"I reckon I ain't so blind an dumb as I might be," he said, "but you ain't called no names, an I ain't makin no guesses."

"If you want as blind as a bat an dumb as an owl," Mrs. Mann said softly, "you wouldn't need for me to call no names, an you wouldn't need to make no guesses either."

"Mebby that's so," Sim replied slowly, "an if I am blind I don't know that I'm sorry. There's times in a body's life, Mrs. Mann, when it's best to be the a way."

Without a word Mrs. Mann turned away and, entering the house, slam-med the door shut behind her. Sim-walked on down the street, chuckling softly to himself. But could be have seen the expression on Mrs. Mann's face at that moment and the steely glitter in her eyes he might have had a premonition of some things that were

TOTH UNCLE JONATIAN TURNER.
Melvin was more fortunate than be had dared hope, for he had gone but a short distance when he came into a foad and after following that a little way ran on to a house.

It is true it was not much of a house, being merely a small log cabin, and its surroundings were meager and unin-viting, promising little in the way of comforts; but, for all that, it would af-ford shelter and food, and that was a freat deal under the circumstances. He rode up to the tumble down rail fence that stood between the yard and the road and was preparing to call to let his presence be known when a man let his presence be known when a man came around a corner of the house. He was a little, wiry, weather beaten old chap, almost hidden under a manmoth broad brimmed straw hat. He was not expecting a strange visitor, and the appearance of Melvin was a great surprise to him. He stopped short, his mouth and eyes flew wide open, and he stood staring in perfect

#lence.

If was Melvin who spoke first.

"I have lost my wny," he said, "and I am looking for a place to spend the

If Melvin expected this man to prove as reticent and morose as the one he had just passed, his mind was soon disfebused of that idea, for the response to his speech, nithough not elitogether relahis speech, although not altogether rel-evant, was prompt, vigorous and effu-

In spite of the fact that he was tired, hungry and annoyed, Melvin burst into that it had become amusing. Presently

Melvin said:

Melvin said:
"Now, Mr. Turner, I am positively not going to answer another question until I have had supper, so you need not put yourself to the irouble of asking me another thing. Do you understand?"

"To be shore I do, an you'll find I shift the man to go on askin a feller.

Melvin rushed into the bouse, leaving Turner optside to put away the

him in the least, interested him deeply.
And as Turner pondered an idea came to him, for he lacked a great deal of being as much of a fool as he seemed.
He stopped on his way to the stable with the horse and, nodding his head knowingly, muttered to himself these words:

"Come down yere to smell roun' for mineral! Powerful likely story, that is, when thar ain't as much mineral in this hull blame section as a feller could put in a dea's car. Come down yere

That ther's all moughly responsible an see what he can scent in the ground:
That that's all moughty reasonable,

SIM SUPPRIESS HIS NEIGHBORS.

Sim Banks did not go home at once, but passed on down the street in the direction of Hicks' store. It had been his custom to go there every night to join the little group of men who always congregated around the store stove in the winter and on the platform in front of the door in the summer to loaf away their idle hours.

He had long been one of the leading spirits in these meetings, and heretofore he had come to them boildly, and in the talks that followed his voice had been heard taking an important part. But tonight he approached with halting step and shamed face and sat down quietly on the edge of the platform on quietly on the edge of the platform on the very outskirts of the group. He hand ne are would notice his nres-ence, and he was careful to do nothing to attract attention to it.

Pap Sampson was there and Jason Roberts and Jim Thorn and a number of others, and most prominent among them all and most in evidence in the conversation was Ebenezer Sparks.

Very naturally, the subject under discussion was the war and the battle that had that day been fought in their hearing. Ebenezer, with wonderful effrontery, selzed the first opportunity te begin a rehash of the off told stories of brave deeds performed by him in the Mexican war and to reamounce his consuming desire to again take up a soldler's life and join in the fight and experience the dangers and hardships thing you may then begin to figger out that it's jest barely possible that Jonathan Turner mought some day lose bisself in the woods."

"Do you think it impossible for you to lose your way in a strange wood?"

"No, I don't think nothin 'bout it. I jest know it's thinpossible."

"How would you keep from losing your way?"

"Jest like I'd roll offen a log. I'd jest do it."

"Bigspose you were in a strange place, and, coming to two roads, you didn't know which one to take. Then what?"

"Ob, I'd know all right which one to take."

"How would you know?"

"Jest have sense enough to know, I's the feller savs."

"Jest have sense enough to know, I's the feller savs."

"Jest have sense enough to know, I's the feller savs."

"Or as you seem determined to know I's til you and be done with it ropresent a company of capitalists who believe there are rich deposits of mineral in this section, and may be wisclen war and to reannounce his and the working war and to reannounce his tropresent a company of capitalists who believe there are rich deposits of mineral in this section, and may be soldier's life and join in the fight and experience the dangers and hardships of war and to reannounce his tropresent a company of capitalists who believe there are rich deposits of mineral in this section, and may be soldier's life and join in the fight and experience the dangers and bardships of war and to reannounce his two possible."

"Grat Casar, man I bet me have some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've some supper and a place to rest, and I've

"Thar, Ebenezer Sparks, that'll do. We all know how brave you are, so thar ain't a grain of use in the world for you to waste your breath a-tellin us about it. Lord, you made that all plumb plain to us today, you an Sim Banks both."

["Sim don't seem to be doin much taikin bout the way he done," Jason observed, with a laugh. "Guess he believes in lettin his actions speak for themselves." You'd all better not say notbin 'bout Louespy.' Sim said, "'less'n you all wants to git your beads punched."
"Guess nobody hain't goin to say nothin 'bout Louespy." Pap Sampson replied, "so you mought's well quit a-throwin that at us. Jim Thorn had no business to speak the word he did, even if it had been a true word, an I most know it wasn't, an you done right an nat'ral to take it up. I'm a peaceable man myself, as you uss all know, a limit' ally I set my face ac'le fussin

"Lord, Jason, I reckon the way Sin's warmen done kind of took the tucks outen bim," Fap said. Then, turning to Sim, he added, "She kind of hit you pooty hard, didn't sbe, Sim?"

"No harder'n I deserved, I guess," Sim replied dryly. "I did act the miserable coward, an it ain't no wonder she was sabamed of me."

"Say, by granny, but that's one way to talk, ain't it?" Jason said after a short silence. "You ain't a bit like Ebenezer, Sim. He done more cowardly for his woman's good name. So I say, Sim Banks, an I say it open an above-board, you done jest right, an ever fair minded man an woman is bound to say han you, but you won't ketch him waln of it, nary a time."

"I can't help nothin bout what Ebenezer does," Sim replied. "It don't do no good to deny the truth when ev-

"You're right that, Sim," Pap Sampson said heartily, "Addin vinegar to a sound puddin ain't goin to make it no sweeter, an addin a lie to another fault ain't goin to make the other fault no less. Them is gospel truths if that ever was one outside of the Holy Writ, an It'd be a good thing for you, Ebenezer Sparks, to take 'em into your eraw an digest 'em along at odd spells."

"Pap Sampson," Ebenezer exclaim-

"Pap Sampson," Ebenezer exclaimed, bristling up, "do you low to insinuate that I been a-lyin?"

"Lord, no, Ebenezer! I ain't no hand

"You better he keerful, Pap," Jim

Pap Sampson and the rest interfered. you'll have Ebenezer's old woman

"She ain't much like Sim's wife, is she?" Jason asked. Then he added:
"By Jinks, I think Sim's wife cut up too rough with him. I tell you right now rough with him. I tell you right how i'd like to see my woman try any sich capers as them on me, especially right afore folks. Lord, I'd leave 'er so quick that it'd make her head swim."
"You all hearn what Mary Mann said, I guess," Jim Thorn remarked. "I been thinkin 'bout that, an I don't know if the word she spoke we'n't a true word.

They all looked up in astonishment, and there was Sim Banks standing among them, his eyes ablaze with anger and his form trembling with suppressed rage.

"Jim Thorn" he repeated, "you are the standing among the constraint of the standing with suppressed rage.

got Thorn away.

After it was all over and Sim had After it was all over and Sim had been released they stood about him for some time, looking at him in silence and with a kind of awe. To them he had suddenly become a new man, and they feit that they did not know him.

It was Hicks who broke the pause. "Why, Sim," he said, "what's come over you? Who'd 'a' ever dreamed of ward they had him as the!"

"Let him keep his mouth shet an quit a-lyin 'bout Louesay, then," Sim replied, not exactly in line with Hicks' questions. "I'll hit him ag'in if he dast to say sich nother thing, an I'll hit anybody else that does it, an I'll hit to kill."

As Sim Banks walked home that night he felt greatly elated, and in his soul there was a kind of feeling closely akin to intoxication. He stood erect, with a bearing proud and disdainful, held his head well up and walked with a step firm and confident.

In knocking Jim Thorn down the way he did he had demonstrated to his neighbors that he was not so much a coward as they had supposed. That within itself was a greal deal to be proud of, for he felt that in removing the stain of cowardice from his name he had raised an aimost insupportable burden from his soul. But that was not all nor yet the chief cause of his slatten.

Louisa would learn what he had done, and she would know that he had done it for her sake. He would not tell her, but others would. His knowl-edge of human nature was limited, but edge of numan nature was imitted, but it was broad enough to tell him that his praises sung by others would be far more effective than if sung by himself. That she would be pleased he felt as-sured, for she would understand how well he loved her and how more ready he was than any one else on earth to stand up in her defense. Then, too, she would realize that he was not the con-temptible coward she had thought him and because of which she had spoken of him and to him in such harsh terms.

Perhaps she would even speak words of praise for his conduct, and perhaps—oh, happy thought—she might put her arms about his neck and kiss him. That would be a reward indeed, and for such a reward he would be willing to fight the whole world.

Unsanitary Country Hotels

Unsanitary Country Hotels.

The suggestion has been made that amendments should be made to the Medical Health Act to secure among other things a better inspection of country hotels. In this one particular alone there is work for a good officer in every country. Nambers of traveliers suffer in Fearth and not infrequently loss their lives by reason of the unsuntary condition of the places at which they must stop. It is not sufficient to leave to the License Department the inspection of public houses. Men are Reemed to conduct hotels for the entertunment of man and beast and are supposed to provide adequate accommodation. It they present time adequate accommodation consists merely of a room and a bod and a fairly good mental accommodation of the inspection of anicary laws. The mulletpality demands of the individual householder that his drains shall be properly constructed and kept in condition. It is too much to specifical there should be an equally rigid enforcement of similar laws in the public hotels.

FIGHT WITH A WILD GAT.

Thrilling Experience of Two Residents of Ops Township.

A "wild cat" story comes from South Ops. Mr. Peter Fisher, who owns a riverside form about eight South Ops. Mr. Peter Fisher, who owns a riverside farm about eight miles from town, has been engaged in taking out wood, being assisted by Peter McCabe, the champion chopper of Ops township. One day recently these parties were startled by the energial of a wild eat, which suddenly put in an appearance and began circling around the couple. The men had nothing but their axes as waxpons of defence, so they took refuge in trees. The feroclose animal closed if on McCabe, who had always been longing to meet a wild cat. The ent startled to climb up the tree to make a more intimate nequalitance with Peter, but the axe wielder strongly objected to this. As the brute nearest the limb on which McCabe sat the latter aimed a blory which would have proved fatal if it had hit where it was intended by the cate of t

Among experts refusing to win a certain trick, says the Detroit Free Press, is by no means an intrequent occurrence. When a long established suit in declared against you, and you hold the last trump, do not take a force unless you possess an established suit or your, partner has shown one, when by allowing one trick to pass you may exhaust one adversary in the suit possesse and prevent his leading it again to holder. For example, North and South hold a strong spade suit; North has shown it by list discard, and South is leading his best spade to him. East or West holding the last trump, must not win the second round of the suit, or any round, until he is morally certain that South is leading his last cord in that suit. Then, unless North has re-entry in another suit, he can never make his long cards If there's a card of re-entry in the player's hand who holds numerical strength; he will bring in his suit anyway, whother the second round is trumped or not.

Some Hard Knocks in Return. The Montreal Herald points out that the protectionists are continualpeople whose interests they so ardently champion. When the ship subsidy people were pressing congress for a bounty on the ground that they could not compete with Great Bithin and other countries, along came Sir Christopher Furness and ordered twelve ships from American words. Now, just as some of our implement manufacturers are pleading for more protection, and stating for more protection, and stating that they must go to the wait indicates they get it, along comes the Deering Harvesting Company of Chicago, hunting for a pince in Ontario in which to creet extensive works. It doesn't go to Ottawa and ask the government to run up the duties; it is not alrald to meet any of its American rivals in this country; it had goes ahead and looks out for a sit; of which to start operations. "If," says the Herald, "ar American compuny dore make an attempt to invade the Empire from a Canadian base of supplies, without any misgivings as to the result of the campatign, why reed Canadian capitalists stand in fear and trembling, pleading for the government to protect their operations?"

Catarrh

The cause exists in the blood, in what causes inflammation of the mucous membrane.

It is therefore impossible to cure the disease by local applications.

It is positively dangerous to neglect it, because it always affects the stomach and deranges the general health, and is likely to develop into consumption.

Many have been radically and permanently cured by Hood's Barsaparilla. It cleanses the blood and has a peculiar alterative and tonic effect. M. J. McDonald Tronton, Ont., writes: "I had catarrh, my system was weak, blood was bad, and my liver torpid and innective. I tried many medicines without benefit until I began taking Hood's Barsaparilla. This medicine has completely cured mo and I highly recommend it to all sufferers."

Debate on the Second Reading Begun in the Legislature.

TWO POLICIES ON DRINK EVIL

Prohibition-The Alternative-Reduc-

Brilliant Argument.

Toronto, March 5.—In the Legislative Assembly to-day the galleries vero crowded, and a large number were mable to obtain admission owing to the interest excited by the announcement that the Premier would move the second reading of the Prohibition Bill Among the bills introduced were measures to amend the Game Profection Act by Mr. Latchford; respecting the Burberry Shrub by Mr. Inviden, and to amend obtain Election Act, Mr. Gibson.

The following bills were read a third time: To amend the Land Titles Act, Mr. Gibson, and respecting the Dobenture Dobt of the Town of Orillia, Mr. Miscampbell.

The Prohibition Bill.

The Prohibition Bill.

Hon. G. W. Ross moved the second reading of the bill respecting the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors. He said there were three parties who had been heard from, the very earnest temperance man who demanded more heroic legislation. It was to be expected that some of them would be disappointed. There were also the men who were interested in the liquor traffic, who, of course, wanted no further restriction on their trade. There was also another class who wished to see some considerable restriction of the liquor traffic as far as public opinion would permit it, and he believed that the measure had the thorough approval of this class. He quoted The Montreal Witness, which had strongly declared in favor of the bill. Expression of opinion had been received from many hundreds of persons who were in favor of getting such a law as would be enforced by a preponderating public opinion. They did not want to repret in connection with the law the mistakes which had previously been made in trying to enforce legislation which was not sustained by disregarded and scouted by the people. Sir William Meredith, when actively engaged in politics, had said that such a law should be submitted to the people. As to the basis of the vote, the best authorities were opposed to a bare majority vote, which might be an actual minority of the whole people. A law passed in such a manner would only exist for a short time, and then be cast aside. He defended the provision of the bill requiring the majority in favor of the bill to be also a majority of the vote cast at the provincial elections. In order to dispose of the objection that many might refrain from voting in order to make the total vote at the next election smaller, or on the other hand swell the total vote at the next election shir here with the law did so and only a few scattering votes were polled in the coming election. This vote amounted to 426,970. He did not believe that either side would refrain from voting as if the opponents of the law did so and only a few scattering votes were pol erce their working men or seed deprive them of their legal as citizens. He concluded moving the second rending.

The Conservative Position.

The Conservative Position.

Mr. Whitney suid that the Premier's note of cheerfulness showed him prepared to express sunteams from cucumbers at the slightest warming. Despite the denouclation of both the prohibitionists and the liquor men he exceeded Mark Tapley in being jolly under all circumstances. He churged that the Government had abrogated its functions by falling back upon the referendum. He reviewed the course of the Premier on the question, stating that in 1877 he, as a member of the Dominion Parliament, had voted against a prohibitory resolution moved by Dr. Schultz. In 1893 he had opposed a mensure introduced by Mr. Marter to pro-

1898 he had opposed a measure in moved the six months' hoist. As a count of his action at that time the province had had the plebiseite, coming home to him with the referendum. The bill which Mr. Ross had just introduced was practically the same bill brought in in 1893 by Mr. Marter, which he (Mr. Ross) had then attacked as a neasure which would not prevent men buying liquor and delaking it at home. He had taken up the Manitoba Act because he was not able or willing to draft a measure of his own. Sir Oliver Mowat, in giving a plodge to introduce Prohibition, had said nothing about a referendum, which was first heard of after the decision of the Privy Council. Not one statement made in the Premier's former speech as to the referendum was applicable to the present case. He had heard for the first time since he had sat in the House the Premier's former speech as to the roferend party. He denied, however, that Sir Wm. Moredith's words would bear the construction put upon them. He certainly had nover said anything favoring a referendum loaded up so as to kill the bill. Sir John Bourinot had been in Toronto for five days.

quotations from Prof. Goldwin Smith condenning a resort to the measure as a means of shirking a difficult question. In the case of constitutional amendments in the United States a two-thirds majority was required, but in connection with the submission of other questions a bare majority was required. He guested many cases in which matters submitted to the people in the United States had been decided by a much smaller vote than that cast at general elections.

passing the bill subject to the approval of the people they were increasing conditional legislation for which numberless precedents could be found and which was entirely in accordance with the principles of responsible Government. (Applause) pointed robuke to King Edward, which was loudly applauded by the congregation. Having alluded to public houses as trap-doors of hell." Dr. Parker referred to the King's recent brewing of beer while visiting Lord Burton:

"Pray for me," said the divine, "that I muy speak delicately, loyally. If the King brews beer, what can be wrong in the subject drinking it? What the King does is likely to be Imitated by others. His Majesty is more than a man, and must regard all questions from a kingly viewpoint. If the King goes to a Sunday concert, as he did recently, he deals a deadly blow to the Englishman's Sunday. The King cannot attend a Nonconformist place of worship, but he can go to a Sunday concert."

This remark called forth cries of "Shame!" Dr. Purker continued: "If the King, who is the head of the Church and defender of the faith, can violate the English Sunday, what can the people do but follow in his steps? I would rather give a great sum in gold than appear to be disloyal; but I cannot be disloyal to Christ, and it is better that these things should be said."

In regard to the much-discussed question of volunteers, Mr. Brodrick declared that if the volunteers were to be a bar to conscription they must make themselves efficient. It was proposed to establish a volunteer reserve of men over 40 years of age who were unable to comply with the ordinary regulations, and establish during the present year a military reserve of 50,000 men. The education of all officers would be vigorously prosecuted, and the expenses of every young officer would be lightened.

which, he contended, had done its work well, considering that a war had never been before waged on such a scale as the South African war. The War Office to-day was feeding 200,000 men and 246,000 horses in South Africa, and there was no complaints on that score.

The experiences of the past year had confirmed the necessity for changes in the army administration, in decentralization, etc., as outlined by the Government last year. Military officers and clerks were being rapidly substituted in the War Office for civil officers and clerks. In regard to recruiting, Mr. Brodrick believed the limit had been reached. No reduction in the strength of the army could be expected, and, probably, the Indian gurrison must be increased.

The country had already enough experience of allowing the colonial garrisons to sink below their proper limits.

With a view of giving a filip to recruiting, Mr. Brodrick baid the Government proposed to allow enlistment for three years, with mine years in the reserve, and, with the object of inducing men to enlist for India and elsewhere abroad, it was proposed to give every one a clear shilling per day. If, after two years, the soldier decided to serve eight years with the colors and four years in the reserve, he would be paid an extra sixpence daily. Mr. Brodrick said this would result in enlisting a better class of men.

PROVINCIAL RAILWAY SUBSIDIES.

The Town of Lindsay and the whole County of Victoria have every reason to be well pleased with the ralical subsidies brought down in the Legislature has week. The Lindsay, Bubean geon & Pontypool Railway reveived a subsidy from the Povince of $3,000 per mite for 16 miles from Bobean goon to L'n Bany, making $48,000. Through the instrumentality of Hon. Bonater Medlingh when member for south Victoria, the government at Ottawa grantel this road as subsidy of $3,200 per mites for the whole length of the road from Bobean goon to the point of contact with the Landdlas Pacific Railway, and now through the instrumentality of Mr. Newton Smale and Mr. L. F. Heyd, K. C., the government candidates for West and East Victoria respectively, the government at Toronto has subsidized the road from this town to Bobean geon. It now looks as if the long cherished hopes of the people of the construction of this railway would be realized. This will be especially pleasing to the people along the line of the proposed rand. The Frondle, Bancrott & Ottawa Railway is also included in the list of subsidies by the Ontario government. This road receives a subsidy from Known from Palmer Rapitis to Reafrew, To miles from Palmer Rapitis to Reafrew, To miles in all 70 miles at $3,000 is a ravote. This promises large possibilities. We may set see this railway a part of the Grand Trunk Bystem, with the passenger traffic from Toronto to Ottawa coming through Lindsay. The Town of Lindsay and the whole

Before taking up regular business a number of accounts were read and referred to the respective committees and several tax abatements were endorsed.

The Fere By-law.

Mr. Prel, of the firm of McLaughiin, McLkannid & Peel, barristers, uppenged before Council on behalf of Mr. D. Cinaamon, who asked permission to errect an arbition to a shed peared beings counted in behalf is Mr. D. Chinamon, who asked permission to erset air adultion to a shed in ryar of his business premises and sheet same with iron. Mr. F. D. Moore was present to protest, on behalf of the Bank of Montreal and other cleans to these by against what they channel would be an infraction of the fire by-haw and a constant adulter to airrounding property. Mr. Moore read the vital clause in the by-haw which stipulates that all new buildings created within certain zones shall be of iron, stone or brick, and he maintained that a frame structure covered with sheet from whose it rily in contrastention of the by-haw, which should be amended if not sufficiently explicit.

crty-owners complain also that their insurance will be affected by such a building."

Mr. Fiel wild be half asked, two insurance agents if they placed brick-veneered and iron-covered buildings in different classes, and they had answered in the negative. The building would be used only for the storage of beavy hardware — coal off would not be kept there, is claimed. Many similar buildings had been erected within the limits defined in the by-law.

All Jackson remarked that if Councils had been careless formerly they should remedy the trouble now that attention had been sched to the matter. There had been infractions of the law owing to the carelessnass of the former Fire Warden. Measure, McLennan and others had been infractions of the law owing to the carelessnass of the former Fire Warden. Measure, McLennan and others had been public had been denied to them. The said brick storehouses and it would be unfair to permit others to do that which had been denied to them. The said guarding of property from fire was an important matter—he remembered one of the worst fires in years having started in a nest of flings buildings in that vicinity.

Mr. Peel—"What are we to understand is meant by the term "from building?" In the post a frame building sheeted with iron has fulfilled the requirements, and there is no other kind of Iron building in town."

Mr. Moore—"You can see them in Toronto."

Ald Jackwor, that the Finance committee investigate the insurance on the town buildings, with a view to a reduction in the rost arrived Mayor Ingloc—We need a bydax to govern the use of the market square by medicine vendors, etc. I was postered last year."

Clerk Knowlson—"There is a good bylaw fixing a fee of 83 per days on outsiders, and 81 for citizens."

Ald, Hore—"The walk on Kentak, opposite the new town park should be raised—bt is in very had shape, and a rishing should be placed in outline where it crosses the creek o protect childron."

The Council then adjourned.

COMMUNICATIONS

Lindsay's Tourist Trade.

(To the Editor of The Post.) Sir.—I have read with pleasure our remarks on the above subject in your issue of 10th last. The topic is most timely and of great interest to almost everyone in Lindsay. You are in error, however, as to the cause of my failure to form a company to build a hotel at Sturgeon Point. My want of success was not at all owing to not being able to interest outside capital, but was due to the following:

1st.—To the stand taken by the Int.—To the stand taken by the Grand Trunk Railway last year, when that Company refusel to live up to the agreement they made in regard to the hotel in 1200.

2nd.—To the apathy displayed by the citizens of Lindsay in the science.

3rd.—To the difficulty about the site at the Point.

1 presume the difficulty about the frade take the matter up with the G.T.R. now, the old agreement will be carried out. It is almost useless to go to outsiders and ask them to put money into a hotel at Sturgeon Point unless the people of Lindsay not only take a deep interest in the scheme but also take a fair amount of stock in the enterprise, ipresume the difficulty is about the site can be gotten over if our citizens show that they mean business. I think this question is now "up" to the people of Lindsay.—Yours, etc., Lindsay, March 11th. 'O2.

THE FARMING WORLD.

A Fine Agricultural Publication.

Last week's issue of The Farming World is worth a few words of comment because it gives more than usual attention to one of the most important interests of this country, namely, the poultry business. The success of aimost every farmer in the success of almost every farmer in the Dominion is more or less dependent upon the receipts directly or indirectly derived from the careful attention given to the barnyard fewl. The Farming World has always given this industry much consideration. The rumber before us contains a spiendid article on "Fattal Creative on " did article on "Fatted Chickens in Canada" by Mr. F. C. Hare, Chief of the Poultry Division, Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa, Another important article is by Mr. A. G. Gilbert, Poultry Manager at the Ottawa Ex-

Poultry Manager at the Ottawa Experimental Farm. His article is entitled "Poultry for Farmers." Mr. J. W. Clark, Onondaga, writes on "Suitable Breeds and how to Select." W. R. Graham, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Gardini, has a care: Intly prepared article on "How to Fatten Chickens." In addition to these there are other interesting and important phases of the poultry question presented.

The ordinary departments of the paper are well up to the mark. Well-chosen litustrations make the number ope of great attractiveness. The Farming World is published every week and the subscription price is only $1 a year. We shall be glad to supply The Post and The Farming World for one full year for only $1.75. Sample copy of The Farming World for one full year for only World may be had upon applying to the publishers, Toronto, or may be seen at this office.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Wondar what Gen. Buller thinks when he reads the "I-regret-to-say" reverses Lord Kütchener sends home after the Boor forces have been shattered into fragments.

When the various items in the Britis budget are added together they wild probably total about $800,000,000 odd by about $500,000,000 wild be for army, may and war. The fiddler must get this dee; the dance has been a wild one.

According to recent reports the denth rate in the Lordon smallpox outbreak is 14 per cent. among persons vaccinated, 65 per cent. In cases of doubtful vaccination, and 50 1-2 per cent. In cases where there has been no vaccination at all.

The proposal to turn over the appolatment of license officials to some other authority than the government, while still holding the government, while still holding the government responsible for the administration of the act, savors of rank hijustice. Those who advocate it have evidently given the subject little study.

If Mr. Carnegie is going to roll 700 tons of steel rails per day at the Sault on and after April iet, build 225 miles of the Algoma Central this year, and bring out 3,000 Scandlantian standard this and each subsequent year, as he says he will, there is no present danger of slackness in general trade, even though the war in Africa, should suddenly cease.

suddenly cease.

The population of Orillia is, we believe, slightly in excess of 5,000; that of Lindsay, something over 7,000. Keeping these figures in mind, it must strike one as being very odd that the attendance at the respective High Sciools is about equad, viz.; On roll for February—Lindsay 192; everage attendance 162; Orillia 187, average attendance 163; Orillia 187, average attendance is also remarkable, being very little below Lindsay's total. The staleness add the Orillia teachers do not compare favorably with those paid in Lindsay.

Details of the British reverse at Klerksdrop show that the Boers won the day, not as at Colense and Magersfontem by Ilring from behind entrenchments, but by flore charges and flerer limit-to-hand conflicts. The more desporate grows their cause the more reckless grow the Boers. It is probably the case that those now in the field are only the more determined—mor who have the Boers. It is probably the case that those now in the field are only the more determined—men who have nothing to lose, and are fighting with the grim desperation of despair.

The United States cerms shows that throughout the entire country, including both oity and rural districts, 48 families out of every 100 own the homes where they reside. The highest proportion of home owners is found in the north central States, where 58 families out of every 100 own their own homes. In all sections it is found that the higher proportion of home owners is in the country and the lower proportion in the cities. Of the 28 cities passessing over 100,000 oppulation, Rochester stands at the head, with 44 families in every 100 owning their own homes. Detroit and Milwankes come next, each with 42 fat. Paul and Buffalo next, with 40 families to the 100 who pay taxes instead of rent, and Cleveland follows one point behind. Philadelphin has 23, and New York etty proper 6.

The St. Catherines Standard say If Mr. Ross remains in power the people will still have the license law "which goes no further anywhere than the people wish." Well, why should any law go further than the people wish? All law is the expression of the popular will.

Chancellor Wallace, of McMaster University says: "One of Canada's greatest needs is women who are willing to become mothers. Women were not given to the earth to be fashionable ornaments or to spend all their days in killing time or to jostio men in the mack industrial rush of this age. The woman who is not willing to be a mother of children, and, if able, the mother of many children, is not worthy to be called a woman."

woman."

There will be no change in the Assessment law at this session of the legislature, except in regard to the "scrap-iron" feature, upon which Hon. Mr. Gibson has socured the approval of the Municipal Committee for a clause which provides in effect for the assessment of ways, ralls, poles, wires, gas and other pipes, mains, conduits, sub-structures and fixtures, which shall be assessed "at their actual value, as the same would be appreciated upon the sale by the company to another company possessing similar power, rights and franchises." This seems to be plata and unequivocal, though it would hardly be safe to gamble on the interpretation which a Bench of Judges may put upon it.

of Judges may put upon it

Wh'lo Rev. Mr. Kettewell was announcing, through a letter to the Globe, that he intended to vote against the Ross government—which means voting for the Whitney party—to testify his resentment against the referendum provise in the prohibition bill, Mr. Whitney was down at Belleville paying his respects to Mr. Harry Corby, the well-known manufacturer of IXL whiskey. At that festive gathering Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Messrs. Borden and Monk, the leaders of the Dominon tories, and Messrs. Whitney and Foy, the Ontario tory leaders, vied with one another in expressions of admiration for the eminent distiller, who may be depended upon to work just as hard as Rev Mr. Kettlewell or the Hamilton Royal Templar newspaper to defect the Ross government. What a happy family!

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Use of Cover Crops and Fortilizers.

Prof. I. P. Roberts, of Cornell Un-lversity, says: Cover crops may in a measure take the place of fertilizers and manures. Cover crops improve the physical condition of the soil, lessening the cost of tillage. Physically, furtilizers benefit the soil little or none. The immus furnished by the cover crops increases the availability of the plant food already in the soil; fertilizers do not. Cover crops induce the laminate covery moisture.

It is impossible to accurately compare the cost of tertilizers with the cost of seeds of its till of them. HISTORICAL SOCIETY WANT QUAR-TERS IN NEW BUILDING.

A meeting of the Public Library Board was held Tuesday night in the council chamber, business being taken up about half an hour after the usual hour. The members present were Mayor Ingle, and Messrs. W. Flavelle, Hardy, Kylie, Brady and Moora.

Secretary Hardy read the minutes of the organization meeting, held Feb. 10th, which were duly approved and confirmed.

A brief report from the Building committee was read. At a meeting held March 3rd letters from a number of architects, in relation to the building of the new Library had been read, and the Secretary of the Board was authorized to find out the selling price of certain town lots for consideration at a future meeting.—Adopted.

Ing price of certum town lots for consideration at a future meeting.—Adopted.

The report of the Librarians, shewing circulation, etc., for February, was as follows: History 68, Blography 87, Voyages and Travels 47, General Literature 24, Juveniles: Boys 270, Juveniles; Girls 70, Juveniles: Little Ones 50, Bound Periodicals 93, Pootry 87, Science 71, Religion 7, Miscilaneous 10, Fiction 900; total circulation for month 1820. Number of new tickets issued during month 29, total number of borrowers to end of month 1280. Cash receipts for month $2.15.

Mr. John Kelley, who had been appointed to check over this books in the Library, presented a report on his work. In all 324 books were missing, but a large number of volumes packed for shipment to the binder had not been checked over.

Mr. Moore—"Very likely the majority of the books will turn up." Secretary Hardy—"That was the experience hast year."

A number of accounts, aggregating $55.85, were resommended for payment.

A number of accounts, aggregating $55.85, were recommended for payment.

Mr. W. A. Goodwin was present to ascertain the Board had taken any action in coinection with a request made that some Socialist literature be added to the Library for the benefit of citizens of that trend of opinion. He was informed that the natter had not yet been discussed by the Library committee.

The Museum Proposition.

On motion Mr. W. H. Stavens was heard on behalf of the Victoria County Historical Society. He suggested that the neav Carnegie Library be made two storeys high, instead of one storey, as proposed, and that the upper flat be converted into two rooms for the Historical Society, one to be used for museum purposes and the other as a board or assembly room. In the nuseum there aight be gathered an exhibit of the woods of the county, the minerals, birds and animals. It was a regrettable finat that the children of the town are growing up in ignorance of these inactors, and he believed that mne owt of ten children of the town are growing up in a stated income, but would undertake to furnish the rooms and do all in their power to make the museum as encoses. The equired to erect a one-storey y in the United States should be for a two-storey building where labor and material is Flavelie—"Is there any possive of the Society getting a raggrant from the County County."

Secretary Hardy—"I believe the County Councillors could be Indused to place the Historical Society on the same basis as the Public Libraries of the County and give an annual grant."

Mr. Moore thought it would be an admirable thing to have the County museum in counaction with the County Library.

After some further discussion the suggestion was referred to the Building committee, with the Board's encloraction.

The Financial Situation.
A request from the Librarians, the Misses Reagh, for an increase of salary aroused corsiderable discussion. The present remuneration is $150 each, and this they wished increased to $175 each.
Mr. Moore—"Mr. Secretary, have you any idea as to the salaries paid in other towns about the size of Lindsay?"

Mr. Hardy—"Out of 450 Public Libraries only 20 pay, salaries of $200 and over. In Sornia, where the yearly circulation of books is 40,000 as compared with our 18,000. they pakt $361.99 in salaries, while we pull $313.83. (Mr. Moore—"But Saraila is about as large as Petorbora") Mr. Hardy, continuing, said that Brockvillo, with twice the circulation of Lindsay Library, pand only $300.

The question was asked if two Librarians were necessary, and Messres, Hardy and Moore answered it in the affirmative, saying that it was owing to the rush on certain days and at certain hours.

Mr. Flavelle—"I don't see how we can spent any more in salaries."

Mr. Hardy—"We are spending almost a third of our income now in salarios."

Moved by Mr. Flavelle, seconded by Mr. Brady, that the Librarians be reengaged at the same salaries and on the same terms as last year.—

Seer tary Hurdy directed attention for the coming meeting of the Ontario Library Association in Toronto, and said that Mr. Eastman superintendent of Public Libraries in New York State, would be present to exhibit a large numbers of views of Carnegle Libraries, and answer questions relating thereto. Murder by Eskimos of Famous Arotic Explorer is Confirmed, Winnipeg, March 8.—A report sent out from the Hudson Bay post at Fort Churchill, about two and a half years ago that Andreo, the Swedish aeronnut, and his assistants had been killed by Eskinos, is confirmed by advices received at the head office of the company here.

Aiston Churchill, factor at Churchill, which is the company's most northerly point on the west coast of Hudson Bay, has written that after about two years search the men sent out by him returned with a report similar to the one first published. Traces of the daring balloonist and his assistants were followed for hundreds of miles, but it was impossible to locate the tribe which caused their deaths. The story of the searchers is that Arctic Eskimos saw "Ohnaak" (one of their largest boats) flocting in the air. When it settled to the ground three white men, strangely dressed, came out with guns, which they indiscreetly fired. Andree and his assistants wore killed with huske bows and everything of value taken.

Forty-One British Killed and Seventy Seven Wounded-Western Transvant Scene of Disaster-The News, When Announced in British Commons, by Lord Roberts.

London, March 11.—Lord Methuen and four guns have been captured by General Delarey. General Methuen was wounded in the thigh. Three British officers and 28 men were killed. Five British officers and 72 men were wounded. One British officer and 200 men are missing.

The fight in which General Metheun was captured occurred before dawn March 7, between Winburg and Lichtenburg. Orange River Colony.

The British force numbered 1,200.
The Boers captured all the British baggage. General Methuen is retained as a prisoner.

Lord Kitchener's Despatch

Lerd Kitchener's Despatch.

The contents of Lord Kitchener's despatch announcing the capture of General Methuen are as follows:

"Pretoria, Saturday, March 8.—

I greatly regret to have to send you bad news of Methuen. He was moving with 900 mounted men, under Major Paris, and 300 infantry, four guns and a pom-pom, from Winburg to Lichtenburg, and to meet Grenfell, with 1,300 mounted men, at Roviralnessontein to-day. Yesterday morning early he was attacked by Delarey's force between Twebosch and Palmiet-knill. The Boers charged on three sides.

"Five hundred and fifty men have come in at Maribogs and Kraaipan. They were pursued by the Boers four miles from the scene of the action. They report that Methuen and Paris, with the guns, baggage, etc., were captured by the Boers. Methuen, when last seen, was a pri-Methuen, when last seen, was a prietc., were captured by the Boers. Methuen, when last seen, was a prisoner. I have no details of the casualties, and suggest delaying publication till I can secure definite reports. I think this sudden revival of activity on the part of Delarey is to draw off the troops pressing Dewet."

Further Details.
In a second despatch, dated Sunday, March 9, Lord Kitchener says:
"Paris has come in at Krnaipam with the remainder of the men. He reports that the column was moving in two parties. One with the oxwagons left Twebosch at 3 a.m. The other, with the mule wagons, started an hour later. Just before daylight the Boers attacked. Before reinforcements could reach them the rearguard was engaged. In the meantime a large company of Boers galloped up on both flanks. These at first were checked by the flank parties, but the panic and stampede of the mules had begun, and all the mule wagons, with a terrible mixture of mounted men, rushed past the ox wagons. All efforts to check them were unavailing.

"Major Paris collected 40 men and occupied a position a mile in front of the wagons, which were then halted. After a gallant but unsuccessful defence, the enemy rushed into the ox wagons and Methuen was wounded in the thigh. Paris, being surrounded, surrendered. At 10 a.m. Methuen is still in the Boer camp."

Then follows the number of casualties, as already cabled. The killed includes Lieuts. G. R. Vonning and T. P. W. Nesham of the Royal Artillery, who were both killed while serving their guus with case shot.

who were both killed while serving their guns with case shot.

As Lord Kitchener announced that Major Paris had surrendered, and also telegraphed that he had reached Kraatpan with the remainder of the men, it would seem that the Boers subsequently released the major and his companions.

Advices received has night say that the force under General Delarey was almost entirely dressed in British uniforms. This made it impossible for the infantry to distinguish' between their own men and the enemy when the mounted troops were driven in on them. The enemy numbered 1,500 men. They had one 15-pounder and a pom pom.

Delarcy, Calliers, Kemp, Tromp and other commandants were present.

In a private telegram just received here Lord Kitchener adds: "I find Methuen has a fractured thigh, but he is reported to be doing well."

best with this most melancholy affair.

The feeling of depression in the lobbies of the House of Commons over the news of the disaster in South Africa was very marked. The service members of the House expressed the opinion that it will necessitate sending fresh troops to the front, while the belief was widely expressed that the Boers will not fail to take advantage of Gen. Methuen's prominence to hold him as a hostage for the safety of Commandant Kritzinger and other Boer lenders now in the hands of the British.

Lord Rosebory said that Mr. Gladstone himself, if he returned from the dead, could not dare to entrust an independent parliament to men who openly rejoiced at a British military disaster.

The Life Gunrds are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip and pheumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best was that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sautsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and impairs a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong

Geo. T. Poweli on Tree Planting.

The Toronto Farmer's Sun; Mr. Geo T. Powell, of New York, in the course of a recent address, said; Land adjoining highways would be certainly benefitted by the planting of trees at suitable distances along the same, and also the country beautified. The growth of trees should be encouraged in all places about farms where tillage is difficult and unprofitable. One effect of this practice, in addition to the value that would be steadily growing in the trees, would be the protection that would be afforded to birds. With the barrenness of the soil on many farms there is a painful barrenness of bird life, and in consequence a great increase in destructive insects. Many crops at the present time can be grown only by the costly method of destroying insects by machinery, with horse and hand labor. More stringent laws are required to protect our birds. The shotgur and deg should be prohibited, and the birds given a chance to live, to multiply, and to ald the farmer and the horiculturist, in keeping in check the reany lescets that are devastating their crops. Two weeks ago a lady called at our store to look at our DINNER SETTS. She fancied two designs, but being a careful body, and intent on a bargain, she said she would call again.

We selected our China and Crockery stock with great care, and were pleased to receive this evidence that it compares in value and appearance with the assortments of other town dealers. We believe our prices are lower than those of most merchants, cuss an Offer From an Outside Manufacturing Firm and the Completion of the river Dredging.

In Joint meeting of the Board of Tracke and Town Council was held Wednesday evening in the Council chamber. The following gentlemen were pressurt: President J. D. Flavelle, Jas. Graham, G. H. M. Baker, J. Carew, J. A. Paddou, R. Kylle, C. D. Barr, G. H. Hopkins, W. A. Goodwin, J. M. Squier, N. Hockin, R. Chambers, J. H. Southeran, J. M. McLennan, Mayor Ingle and Aldermen Jackson, O'Rielly, Robson and McDlarmid.

Fresident Flavelle explained that the Board had been asked to meet the members of the Council in order that a decision might he reached as to the percentage to be charged property-owners who petition for granolithic walks. Herectofore the percentage on residental streets had been 60 per cent. for the town and 40 per cent for property-owners, and some of the aldermen were in favor of revising these proportions.

Ald. O'Rielly, chauman of the Board of Works, read a number, of letters relating to the plan followed by other municipalities, and submitted figures shewing the relative cost of plank and cement walks; the forear would cost, with repairs, about 7c. per square foot, and last from 20 the fact that the petitions approved should be for continuations from Kent-st.

Mr. McLennan-"Can the Council refuse properly signed petitions?"

Ald O'Rielly-"'Yes, I think so—the Commissioner has to report upon each, and we can instruct him to reach, and we ca

Mr. McLennan-"Can the Council refuse properly signed petitions?"
? Ald. O'Rielly-"Yes, I think so-the

Ald. Jackson-"No, no."

Mr. chambers-"I fall to see how the property-owners on any street for another walk was granted."

Ald. Burrows proposed that the property-owners' percentage be 50 per cent. instead of 60 per cent., as proposed.

property-owners' percentage be 50 per cent. instead of 60 per cent., as proposed.

Mr. Hopkins thought the building of cement walks should be encouraged as much as possible—it was folly to put down plank walks, and if the town had put down cement walks ten years ago, paying the entire cost, it would have been a paying investment. Of course it would not be advisable to put down cement walks on the outskirts. He was in favor of the Council continuing to pay 60 per cent. of the cost, and thought that only the citizons on leading streets would petition. The Council could refuse a petition for good rensons. Parties paying for cement walks had to pay their share of the 60 per cent. allowed in the case of other walks. Plank walks are costly and have to be paid out of the year's rates, while cement walks are cheaper in the end and the payment extends over a long period. Visitors spoke in very complimentary terms of the improved appearance of the town owing to the new payments, and if we can't have good streets right away, we should try to get good walks. The town should continue to pay 60 per cent.

town should continue to pay 60 per cent.

Ald McDiarmid thought the town should pay 60 per cent. or more, if necessary—it would be much cheaper to do so than to lay and repair plank walks. Not another yard of the latter auxib* se put down.

Mr. G. H. M. Baker—'Plank costs now about twice what it did a few years ago, while cement is only half the price it was then. It would be cheaper to lay granolithic walks."

Mr. Jas Graham referred to the plan followed in the town of Berlin, saying the town possessed more cement walks than any town of its size in Canada. The Local Improvement Actions in force there, and property-owners paid the cortica cont of the walks.

Rev. Fr. Sweeney's Reply.

My Dear Friends,—Your warm-hearted expression of the thoughts and feelings, the mingled by and sorrow that stir the souls of the people of this parish to-day, has touched the best and tenlerest chord of nature within me.

Your strong attachment, waxing warmer as the hour of our separation approaches, your kird appreciation of my labors amongst you for the last eight years of my pastural injustry, and your horset pride at my promotion, could not fall to draw, responsive echoes from my Irish heart. I will take to my new home the address, brim—full of kludly sentiments and good will towards mo and conched in benutiful words, and I will preserve it all the days of my life. Whilst thanking you most sincerely for your—noble and generous gift, I still more prize the testimonial and the loyal expression of my dear old parishioners.

You have kindly referred to my sojourn amongst you, and to the works achieved during my incumbency in the parish, and indeed you have a church here and another in Kirkfield which stand second to none of their size and capacity in the diocese of Peterboro. This church, which has been recently overhauled and free of debt, and I am happy to inform my successor, that there is only a nominal debt on the presbytery. The credit for all this is due to you—to your time and to your sport and means.

Although the work is somewhat haborious, still it always afforded me great pleasure to attend to your spiritual needs in season and out of season and under all circumstances. In doing these things I only did my duty.

EXHIBITION OF FANCY SKATING.

A Fairly Large Growd Present at the Rink Monday Evening.

Miss Munte Cummings, of Minneapolis, entertained a fairly large audience at the rink last Monday evening by giving an exhibition of fancy exacting. On account of the mild weather the fee was a trille soft, although much better than might have been expected. About 200 people were present and they went home well satisfied that the young indy is a star as a fancy skater. Miss Cummings came on the loc attired in a pretty red costume with hat to match, which was very becoming. The band played several murches as the skater performed her many difficult and gracefully executed feats. She is certainly a clever fancy skater, and the best that has been seen in Lindsay for some time. She has been giving exhibitions in fancy skatler gishes been. 20th, and has visited Dakota, Manitoba and Ontario. She will come direct to Ontario another year and exhibit in all the towns.

Academy of Music, March 20th.

There are still some good seats for this concert. Mr. Jones is England's most eminent tenor, and has sung before the crowned heads of Enrope. He is the soloit for Crystal Palzace events, London and all the great English festivals. Where he has appeared in Canada the universal opinion has been that he is undoubtedly the finest tenor that has appeared on their concert platforms. Miss Richardson is now the foremost Canadian Cellist, and Mr. Owen A. Smilley is so well known that he needs no recommendation as the foremost entertainer now before the public. These three artists will appear in one grand concert Thursday evening. March 20th, and the price of admission has been placed at the low figure. 50c. This will certainly be the greatest muchal treat Lindsay has had, and this will be the one opportunity of hearing. Plan at Porter's bockstore now open. Go and secure 50ckstore now open. Anniversary of Clothing and Furnishings

NE year ago we opened the doors of this up-to-date store and in spite of all predictions to the contrary we are still here. We take this opportunity of cordially thanking the people who patronized this store the past year, and can assure them that the business methods that made them customers will be zealously pursued. On this, our first anniversary, it will not be out of place to review the reasons why we opened this fine establishment and why we are still here.

We were one of the regular stores carrying all lines, and owing to the growth of our business we found it would be necessary to have more room or cut out some of the lines we were carrying. After due consideration we decided to give our undivided attention to the clothing of men and boys.

We felt that a good business could be done on solid business lines-that there were enough thinking people in Lindsay and surrounding country who were tired of humbugging methods in business and advertising, and who would support a business house that would say what they meant and back it up.

When we advertise a $10.00 suit or overcoat, it is worth every cent of the money. We do not say it is "worth $20.00 now $10.00.

The following is the business platform on which we stand:-1 Courteous treatment to everybody. 2 No misrepresentations to make a sale, 3 One price and goods marked in plain figures, 4 No marking up of price to mark down. 5 We stand back of everything we sell. 6 Your money back if you

Now for Spring---Be you man or boy, you cannot postpone many or furnishings before Easter, and if you want to know where you'll find the largest range, the latest styles, the best qualities and the most perfect fitting goods in the town, we are not a bit backward in saying we guarantee all these good points.

Yours truly, good points.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL PENDING

The Premier's Reason for Refusing the Re quest-In the Correspondence Brought Down in British House Canadiau References Were Excised, as Correspondence Was Not Yet Closed-The Division.

Ottawa. March 7.-Another party division took place yesterday after noon, the Covernment having a ma-jority of 51. The vote was taken upou a motion for the production of the correspondence relating to the 'Anglo-German trade agreement, in-troduced by Mr. Monk, who accused troduced by Mr. Monk, who accuses the Government of neglecting the in terests of the Dominion in connection with the negotiations. Sir Wilfrid Laurier refused to comply with the request, pointing out that negotiations were still pending, the last communication from this Government not having yet been answered. Incidentally the Premier, replying to Opposition criticism, stated that in the correspondence relating to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, brought down in the British Parliament, all reference to the representations made by Canada respecting the Alaskan boundary was eliminated.

Petition Presented.

Among the petitions presented to the House yesterday asking for bilis of incorporation, was that of Hon. George E. Foster, Toronto; F. A. Knapp, Prescott; Dr. Frank Bul-ler, Montreal, and others, design

The Angle-German Treaty,
Mr. Monk, in moving for the correspondence between the British and Canadian Governments, relating to the Angle-German agreement of 1898, said that if the correspondence were refused the inforence would be that either the representations against Canada being discriminated against were wrongly made or that no representations were made at all. He pointed to the withholding from the House of Information in regard to the Cluyton-Bulwer treaty, which had been given to members of the British House, as significant of very backward mothods. Mr. Monk protested that there could be no valid argument against bringing down the correspondence.

The Premier ridiculed to Idea that

The Premier ridiculed the idea that the rights of the people in Parliament were in any way connected with the production of papers. As with the Aleska boundary, so with the Gorman trade arrangement, negotiations were still pending.

 Mr. Brock said the papers should be brought down, and Canada should set about passing a tariff policy to remedy this state of affairs in regard to Germany and other nations from whom we could not get justice by dealing through England. Germany was the most bitterly hostile to the emirs of all European nations, and so Canada owed her no special favors on that score.

The House then divided on Mr. Monk's motion for the production of papers, which was defeated by 107. to 56.

MB, BOURASSA'S EXPLANATION.

Deals of Ris Statements.

Ottawa, Marsh 8.—In the House yesterday Mr. Bournasa made his promised explanation of his statements concerning the cause of Sir Louis Davies' prolonged visit to England after the adjournment of the Joint High Commission. He read a letter from Sir Louis Davies, emphatically denying that he had given any interviews to the press upon the subject in question, but Mr. Bournasa exhibited a disinclination to accept the denial, and criticized Sir Louis for not having earlier denied the accuracy of the press despatches upon which he had based his utternaces. Sir Wilfrid insisted that Mr. Bournasa was bound to accept the denial of Sir Louis Davies, and should not have attempted to justify his previous statements in face of that days.

As to the intention said to have been indicated by Mr. Brodrick, of taking up this matter of Imperial defence for discussion at the conference which is to take place next summer, the correspondence which will be brought does in a few days will show the attitude of the Government on that question.

Laballo had accepted SIT Louis Davies' denial without comment. It was most unfair, the Premier thought, to persist in attributing to Sir Louis Davies a statement which he denied having over made. The Premier concluded with an eulogy of Lord Herschell, whose attribute towards Canada during the deliberations of the Joint High Commission had been unfairly called into question.

Mr. Haggart alluded to Mr. Bourassa's statement in the House the other day, to the effect that the Imperial Government had sacrificed to interests of Canada during the meetings of the Joint High Commission. The action of Mr. Bourassa in discussing those questions while he was still a secretary of the commission was, Mr. Haggart declared, most extraordinary.

"My connection with the commission," interrupted Mr. Bourassa, "coased on the day on which it hast met in Washington, namely, in February, 1890."

Mr. Chariton said the impression provailed in Canada that Great Britain had not sufficiently protected Canadian interests, but he could contradict that statement. president of the association by a standing vote, amidst great applause.

Col. Borden returned his thanks in suitable terms. Col. Borden spoke of what the department was doing for the establishment of ranges, and said he considered rifle shooting the backbone of the militial organization of this country. It was, therefore, the duty of the Government to do everything in its power to improve rille shooting. He pointed out that the money ordinarily granted for annual drill was this year to be voted for 'annual drill and musketry,' so that the department would be able to spend such portion of the appropriation as it might see fit for the development and improvement of rifle associations. "More than that," said the minister, "the department proposes, with the entire concurrence of the Major-General Commanding, I might say, upon his advice, that in future no recruit will be regarded as accomplished as a military man, nor will it undertake to spend the good money of this country upon any man who does not show a remarkable aptitude before he becomes a military man, for learning the use of the rifle. The house was a wooden building, and had just been newly painted, and fell an easy prey to the flames.

Mr. Bouchard, the only member of the family to escape, is almost demented with grief, and cannot give a very clear secount of the calastrophe.

FORT WILLIAM CURLERS ENJOYED TWO GOOD CAMES.

Defeated by Skip Flavelle, he Scored Against Skip McLennan-The Games were Witnessed by Large Crowds— Supper and Speeches After Match.

Supper and Speeches After Match. Quite a large number of citizens turned out Thursday afterwoon and evening to see the games played by the Western rink from Fort William and Bort Arthur. In the afternoon they played against Mr. Flavelle Mr. Flavelle was short the services of Mr. Little. Rev. Mr. Macmillan was taken on 10 lead and Messrs. Guibbert and O'Connar were advanced a place. The ice for the first few ends was very keen and nucle to the visikors' kiking, but toward the close it was not so keen and Flavelle and his men took the lead and kept it. The Fort William man were 'nnadicapped in palying with strange stanes.

Diving, but boward the close it was not so keen and Flavelle and his men took this lead and kept it. The Fort William men were bundicapped in polying with strange stones.

Lindsay found the shalk first and scared singles on each of the first two ends. Rochom came back with a single. The next end went to Mr. Flacille for a single only, and Rochom scared singles twice in succession; this pat Fort William one up. The next five ends ed went to Lindsay, Flavelle securing 7 points. In one of these ends things looked rather blue for Lindsay, as Fort William lay five shots, when Mr. Flavelle went to play his last stone. To get the shot he had tocome through a narrow port. He got the shot perfectly. Mr. Rochom tried to follow the shot, but he wise a little wide and just missed the port. The twelfth end yielded one for Rochon; the last two ends went one for Lindsay and the other for Fort William. In the last cud Fort William was lying shot almost on the tee. Mr. Flavelle asked Cuthbert to draw to the tee around a long string of guards, and he put one right on top of it. This was a beautiful shot and wen the applause of the large crowd present. Cutbbert drew, again with his second stone right up to the first one. Neil MacDungall with his second stone right up to the first one. Neil MacDungall with his second stone right up to draw, played narrow and fell on the front stones Mr. Rochon played a guard. Mr. Flacile raised a Lindsay stone in for shot, cutting Fort William lay 3 shots.

The crowd that turned out to se the evening game were delighted with the carifing that was done. The ice was not such as to make good curling easy, but yet the play was AI from startto finish. The representatives of New Ontario fully justified the repotation that had come to Lindsay before them as being among the finest that play the royal game. The play of these men, and especially that of the skip, Mr. Rochon, time and egain won the hearty applause of the spectators.

In the first end a succession of fancy running shots were made; one of the these by McSweyn and one by Rochon were very difficult to make, but both succeeded in making them. A lucky kiss on a difficult shot by McLeman saved the cud for him, and lindsay scored ore.

Lindsay scored one.
In the second end some very pretty curling was done by both sides—there was no running, and stone after stone was drawn into the draw circle. Rochon with his last stone made a particularly good draw, and lay two. Score—Fort William 2.

The fourth end ran badly for Rochon's quartette—at one time they lay two shots, but McDougall, in trying to pase a Lindsay stone through the rings, got a shade marrow and raised it onto a Fort William stone. With his next rock he cut out their own shot. Rockon' was wide with both of his draws and Lindsay added

Fifth end-Grant played two dandles in this end; both stones were within the draw circle and both counted. Durdags and McLenuan cleared these out and Lindsup in four shots. When Rochon played his last rock he made a beautiful draw to the cee and cut Lindsup out of a four cut. This was repeated on several different ends by him during the course of the game. Sore—Lindsup 8, Fort William 8.

The sixth end botwel like a ponny with a hole through it for Lindsup McSweyn missed with both his stones, and Fort William hud a house full 15 rocks. Rochon drew a sixth one in. This was too much for McLonsan-the bunch must be scuttered, and after the rocks had settled down Rochon drew and the visitors lay two shots. McLenman cut out the winning shot and lay shot himself and one more was chalked up for Lindsup 8 tore the Fort William 3.

In the seventh and McLennan played to out out the Fort William shot by striking a Lindsay stone that was lying in front of it and against it. The speed he had on consed him to run straight; he misseed the Lindsay stone but he struck the Fort William stone and wicked it out, and Lindsay lay four shots. Rochorphyded for a difficult raise, but was too strong and passed the stone through the rings. New Outarlo continued on their unward bound in the next end. The hearty appliance of the spectators and the many handshakes and bright smiles that Mr. McDougall was receiving must have made the visiting rink feel that they were in a town that knew good curling when they saw it and could appreciate it whither shewn by home or, foreign players. The eighth and ran for Fort William almost from the start. Blackwell had played two beautiful leads but Grant and McDougall ontiplayed their opponents, McDougall mcking an especially fine draw to the button behind guards. McLennan could do nothing and Fort William 7.

In the ninth end Bodder and Grant left their side lying three when the first two players on both sides had finished, and although these wore aimed at often before the end of the round of three shots, and Rochon now, landed on top. He and his men had played a plucky, lund up-hill fight, and lindsay shot. McSweyn added an other by drawing to Blackwell's, stone. McDougall tried hard to chip the shot out but falled, and as Dundas guarded it kept Rochon and McDougall guessing for a few minutes as to what should be done. At last they decided to try, a rinning shot through a narrow part Rochon missed the port but cleared the guard of the port but cleared the profession on the short and lay three shots on the tee. This he did and scored one for his sides. Score—Lindsay 12, Fort William 10.

Three rousing cheers were given for the visitors, they init turn cheering for the Lindsay Ciub. Thus was brought to a close one of the best and most keenly contested games of the season.

It may be of interest to our readers to know something about these visitors. Mr. Rochon, as the name implies is of French parentage; howover, he was born and raised in the County of Glengarry and the people in the wast long ago labeled him tho man from Glengarry, and gave him the prefix Mao., so that he is known all over the West as Mac.
Rochon. The first game of curling he ever saw was in Feterboro between Peterboro and Bebeaygeon.
Mr. Hoeder comes from the County of Ontario. Mr. MacDougall's lather was the first Sherriff of Victoria County, and Mr. Grant is an old
Ontario boy. |

A little supper was tendered these men at the conclusion of the game at Taylor's restaurant. Mr. Har-stone acted as chairman! A few men at the conclusion of the game at Taylor's restaurant. Mr. Harstone acted as chalrman! A few toast's were proposed—first the King, second the visiting rink. This toast was replied to by the different nembers of the Newl Ontario Quartette. Mr. Rochon stated that he had promised Mr. MacDongail that he would accompany him to Lindsay this winter if he got a rink of West-this promise and was very glad that he had done so. He had enjoyed the games in Lindsay very much; he had played more than once against Mr. Flavelle in Winnipeg and he was very glad to have the opportunity of playing against him and the Lindsay trulers on their own loc. He was pleased that they had won one of the Fort two games—they had played their best to win both; they always pl

A Sharp Debate All Day-The Railway Subsidies and the Supplementary Estimates Tabled. Toronto, March 6.-The Public Ac-

might have opportunities in the future to meet the Lindsay, curiers.

Mr. Hodder stated that he had played against Mr. Flavelle on two different occasions in Fort Arthur. In that town they looked upon Mr. Flavelle as the father of carding in Ontario and Noil MacDougall as the Inther of it in New Ontario. So that to Lindsay might be traced the parternage of carding for both Old and he had come on the trip.

Mr. MacDougall sold that the trip was one of special ploasure to him—he had need the right whether it was a game of or special ploasure to him—he had need to friends, and scarcely knew at the right whether it was a game of carding or a game of hand-shaking that he was playing He was sorry that he could not stay longer, but linted that Lindsay and the "Bang-up" Quartette from New Ontario might ofton meet in the future.

Mr. Grant said he was no speaker, but when pressed made a capital speech. He was a cauching enthusiast—he had started to curi with wooden blocks and wherever he was, if for could be made, he had a club started and played the game. He was a charter member of three Western clubs and an honorary member of as many more. He had curied in the morning on a rink on the mountain and played locroses the afternoon of the same day on the plain in the valley. When Mr. Rochon asked him to be one of the Quartette to come to Lindsay he had consented at once. He enloyed the game as he had lost against him here, but was exceedingly pleased with his rink. He lindsay curlers of the non-playing visiting curiers. He had eat very interesting speech referring to the game as played in Montreal and Quebec and the growing interest Lindsay Rink, and Rev. He hade a very interesting speech referring to the game as played in Montreal and Quebec and the growing interest the tindsay curling Club had always stood for clean, manly, honest amateur sport of the very best type, and it wendly be well if sister clubs in the towa Toronto, March 6.—The Public Accounts Committee concluded their work for the session to-day. Hon. Mr. Stratton asked to be called and make a statement in connection with the $4,000 grant to the Dickson Lumber Co. for the Stoney Creek dam. Mr. Stratton said he had first been asked by representatives of the company, before he was a member of the Government, to endeavor to secure a grant in connection with the works on the creek, as they were of more or less service to the settlers and to the other lumbermen getting out logs in the locality, and also of value in conserving the water and regulating the flow. The request had been repeated after he had become a member of the Government. It was on his representation to the Cabinet, he said, that the grant was made $4,000 instead of $5,000, in view of the dam costing $8,100 instead of from $10,000 to $13,000, as was originally estimated.

"As for having any conversation with Mr. Shook or Mr. Hall," Mr. Stratton continued, "with Mr. McGill or any other berson possibly connected with the company, by which there would be any payment by the company, it is absolutely untrue. It never was suggested, it

Hon J. M. Gibson moved the third reading of the bill to amend the Devolution of Estates Act. Mr. Joynt moved a reference back to committee to strike out the third section. He said that previous to 1886 there was no Devolution of Estates Act. This bill was intended to force estates into the Surrogate Court in cases in which such a proceeding was unnecessary. The Attorney-General Why Do Their Enormous Forces Not Make Greater Headway in These Make Greater Headway in These Days?

(Bystander in Weekly Son.)

Toroute has been the scene of a great concourse of young men destined for missions. It seems that in spite of this High Criticism there is still faith in christianity, though the missionary must now ran the risk of encountering, as did Colenso, scarching questions on the part of the mail whom he seeks to convert, especially if that man is a subtle and inquisitive Hindoo. Whay do the fruits of our modern missions fall short of those of the early missions grouped in history as the Conversion of the Barbarhars? Why, with all our secieties for the propagation of the Gospel, our liberal expenditure, and our powerful machinery, have we apparently nothing to compare with the achievements of solitary and unaided missionaries like Ulfilas. Columban, Bouiface and Augustine? The answer probably is complex. Those conversions were rather formal. The hearts of Clovis and his Franks were certainly not much changed. Migration, severing the barbarians from their sacred groves and springs and circles, would loosen this alliance of the priest. But the most potent influence of all probably is a considered the such damning confutation at his side as the character and conduct had he such damning confutation at his side as the character and conduct had he such damning confutation at his side as the character and conduct in the convertion of the Sone well in protesting against the laws for the exclusion of the Chinese, Iniquity could bardly be more barefaced than it is when war is made upon the propele of China for imbospitaity to foreigner, while they are excluded as unclean intraders from the dominions of the same powers.

WANTED TO CATCH THE MULE, the Surrogate Court in cases in which such a proceeding was unnecessary. The Attorncy-General said the provision was necessary in order to prevent estates slipping away from the control of executors and being available for the payment of liabilities and carrying out the provisions of wills. The amendment was lost on division, and the bill read a third time. The following bills were read a third time: To amend the Marriage Act, Mr. Gibson; to amend the Separate Schools Act, Mr. Harcourt; respecting the Ontario, Hudson Bay and Western Railway Co., Mr. Farwell.

Mr. Marter resumed the debate on the motion for the second reading of the bill respecting the sale of intoxicating liquor. He said that he spoke for himself alone and did not wish the party with which he had acted to be held in any way responsible for his utterances. He had always held that the licensing of the sale of liquor was wrong and regarded the moral issue involved in the prohibition question as far more important than any party issue. He quoted from a large number of authorities, religious and secular, as to the evil effects of the liquor traffic. Great good had been effected by the closing of the bars on Sundays. He was in favor of closing them altogether, It had been said that you could not make men sober by act of Parliament. But you could make men drunkards by legislation and that was done by licensing the sale of liquor. It was urged that the Legislature had no right to interfere with personal liberty. But that was equally an objection to the present law, for it interfored with the liberty of all who wished. to sell drink and could not procure licenses. The sooner the State washed its hands of the partnership with the liquor dealers the better. He reviewed the action of the Government in taking the plobiscite. The people had expressed themselves in favor of prohibition, but their mandate had been evaded. He claimed that a large number of temperance men had supported the Government on account of their promises to give prohibition. He objected strongly to the referendum was not binding on their successors. It was nonsense to say that it was necessary to have public sentiment in its favor in order to enforce the act. It was the Government alone who enforced the license act. The general public did not come to their help to any extent. He would prohibition bill brought in ty the Government, but this bill was no good, and to carry it was an impossible task. He would press for such amendments as would Virginia, they came upon an oid colored man, whose mule, attached to an old two-whose mule, attached in the dumps and wouldn't go.

"Dis mule am balked, boss," said the old man, "ad Pil jie gib a dollar to de man dat can start "im."

"I w!!! do it for less than that, uncle." said the doctor.

He took his case from the carriage and selected a small syringe, which hd filled with morphia, and then injected the drug in the animal's side.

for the defeat of the Government than they were about proinitiving. He was glad to pay a tribute to the sincerity of the last speaker. When the Marter bill was submitted the jurisdiction of the Legislature was in dispute. Had it been passed there would practically have been free trade in himor before a decision of the Privy Council as to the constitutionality of the measure could be reached. The administration had fulfilled its pledges on the very first opportunity after their jurisdiction had been defined. He could quote the authority of leading temperance men by the score to show shat in their opinion it was necessary to have a strong public sentiment in favor of a prolibitory law in order to secure its satisfactory enforcement. He strongly denied that the existing license law had not public opinion behind it. Many prohibitionists heartily supported it in preference to having free trade in liquor. The Premier had been charged by the leader of the O-position with being afraid to stand by his guns. But his record was clear and consistent. He had always been ready to go as far as public sentiment and the interests of temperance would permit. No man in public life had been more courageous than the leader of the House who had always shown himself able to grapple with big questions and handle them successfully. The question as to the constitutionality of the referendum had been fully and completely settled by the citations of his colleagues so he would not dwell on that phase of the subject. In the last analysis the people were sovereign and in this great change the Legislature should be guided by the people themselves. Mr. Whitney had spoken of the administration as a "dying Government," yet he had argued that it should pass the bill on its own responsibility without consuiting the people were sovereign and in this great change the Logislature should be entation of the speech of last night he could not see why any temperance man should support Mr. Whitney, Neither at Ottawa nor by the Ontario Conservatives had any policy on this or any other question.

After Recess.

Mr. Foy said that the bill was not a prohibition bill but one that removed the drinking from the barroom to the private home. It did not interfere with the manufacture or importation of liquor and under its provisions just as much would be used as ever, A law might not be void or be beyond the power of the House to pass, but it might be unconstitutional as being opposed to the spirit of the British constitution. He argued at some length that the present referendum came within this category, quoting several authorities in support of this view. He denied that the referendum in case of a deadlock between the Upper and Lower House had been embodied in the new Australian constitution. If it was desired to adopt this principle the Government should have brought in a bill to amend the constitution so as to legalize the referendum.

so as to legalize the referendum.

A Divided Opposition.

Mr. Graham commented upon the peculiar position occupied by the Opposition. While the leader had committed himself against the bill Mr. Marter had signified his intention of supporting the second reading. How did they expect the country to decide between them. The Premier stood where he had always stood, doing the best he could in the Interests of the temperance party. He had to consider the views of the large cass who were not extremests on either side of the question. What had Mr. Foster done for prohibition during 18 years? The Province of Ontario had a splendid record for the steady improvement of the license laws and the consequent decrease of intemperance and vice. One great thing which the Government had done for temperance was the teaching of temperance in the public schools. Mr. Whitney's speech was a strong and forelble one and if the campaign funds in Manitoba would allow it it would pay the Liberals of that province to procure its delivery there to secure the defeat of the Roblin Government, for it was a severe and caustic criticism of their referendum policy. Mr. Marter, he held, occupied a highly illogical position in condemning the bill and promising to A Divided Opposition. Government, for it was a severe and caustic criticism of their referendum policy. Mr. Marter, he held, occupied a highly illogical position in concenning the bill and promising to vote for the second reading for fear he might be misunderstood. If the Government were, to be charged with cowardice was not he open to the same accusation. He contended that the principle of the referendum had all along been recognized in connection with temperance legislation. Such legislation should be, in the words of Tennyson, "broad-based upon the people's will." The referendum existed under our municipal law in connection with a large class of bylaws. He quoted the practice of church organizations to show the prevalence of the referendum principle and the requirement of more than a bare majority.

Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario) was opposed to the loaded referendum,

The vote was then taken. It was a straight party division, except that Mr. Marter voted with the Government.

The division was 48 in favor of the motion that the bill be read a second time and 35 against, a Government majority of 13.
The House adjourned at 11,40 p.

Canada Misrepresented.

(From the Stratford Beacon.) Two cases of official misrepresent ation of Canada-umintentional, per haps, but none the less injurious that—came under our notice last week. One was the remark of Hom Joseph Chamberlain before the large week. One was the remark of HonJoseph Chamberlain before the large Welsh delegation which waited upon him asking for a grant towards transporting the Welsh colony in Patagonia to Canada. He enquired as to the elimate of Patagonia, and on being toold that it was warm, he expressed doubt that it would be wise to expose people who had lived so long in a warm elimate to the extreme rigor of a Canadian venter.
Another was a series of pictures in the Cosmopolitan Magasine, llystrating an article cuttled "Motherhood."
A vumber of beautiful English and American mothers, with their childreu, are pictured in bright evening dresses, while Lody Minto and her children are shown in long fur coatis reaching to the ground, making it difficult to distinguish between them and Esquimaux.
Why should the wife of the Governor-General of Canada and her family have themselves photographido in furs to the heels and not the wife and cylidren of the Governorof New York State?

In the case of Mr. Chamberlain, the question was prompted by ignor-auce, he never during any of his visits to this continent having taken the trouble to visit Canada. It is very reprehensible in a man occupying his position to show such ignorance of a country he is supposed to a guardian eye, as it were

WHITNEY'S VACILLATING POLICY WITH RESPECT TO THE REFERENDUM AND OTHER IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

The Record of the Liberal Government in Ontario Clearly Defined as Shewing Progress, Frugality and Regards for the People's Rights,

The liberals of Lindsay and West Victoria have every reason to feel stitisfied with the success of the first town meeting in the interest of Mr. Smale, the standard-bearer chosen to contest the riding. The andience was a large one, and that the interest was keen is proved, by the fact that very few left the Academy before the clese, although the hour was interaction into in fact. If the meeting had been opened sharp at 8 o'clock all would have been better pleased. About 10.20 an andience begins to grow restless, and the ability of Mr. Heyd, the last speaker, to hold the attention of the large crowd till aftertions of the large crowd till attention of the large crowd till attentions of the large crowd till attention of the large crowd till attentions of the large crowd till attentions of the large crowd till attention of the large of the large of misappropriation could be alleged. To get down to bushness, he was there to say something concerning the claims of the present government for the renewal of the confidence and support they had so long enjoyed. There was a queer sensation of empitness about his head, and everything around him hore a strange air of unreality. At the door he stopped and put his hand up to his forchend and for a full minute stood like one dazed. Then, turning his eyes once more on his wife, he said: "My God, Louesy, you are killin me! You have broken my heart. Oh, please, I please tell me it is not true, that look I way in your eyes, and that you do love

She did not raise her head, but be-tween her sobs he heard her murmur:

"I can't, I can't, for I don't love you!" Without another word he passed from the room and went staggering untertainly down the walk to the street. He felt that he had received a death-blow, and in reality he had received that which was far worse, for death would have brought an end to pain and suffering, and this brought pain and suffering only.

ed back at the house. Through the window he saw his wife sitting as he had left her, and a great yearning came over him to take her in his arms and hold ber to his bosom and kiss her. But the next moment he remembered the words she had spoken and the look she had given bim, and, laying his head against his arm, he said sadly: "But she is not mine! She is not mine!"

CHAPTER IX.

A DANGEROUS MEETING.

Although a couple of weeks had passed since James Melvin arrived on Possum Ridge, the public had by no means lost interest in bim, and neither had its curiosity regarding him been in any degree satisfied. He was still an object of wonder, and speculation concerning him—his past life and character and his purpose in coming to the Ridge—was as rife as it had ever been.

Of course his statement to old man

Of course his statement to old man Turner that he had come there to prospect for mineral had spread abroad among the people, but there were very few who believed for a moment that there was a word of truth in it. There were no mineral developments in that section and, so far as any one knew, no indications of mineral deposits. In the view of these things, what likelihood was there of a company of capitalists sending a man there on any such mission?

Pap Sampson, so boastful of his ability to judge people at first sight, had ity to judge people at first sight, had been compelled to admit, though he did it rejuctantly enough, that for once he had made a mistake when he so confidenty asserted that Melvin was a preacher and that his object in coming to Possum Ridge was to hold some "meetin's" at the Coon Run "meetin house." Jason Roberts, still having an excuse for holding to his first formed epinion, continued to argue that he was there for the purpose of buying somenearly so, in his opinion, and both he and Pap had the satisfaction of seeing 3hm Thorn, a mere upstart, holding the lead is mubile opinion for once.

McIvin soon observed that wasceser he table and home to been a stelling begin to been a stelling begin to a moment, but his hand, at his hand r. She dream and looked white and sensation as sensation at it, one by one, dropped away until he of the people was unpleasant to a stran-

"Louesy," he said presently, "what does this mean? Why do you treat me like that?

"Be made no reply, but continued to sob. He reached out his hand again and shrank from him as though his touch were poison. Her action cut him deep, and a pain, sharp and poignant, passed through his soul. When he soplot again, his voice was low and husky.

"Louesy," he said, "is it true, as Mary Mann says, that you don't love to me none?"

She did not answer, and when he had waited a moment he repeated his question. This time she looked slowly uptainli her eyes met his. From that moment there was no need for her to speak. In her eyes he only too plainly read her answer to his question. Slowly, as one in a dream, he turned to love the man a queer when it is a passing through a stopping, when in passing through a story in the shower is many continued to present the store, but in reality for a far different purpose. Each time, however, he had come back as he had gone, his purpose unaccomplished. But at last fortune favored him.

One evening he had left the vilinge to return to Turner's, where he was still stopping, when in passing through a thick wood he came suddenly face to face with Mrs. Banks. Both started back in surprise, but Melvin recovered himself quickly, and, grasping her hands in bis, he looked full into her face and cried:

"Thank God, Louisa, I have met you at lest!"

Then he caressed her hands, his mind Then he careased her hands, his mind in such a tunuit that he could find no further words to speak, and when after a moment she would have drawn her hands away he held them fast. "Don't, please don't!" she said in tones of soft remonstrance, looking anxiously around. "I— Please let me col!"

"No, no!" he replied. "Don't ask me "No, not" he replied, "Don't ask me to do that. It would be cruel after I have hungered and starved for a sight of you all this long time. Oh, Louisa, you don't know how I love you and how I have missed you and yearned for you! Oh, my darling?"

He made a movement to put his arm about her, but she tore herself from his

"That—that I am married."
He hesitated an instant, then said

A light of heavenly bliss swept over how features then appeared the great ways.

A light of heavenly bilas swept over her features, then quickly died away.

"Don't say that," she pleaded. "You have no right."

"But I have," he replied. "I have more right than any one else, for I love you more, and you love me. Isn't that true, Louisa? Don't you love me?"

She made no reply, but hid her face in her hands. Presently he repeated:

"Don't you love me, Louisa?"

She waited a moment, then looked up sppealingly.

"Didn't know what?"

"No; I love more. If you loved me one-half as much as I love you, you would not be so cold and exacting."

She looked at him a moment with an incredulous smile on her ilps.

"Listen," she said. "I have told you that I love you, and now I may as well tell you this. I love you so much that I worship your very shadow, while one drop of your blood, one atom of your fesh, is more precious to me than all the millons of buman beings on this earth. Is your love greater than that?"

"No. But yet you drive me from you."

"I do, because I know it is best and because I am strong enough to resist templation. You must leave here, and wo must never meet again. Goodby."
"Wait a moment. Did you receive my note that first day I came?"

"My land, Pap, do you think bein in love with Mis'us Mann is anything to be ashamed of?"

"It would be for a man that's already got a woman shorely, an I don't know, Jim Thorn, but what I'd be ashamed of it even if I didn't have no woman."

There was a general laugh at this, which caused Pap to straighten up and look important.

"That's a putty hard knock on the widder," Hicks observed presently, "but if Pap was a widower I bet he wouldn't talk no skin a way."

"I guess I do," Sam replied.

There was little, very little, of excitement or interest in the lives of the citizens of Possum Ridge, and when anything strange or out of the common did happen they liked to make the most of it and engoy it to the fullest possible extent.

Then, too, in this linstance, they scented something in the way of scandal, and that made them all the more eager listeners. Unsuphisticated and simple as they were, they possessed that insatiable curlosity and that morbid love of the unsavory which are not altogether

Sam Morgan, finding himself the center of an eager group who waited with open mouths for him to speak, felt his importance, and it was excussible in him that he remained silent for a little while to enjoy the situation. It was not every day he could occupy a position like that, and it was very natural that he should desire to make the most of the could occup.

"Waal, don't squirrels nat'rally mul-tiply an increase?" Pap asked.
"Not dead uns don't," Jason replied.

I drawed up my old rifte an tuck aim at the head of the nightest to me an banged away. Imagine my surprise when all seven of them squirrels come a-tumblin out of that tree an fell in a pile on the ground, that bullet havin gone clean through ever one of their heads."

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 28th,

CANADA'S POPULATION in his great speech on the Budget last Tuesday Sir Richard Cartwright hast Tuesday St. Rashatt Carthright produced evidence to show that the apparently slow growth of Canada's population between 1891 and 1991 was pertially explainable by the over-count which the census-takers in 1891 made; the population in 1891 being really less than the official figures showed, the guin in the last decade was really greater than appeared by the comparison of the figures of the two consuses. Sår Richard, with all the gallantry of a true knight, camto the defence of the women of Can-ada, who had been charged with the responsibility for the small increase of population, "I would desire," he said, to contradict a slanderous statement which has crept into the public press, and I believe those who circulated it did not fully comprehend what they were about. I refer to the state-ment which endeavors to put the ment which endeavors to put the blame for the small numbers now appearing in Canada on the shoulders of the ladies of Canada. I stand here to refuie the slander, and to say that the ladies of Canada, now as ever, have done their duty faithfully to their country. And if our numbers crease of population has not been so are less than we than they should be it is no fault of theirs. If the men will go away, what are the poor wo-men to do? It is not through any great as he would have desired. Of course, we know that evil communications corrupt good manners, and it may be that here and there there may be a shaughter of the rake where Yankee practises have crept in, but I deny that such practises have affected in the slightest degree the great majority, and I assent that they are pre-pared to do their duty by their coun-try, now and ever as they have always done. Touching upon one cause for the small increase in our popula-tion, Sir Richard Cartwright referred to the fact that the exodus embraced in its numbers the very flower of our people, young men and women, many of whom had risen to places of the very highest position in the United States. The United States census showed that in 1880 717,000 Canadians were in the United States. This number had increased to 980,000 in 1890 and to 1,181,000 on 1900, but the difference between these numbers did not represent the total loss to Canada from this source. Allowing for the death rate of 2 per cent., and the loss of the children ,who would naturally have been born to them, the total loss to Canada between 1800 and 1901 was estimated by Sir Richard at 1,400,000 people."

There will also be a larger yield of cheese, thus giving an increased value to the milk, to say nothing of an added value per pound of cheese by improving the quality and preventing a loss from shrinkage. From all these causes, in Prof. Robertson's opinion, an increase of 20 per cent. in value, which is equivalent to $4,000,000, will be effected.

Dr. Sulder, who is Mr. Whitney Dr. Saider, who is Mr. Whitacy's candidate in North Norfolk, is highly indigmant that he should have been reported as responding to a request for a statement as to his position on the prohibition question: "To hell with prohibition?" He denies the strengous language, but he does not make it clear whether, he follows his leader, or just prances all record him.

"Made in Germany" is a trade tag which has long been known and has has been a bone of contention. A Toronto firm seems to think the principle might be extended, and has preed liv employes to purchase in their private dealings only goods of Canadian manufacture which may be teld by observing that the balue of a Canadian manufacture wite may be teld by observing that the balue of a Canadian manufacture wite may be teld by observing that the balue of a Canadian manufacture wite may be in sight. The idea, is patriotic, but unless there be and accopted and get erad system of stamping adopted it is difficult to see that the theory can be put into partice. "Made in Canada" however, is notifier a long or difficult tag to affix to goods.

AN ACCIDENT SATURDAY EVENING

Intoxicated South Ward Man Met With a Serious Mishap.

Saturday evening about o'clork fames McGlynn, of Russell-st, west side the sidewalk at the corner of Ras sel-st. and Victoria-ave. He appeared to be in a helpless state of intext eation and Constable Reeves, on beln. notified, secured aid and had him car-ried to his home news by. While doing so the man's grouns led his helpers to suspect an injury, and Dr. Herriman, who was sent for, discov-ered that the left leg was broken in two place.

ered that the left leg was broken in two place. It appears that McGlynn recently returned from the sharties with the proceeds of his winter's work, and has been indusing rather freely. It is said that when, he returned home Saturday evening at supper time he discovered that he had been robbed of $200, and it was while coming down town in the hope of traching the mency that he staggered off the walk and met with the accident. Next morning the injured man was sent to St. Joseph's hospital, Peterbero, on the advice of Dr. Herriman, the nature of the fracture being such as to demand the best care.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY SUNDAY

The Sabbath Was Made for Man.

At a legislative hearing on a ques-tion of legal restriction of Sunda; trade, a gentleman favored wider hberty because we are at the opening of a new century, implying that Sunday have are a relie of the dark ages. Not of the darkest ages, he should reflect. They do not prevail now in "Darkest Africa," or in any dark and sayage hand, non ever dil. Sunday observance is not a mark of ruce uncultivated life. Only enlight-Sunday observance is not a mark of roce uncultivated life. Only enlightered christian nations observe Sunday rost, and protect the civil rest day by law, as a wise provision for the good of society. Not only sanages, but bad men everywhere, do without Sunday. Either they are not able to see that it is a necessity of wise living, or they do not wish to live wisely. Just in proportion as men advance in enlightenment and in a desire to live according to the best light, they keep Sunday. There are except one, but on the large scale, and in the long ran, exactly as men gale in spritual insight, attain breath of view, and a comprehension of the forces and tendencies which govern human life, if they also are wise enough to conform their conduct to their lacreased knowledge, they will not he her lacreased knowledge, they will, prize Sunday, and keep in will all their heart. This is absolutely sure. How do we know it? On the word of Ham who cannot err, who is the truth, for file and "The Sabbath was made for man"—for man as man, always and everywhere; not for Jews alone, not for certain centuries only, but for all the centuries, for the twentieth and the fortleth, for all those blessful and prosperous ages when human progress shall have lifted man to the high vaptage ground of enjoying the blessings a kind Providence makes ready for his use.

And of all these blessings, one of the richest in value in itself, and most prolific of other blessings is the day of Sunday rest and worsh p. And will see the interest of the richest in value in itself, and most prolific of other blessings is the day of Sunday rest and worsh p. THE NEW BABY

Opens up a new world to the loving mother. It it is a strong, healthy baby that new world is a world of happiness. If it is a weak, fretful child the new world is full of anxiety. It has been proven in thousands of cases, that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes all the difference between atrength and weakness in children. Healthy, happy mothers have healthy, happy children. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and promotes the secretion of the nourishment necessary to the healthful feeding of the nursing child.

The features of the April Century are a frontisplece engraving by Timothy Cole of the famous painting by Velasquez entitled "Head of a Young Man," the beginning of a new serial story on marriage, entitled "Confessions of a Wife," by "Mary Adoms;" four humorous stories, including "Chimmle Fadden on L'Aiglor and Woman," and "Disciplining the R. & O.," by Willis Gibson, all illustrated; in the series on The Great West a chronide of the overland trip to California by Noah Brooks entitled "The Plains Across," with pretures by Remington; personal reminiscences of Alexander II. by the Actives Rhea; two lilustrated articles of travel in Abyssinia by Hughes Le Reux and Oscar T. Crosby, the third of Dr. Weir Mitchell's "Little Stories," entitled "Two Men," a timely sketch by Henry C. Rowland entitled "The Seamy Side to the Philippines," a paper by Sylvestor Baxter on "The Beauthying of Village and Town," besides poetry and the departments, It will be seen from this list that there is a very wide rauge of topics.

—Scribner's Magazine for April begins in this number, is the longest novel written by Mr. Davis and is his first since "Soidier of Fortune." It is his most mature work, and narrates the adventures of a young West Pointer who was alienses from the Academy and weat to Honduras to make a name for himself as a soider with a body of revolutoriste. It is romantic and adventurous in every page, and the development of the horo from his "cab" stage to a self-reliant soidier is depicted with even more skill than Mr. Davis has here-tofore shown—which means that it is a trimph in marrative. Among the stories in the number is an acousting the follow has by Thos.

Childish Conduct of Conservative Members of the Senate.

ANOTHER CONTINGENT RUMOR

Mr. Borden, Leader of the Opposition Questions the Finance Minister About a Newspaper Rumor, But Fielding Declines to Discuss Rumors in the Newspapers - Many Questions Auxwered.

Ottawa, March 25.—The Conservatives in the Senate obtained a snap verdict yesterday afternoon. It was on a motion by Senator Landry, calling for a return showing the minutes of the meeting of the special committee held on February 21st to strike the stunding, committees. The motion was an unusual one, as the Conservative leader himself admitted, but Senator Landry wanted to And out how the members of the Striking Committee voted on the occasion mentioned, and any other information that could be gleaned as to changes in the constitution of the committees. The Government leader declined to agree to the motion, and on a division it was carried by a vote of 24 yeas to 20 nays. The total vote was, therefore, 44 out of a House of 81. With 37 Senators absent, including many Ministerialists, the Opposition were able to carry their point. No importance attaches to the division, but it affords another illustration of the resentment felt by the Conservatives at the control of the Upper House passing from their hands. It was cuinently a properting for the Government supporters, now that they are in the majority, to secure adequate representation on the standing committees. The Conservatives, however, would still like to predominate in the committees, although they are in a minority in the Senate, and in a spirit of pique they are asking why Opposition members should have Ottawa, March 25.—The Con-spirit of pique they are asking why Opposition members should have been replaced by Liberals. This conduct is equally as childish as that which led the Conservative members of the Striking Committee to stand aloof whilst their Liberal conference draw up the standing committees. The Ministerialists have so far behaved with generosity towards their opponents, but they cannot be expected to display magnanimity if the desire is shown to thwart their wishes on every possible occasion. The roport of the Striking Committee was adopted by the Senate last week. The time to have raised objection was when the report came up for adoption, and no good or useful purpose was to be served by reverting to the past and endeavoring to ascertain why such and such a thing was done. The division upon Senator Landry's motion seems to have been unexpected by the Ministerialists, several of whom are absent from their places. Yesterday's division, therefore, carries with it a moral so obvious as not to need pointing out. For the remainder of the session, or until the Liberal majority in the Senate grows larger, it would be well to look out for surprises. Hon. Mr. Perley asked the Government if they have provided for or are going to give the Government of the Northwest Territories a larger grant of money to carry on the administration of affairs then they did last year, and, if so, what amount? Hon. Mr. Scott could not answer till the supplementary estimates were brought down. Hon. Mr. Perley said it was unfair to expect that the Government of the Northwest Territories could meet the expenses consequent upon increased immigration on the old allowance. Last year there was a shortage, and this year there would be a greater one. Mr. Haultain had said if they did not get a larger Federal allowance they must have provincial autonomy.

ANOTHER CONTINGENT.

Mr. Fielding Doolines to Discuss News paper Rumors Therennent.

Ottawa, March 25.—Just before the House adjourned last night Mr. Fiolding, in response to a question by Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, respecting the rumor that another contingent is to be equipped and sent to South Africa, said it would obviously be inconvenient for the Government to be held responsible for newspaper reports, and declined to discuss the question, The budget debate occupied the greater portion of the day, Mr. Bell (Pictou), Mr. Johnston (Cape Broton), Dr. Sproule and Mr. Davis (Saskatchewan) participating, Incidentally in the course of discussion upon a private bill, Hon. Mr. Fitzdentally in the course of discussion upon a private bull. Hon. Mr. Fitz-patrick questioned the soundness of the position taken by the Bell Telephone Company, that they were not subject to the control of municipalities so far as work upon the public streets was concerned.

Bills Introduced.

Previous to the House going on with the budget debate the following private bills were introduced: Respecting the Central Counties Railway Co.; respecting the Canadian Pacific Hailway Company; private bills were introduced: the specting the Central Countles Railway Co.; respecting the Canndian Pacific Railway Company; to incorporate the Ross Rifle Company; respecting the Dominion Cotton Mills Co.; to incorporate the Pacific Northern and Yukon Railway Co.; to incorporate the North Shore Power, Railway and Navigation Co.; respecting the Ottawa, Brockville and St. Lawrence Railway Co.; to incorporate the Knapp Tubular Steamship Co.

The Minister of Justice introduced a bfill to abolish compulsory pliotage for vessels drawing less than 16 feet and plying between the Great Lakes and Gulf of St. Lawrence ports.

Lakes and the ports.

Another bill introduced by the Minister of Justice is to provide for assistant judges of the Supreme Court of Canada in cases where a quorum of judges cannot be had, either became of the absence of one or more of the judges, or the disqualification of a judge to sit because of provious connection with a case. The object is to resum inconvenience to coursel by postponement. The bill provides that the assistant judge shall be from the same province as the disqualified judge whose place he takes. The bill to incorporate the Sprague's Falls Manutac aring Co. was read a third time and passed. Soveral other private bills were given a second reading and referred to committees

Answers by Ministers.

Mr Clancy was informed that the approximate amount of the Dominion claim against the Province of Onturio under Indian Treaty No. 3 was $475,000. The claim was made in 1893 and 1895, but had been post-poned from time to time. It would, however, the Government promised, soon be taken up.

Mr. McCreary was informed by the Minister of Agriculture that the Government was aware from the form of contract that the War Office excluded colonial cattle from army beef contracts. The Government did not know, however, what was the cause for their exclusion. The Premier, replying to Mr. McCreary, said the Government had received from the Manitoba brauch of the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition for the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition for the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition for the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition for the Ionahum Allionce a petition dealing with the constitutionality of the Ionahum Allionce a petition for the Ionahum Allionce and the International Ionahum Allionce and Ionahum Ionahum Allionce and Ionahum Ionahum Ionahum Ionahum Ionahum Iona Borden said it was considered in the public interest to do so. The Budget Debate.

Mr. Bell of Picton, resuming the budget debate, reviewed the fiscal policy of the two parties in Canada. Mr. Johnson of Cape Breton, Dr. Sproule and Mr. Davies also spoke.

Mr. Borden said: I would like to bring to the attention of the Minister of Finance, who is leading the House at this time, a communication from Ottawa, which I observe in La Patrie of this evening. As that paper has somewhat the character of an official orgar, I attach more weight to this article than I might to one in some other newspapers. The communication, which I will translate, is as follows:

"I have nothing official, but I am under the impression that, if the pending negotiations between Kitchenor and the Boers are not successful, a new contingent will be recruited in Canada, at the expense of the War Office. It is even said that, in case of peace, this contingent will serve as police, and will replace troops whom it is desired to retire from active service."

I wish to inquire whether there have been any negotiations, or whether any circumstances have arison to lend any warrant to this statement in La Patrie?

Mr. Fielding declined to state the accuracy of the report. He said: "It would be obviously inconvenient for us to be held responsible for everything that appears in the newspapers, even in so excellent a paper as La Patrie. I would not like to discuss the matter on the basis of a nowspaper report, and I think that my hon friend will see that that is a wise and proper course."

The House adjourned at 11.40 o'clock.

had placed on the statute book such a magnificery body of legislation in their interests as had been done by the present liberal government at Ottawa. Bir John Macdonald had gone into power in 1878 with a big majority, yet in his long term of office he had failed to pass a single law in the interests of the laboring classes. The conservative leaders in the province—Mr. Meredith first and
Mr. Whithey last—had opposed legislation in the working men's behalf.
The Laurier government had established a Labor Bureau, had put an ments in sweed shops and had laid down a rule that unce employed on works receiving government aid shallbe pand the highest wages prevail in Ontario the Mowat govern-works receiving government ald shall be paid the highest wages prevailing for that class of labor. (Appliance)

In Ontario the Mowat government, which came into power in 1873, had passed the Mochanics Lien' Act to protect the wages of workingmen, and the Employers' Liability Act, to prohibit the employment of children in factories and to compel the use of guards on dangerous manchines. The Ontario government had also made provision for the care of neglected and dependent children,—making good citzens out of them instead of allowing them to become criminals,—yet the leader of the Opposition and his supporters voted against an expenditure of $1500 per annum for that purpose.

It should be remembered by the workingmen that the present manhood franchise law was passed by the liberals. Not long ago the men in factories and other large concerns were herded to the polls and compelled to stote as their employers wished—to-day they are free to vote as the please. Investigation will show that the ilberal party has always shood for progress and fairness. The Ross government is now making a start to establishing railways shood for progress and fairness. The Ross government is now making a start to establishing railways to be owned by the people, (applause), and has laid down the rule that every man employed in constructing the Temiskaming line must be Canadlan born and receive the highest rate of wages paid in the locality. (Cheers, He defied any conservative to point out any similar legislation by a tory government.

Mr. Heyd closed with an impassioned and sarnest appoal to all to support the candidates of the party having such admirable principles insertibed on their banners and whose aim is to build up Ontario and make the people prospecous and happy. The meeting closed with cheers for the King and the candidates.

They had been teld also that the ilberal party was being ruled by the great orporations. That was another platitude. Mr. Harcourt a law years ago introduced a bill to tax these corporations—to divert part of their surplus earnings to the public benefit. One would dragine that Mr. Whitney would admit the justice of the contention, yet every member of the Opposition had voted against the measure. Wity shouldn't these great and rich corporationspy their share of the public burdens? The government had also expended large sums for the bonefit of the farmers—2212.000 last year. If the ruled of the grain raised in the province were cohanced in any one year one-half a cent per bushed the return would exceed all that has been try of the farmers—as a stabilishment. It was shown further that in some expended on the Articultural College since its establishment. The plantiff, George Elliott, is a journeyman printer, residing in Lindsay, but had been following the occupation of a mill heart in the village of Huntsville, in the District of Muskeka. The defendants are an incorrect company, having their head office at fluntsville. The plaintiff claims that a certain saw which he was working at in the Company's mill was not guarded as it should have been and that by reason thereof the paintiff's right hand was out wholly oif, thereby rendering him mable to work, and putting him be great expense and leaving him permanently disabled. However, shortly after the ir bry the defendant, so the statems of claims ys cam to to plaintiff and agreed to pay him $150 and give lim permanent employment on cordition that he would bring no action acasts the company. This the plaintiff accepted but be now asky that the sald agreement be set aside as being obtained from him by undue influence, or in the alternative famages for failure of the defendants to furnish employment in accordance with their terms of the agreement. The statement of defence sets out that there is no memorantium of any such agreement as alleged and that have yound the plaintiff so laim is barred by the Statutes of Limitations.

Sir Richard's Great Speech

CANADA'S PROCRESS UNDER THE LIBERAL ADMINISTRATION.

The Expenditures of the Conservative and Liberal Governments Compared

The Growth of our Trade with the Motherland.

The following excerpts from the great speech delivered in the House of Commons last Tuesday by Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce will be read with interest. The speech was in answer to the arraignment of Hon. Mr. Fielding's budget statement by Mr. R. L. Bordon leader of the Opposi-

R. L. Bordon leader of the Opposition;
The don, the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Sir Richard Cartwright) followed Mr. Borden. He said Mr. Borden reminded him very forcibly of the predecessor who had occupied that very seat some fiventy-five years ago. No more fitting time could be imagined for such a reintroduction than when the third census since the promulgation of the National Policy gave them an un-National Policy gave them an unprecedented opportunity of showing what that policy had really, done for Canada. He asked Mr. Borden his fofficial" authority for disputing Hon. Mr. Fielding's assertion that, in all human probability the growth of Can-ada during the last five years has been equal to that of the fifteen years preceding.

(Mr. Borden—The Year Book.) He was sorr; it that was all, as in 1897-8-9 the Year Book's population estimates were about 10 years alread of

Mr. Borden's followers had cheer ed londly over reduction, asleged our trade with Great Britain. What were the facts? In 1889, our trade with Great Britain was $49,277,000 on which we collected a duty of $59,-576,000. In 1897, the last year of the rational policy, our trade with Great Eritain had fallen to $28,401,000. In 1901, our trade with Great Britain Eritain had fallen to $28,401,000. In 1901, our trade with Great Britain was $42,819,000, on which we collected a duty of $7,845,000. What did our preference do for Great Britain? In eight years, under the National Policy we had not $14,000,000. In the four years under our policy we had gamed $14,000,000. And whereas under the old tariff on imports of about forty three and a quarter millions, we collected $9,576,000 of duty, under our tariff, on imports of almost forty-three millions—bear in mind, the merest fraction of a difference, we collected $7,564,000 of duty or about $1,700,000 less duty than was collected on a nearly similar amount of goods imported into Canada in 1889.

Of course there were fluctuations; for instances recently in the importation of cheese to Great Britain. What did the present government do? Did the sit down and wail? Not a bit. How Mr. Fisher at once held a conference with those who represented the great datry interests of this couptry, and they were now applying themselves as men should do, not to give more protection for the dairy interests, but to enable them to help themselves and restore the cheese industry of Canada to the proud position it had bither to held in the British merket.

It was quite true that thee best of governments cannot always avert

It was quite true that thee best of governmenty cannot always avert calanity, but unfortunately the reverse was only too true that a government can very easily bring about colamity, but unfortunately the reverse was only too true that a government can very easily bring about disaster to a country, as he would bresuity show the government which they displaced was eventually successful in doing from 1878 to 1839.

"Now, sir, the doctrines of averages is a great doctrine. But take a little of the doctrine of averages, take the case of Holland. My honfriend was great of the doctrine of averages, take the case of Holland. My honfriend was great to the fact that we apparently discriminated against Great Britain, although I do not think he quite understood the case. We will take the case of Holland. From Holland we imported the other year $797,000 worth of luports, and we taxed those imports $1.250,000. Was not that a fearful discrimination, 170 per cent on the average of goods we imported from Holland. Perhaps my bon freend thinks that being pro-Boers it is all right to punish Holland. We imported less than $800,000 worth and taxed it $1.250,000. Has my hon freed any explanation to give?

(Mr. Borden—I should say it was gin.) He is perfectly right, it was gin.) He is perfectly right, it was gin. In he perfectly right, it was gin. In he perfectly right, it was gin. In he perfectly right, it was gin. In the property right, it was gin. He is perfectly right, it was gi

The whole comparison the hon gentleman has made of the expeditions to a degree! I hoped he would have had the candor, when he camo to compare the expenditure of inst year with that of half a deven years ago, to point out the very large proportion of our increased expenditure never occursed in the time of his predecesser or admit that the very large proportion of our increased expenditure did not cost the people of Canada one cent. It has not cost the people of Canada one cent. It has not cost the people of Canada one cent. It has not cost the people of Canada, at any rate, one ent that we spent a million and half in the Yukon, because we got a million and a half more out of the Yukon. It does not cost them one cent that we pay a million more for for slinking fund than we did in 1895. What comes out of one pocket goes into the other. If my hon, friend, the Minister of Radingays and Canada, asks us for six millions for the purpose of carrying on the work of the first of the people of Canada, a penny. I hely that is quite as near to equilibrium as the predecessors of the hon, gentleman ever got.

"Now my hon. friers must needs mix and muddle up capital and ordinary expenditure. That is always indiscreet, that always lends to confusion. They must be judged by different canons and different principles, and he would have done far better to confunctions different principles, and he would have done far better to confunction the confusion of the craimary expenditure. I will take a parallel case. He was appalled hust now because my hon. Irlend spent $57,000,000, and was in danger of spending $65,000,000 for all purposes during the next year. Str. I turn to the public records which I have under my hand, and I fund that in 1881 this hon. gentleman's priedects my found it uncessary to expend $45,163,000; in 1885 they found it necessary to expend $45,163,000; in 1885 they were obliged to spend $61,887,000. Str., on what population? The population of Capadat in 1881. $5.86 amounted roughly to about 45,000,000 souls. Now, str. If the 25,001,000 souls. Now, str. If the gross total expenditure of Canada for all purposes, good, bad or indifferent, whether productive or unproductive, did range to a matter of $10 or $11 pon head what has he to say of the case of 1881 when the average annual expenditure productive did range to a matter of $10 or $11 pon head what has he to say of the case of 1881 when the average annual expenditure on consolidated arount was $56,35,000. Our population, taking his own estimate, which I do not concur in for reasons I will give presently, was about five million. Now in 1901, it is quite true that our expenditure amounted to $41,386,000, bit or reasons I will give presently, was about five million. Now in 1901, it is quite true that our expenditure amounted to $40,000,000, one present process entires and expenditure pre hand of $7.63, and your 5,370,000 expenses incurred by the Mintser of Costoms in collecting re

EVERYONE CAN HELP THE CONSUMPTIVE.

The New Free Consumptive Hospital Will Admit Consumptives Absolutely

The New Free Consumptive Hospital Will Admit Consumptives Abscintely Without; Charge.

The appeal being made on behalf of the new Free Consumptive Hospital, built under the auspices of the National Sanitarium Association—the first Free Consumptive Hospital in Cananda—is one that touches closely the heart-strings of every man, women, and child the broad Dominion over. Where is the community, far or near, without its sufforers from this dread white plague? We are all interested in bringing these relief and restoring them to health, family, and active citizenship again.

One important step in this direction has been taken in the crection of the new Free Consumptive Hospital, due to the beneficence of two Toronto citizens, and which is now nearly completed. When the workmen go out of the belief, when the workmen go out of the building, and that will be almost immediately, all that is wanted to make it ready to receive the consumptive is that it be supplied with beds and other furnishing appointments, no charge whatever being made for admittance.

The National Sanitarium Association are already carrying too heavy a debt to undertake the furnishing themselves, but the way is open for each one to help in raising the $10,000 needed for this purpose. The sum is not a large one. Ten thousand individual contributions of $1.00 cach out of a population of nearly $6,000,000 people would accomplish this end. Some, of course, with their hearts racked by the sufferings of relatives, friends, or fellow-citizens, will, ontof their abundance, do better than this. Fifty dollars will furnish a bed. What is needed is that the amount be raised quickly, that the many knocking at the doors of the National Sanitarium Association may find a place open for them.

Contributions for this purpose, $1.00 cach of the National Sanitarium Association may find a place open for them.

Contributions for this purpose, $1.00 cr more, will be received by $ir Wm. R. Meredish, Chief Justice, $1 Lamport Aye., Toronto; W. J. Gage, Esq., 64 Front St. West, Recent communications have appeared in our columns reflecting on the management of the Library Board. We have made some enquiries since these appeared and we think they have been quite misunderstood. The management have only one of ject in view, and that is to adminis-ter properly the funds at their dis-

ter properly the lines at their disposal such to be Lole to Lib towards all partles. Last year, after providing for all necessary expenditures, the small sum of about $250 was left for the read work of the Library-ramely, the purshase of new books. The postlon of the Librariae only requires her services for a pertion of the day, the hours of duty being from three until five and again from seven till nine, the assistant only requiring to be there dering the evening hours. In most towns, both on this and the other side of the line, Libraria, and to this way the further armings by accepting the duties of Libraria, and in this way the Library patrons are served economically. In some places a young hely with literary t sits has a or p.e.t the position w to an assistant at a nominal salary, largely for the love of the work, and in this way the expense has been minimized.

We also regret to note the unpleasant reflections made upon the very worthy and capable Secretary. Our town has reason to be proud of what he has done and is doing every duy for the Public Library. To him practically is due the credit of securing the recent gift of $10,000 from Mr. Cannegie, and to his energy and far-sightedness the tolymy is largely indebted for the Free Library which can either a the voluntary labor he at the work as one enquiry as to the work his doing from day to day, can appreciate all the voluntary labor he are providing of a telephone so as to minimize as far his possible the amount of detail work his voluntary office entails. Few towns, have the advantage that we possess in having such the firm as small degree by providing a small sum for clerical work and the providing of a telephone so as to minimize as far his possible the amount of detail work his voluntary of the services and charactor which he receives from this medium to our Beord.

But the firm as Secretary of that Beord, thus associating him intimative and the provides and charactor of work he is rendering to our town, so that they may express at least their appreci

A Great Display of Colonial Troops Intended.

THE OUOTA FOR CANADA 500

The Northwest Territories Application For Provincial Autonomy in the Senate
- Hon. Mr. Scott Gives Some Information-Will Go Over a Session -Mr. Baiph Smith on the Chinese Question.

Ottawa, March 22.—It is evident that the Imperial authorities intend to make an elaborate display at the King's coronation of the military resources of the empire. Contingents have been invited from all the colonies and dependencies, and there is every likelihood that the procession in London when His Majesty proceeds to Westminster Abbey will be on a far larger and grander scale than at the late Queen's Diamond Jubilee in 1897. India has been asked to send a thousand native troops, but in the case of Canada, Australia and New Zealand the quotas will not be as large. It is thought that the number to go from Canada will not case of Connada, Australia and New Zealand the quotas will not be as large. It is thought that the number to go from Canada will not case of 500, and the probable expense will be about $50,000. The Imperial Government's invitation is now before the Dominion authorities, and action in regard to it will shortly be taken. Major-General O'Grady-Haly was yosterday inorning summoned to consult with the Governor-General in regard to the military contingent to be sent to the coronation ceremonies. It is understood that the contingent will be constituted on the lines of that which attended Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee in 1897. This was under the command of Col. Loud Aylmer, and consisted of 202 of all ranks, composed as follows: Officer command, 1; cavalry officers, non-commissioned officers and men, 51; artillery, 28; infantry, 77; other officers selected, 20; Northwest Mounted Police, 25. The Department of Militia is overwhelmed with applications from officers and men who are anxious to serve on the contingent.

Ottawa, March 22.—The Senate yesterday passed the first bill of the session, an Act to transfer the Government Law Library in Regina to the Northwest Bar Association.

Hon. Mr. Perley inquired if the Government of the Northwest Territories had made application to enter confederation under full Provincial autonomy, and, if so, what were the terms and conditions proposed by them.

Hon. Mr. Scott said an application had been made for the admission of a portion of the Territories, but nothing had been done, or was likely to be done at present. The papers were confidential, and could not be brought down without the leave of the Northwest Government.

Hon. Mr. Scott said there were several questions to be settled, such as whether there should be one province or several, where the capital should be, etc.

In answer to Mr. Perley, he had not heard the school question mentioned in the matter.

THE CHINESE QUESTION

Mr. Ralph Smith Wants the Findings of the Commission Put Into Force in the Dominion,

Ottawa, March 22.—The debate on the budget was continued in the House of Commons yesterday, and the speeches made were decidedly above the average. Mr. Ralph Smith presented in a vigorous manner the British Columbia view, especially with reference to Chinese immigration, which he wanted dealt with according to the findings of the commission which had recently reported Mr. E. F. Clarke discussed the labor problem and the tariff question, Mr. J. J. rugnes insisted upon the rights of the fishermen and farmers of Prince Edward Island to compensation bounties upon thefr products if higher protection, and Mr. Oliver, (Alberta), speaking for the farmers of the owst, protested against the manufacturers, who represented 10 per cent of the exports, being granted increased protection at the exponse of the other 90 per cent., representing the farm, the forest, the fisheries and the mines.

Tobacco Trade is Threatened.

Ottawa, March 22.— A delegation of tobacco manufacturers, accompanied by Messrs M. K. Cowan, R. F. Sutherland and numerous other members of Parliament, waited upon the Premier and Ministor of Justice yesterday morning and drew attention to the policy of the American Tobacco. Trust in Canada, which threatens the trade of the Canadian manufacturers. The American Tobacco Trust has bought out the business of the Empire Tobacco Company of Canada, and, it is alleged, is now seeking to compel Canadian, wholesale and retail dealers to handle only the Canadian leaf which it manufactures, under penalty of refusing to supply them with American brands which are popular in Canada. If this were permitted it would cut off the medium of distribution for the Canadian manufacturers. Hence they are asking the Covernment to provide some means of release from a state of things which threatens to become intolerable.

The scaffold was exposed and about fitteen spectators were present. After the black cap was adjusted Lacroix was cautioned by the priest to keep up heart. He said, "I am not afraid to die." At 8.05 the signal was given and Lacroix fell nine fect. Thirteen and a half minutes later the jail surgeon pronounced the man dead. His neck had not been broken by the fall, but death was due to strangulation.

Lacroix was hanged for the brutal murder of his wife on Aug. 24, 1900. A year previous they bad separated. The duy before the crime Lacroix bought a revolver and then followed his wife into the house and caught her crouching behind the door, and holding the baby. Oatching her by the hair of the head he dragged her out. The womun, clinging to her baby, tried to reach the door, and Lacroix shot her in the hand. Falling upon her knees the woman baby, tried to reach the door, and Lacroix shot her in the hand. Fall-ing upon her knees the woman screamed, "Stanislas, what do you mean?" For an answer Lacroix shot her again and she fell dead. Lacroix returned to the house where his wife had been and shot dead an old man named Hippolyte Thomas de Fran-chemontagne.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

A Semewhat Mysterious Affair at the

Hamilton, March 24.—Early yesterday morning a young man named Hunt was taken to the General Hospital suffering from gunshot wounds. The police heard of the case, and during the day tried to get some information regarding the shooting, but the hospital authorities refused to give any information to the detectives, who were unable to see the injured man. No information was laid in the case, and the inference was that Hunt did not want it known how he was injured. The injured man was Charles Hunt, son of Richard Hunt of Barton-on-the-Mountain. He and several other young men, it is alloged, were on their way home about 12 o'clock Saturday night. They were quite hilarious, and sang songs on the Jolley Cut at the head of John street. They stopped in front of Mr. Charles Jolley's residence longer than was agreeable to some of the immates. A window went up and a head went out. They were ordered to move on. All did so but Hunt and Alfred Taylor. They were defiant. A man said he would shoot if they did not go away. They didn't go, and he fired. It is alloged he shot twice, one barrel for each. Taylor was also struck. Just how badly the men were injured cannot be learned. Hamilton, March 24.—Early yester

Owen Sound, March 24.— John Hoines of Koppel was brought before Mr. George Spencer, P. It was proven that the accused had brutally beaten and kicked the boy, who was working for his board and clothing only, and that he had finally turned him out on a cold day to find his way home, some 14 miles, as best he could, with the result that, being poorly clad, his feet and hands were frozen. The bench sentenced the accused to three months in Jail.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 28th, THE "STUNTED POPLAR" POLICY.

Those reform newspapers and speakers who point the finger of scorn at Mr. Whitney and declare that he "has no policy" except that of mere negation are not, we humbly sobmit, treating the leader of the Opposition with justice. It is not fair

Mr. Whitney has a very distinctly Mr. Whitney has a very distinctive and characteristic policy. He has a very distinct platform, though it is not very strong or safe. A phrase has been coined with epigrammatic skill and Parisian taste by a tory organist to describe it, so that there who hurry by may read it at a glance and ponder over it. It is described in who burry by may read it at a giance and ponder over it. It is described in a word as the "stanted poplar" policy Now some people will say that this is pretty "punk." That it is "pulpous." That it is awarfed in proportions. That it is half dead-apd-alive.

That it is half dead-apd-alive.

Is there good reason for these as

Let us look at this matter, frank ly and fairly.

Mr. Ross and his colleagues have been laboring and planning to develope "New Outerlo," to make its great resources widely known, and to attract to it settlers who would be attract to it settlers who would otherwise probably go erross the border and build up a neighboring nution. To promote settlement it was tion. To promote settlement it was advisable to attract capital and in this there has been "wanderful success. Several very large and important enterprises, requiring very large capital inave been for mouths "busy as bees" developing New Ontario. Great railway projects, great iron and steel works, immense pulp mills, properties, many mining enterprises, many numerous mining enterprises, many humbering industries, are in evidence as results of the bold and progressive policy of the Ross administration. policy of the Ross administration.

Mr. Whitney and his colleagues have severed and oried down the "New Ontario" idea. When they have not severed, they have denounced and opposed and obstructed. The several government measures were loudy condemned as "outrageous public robberles." There was a certain method in this voolferous deertain method in this vociferous depunciation. It was thought that a charge loudly made and repeated with vigor, a la Boanerges, would be likely to be believed by at least a certain percentage of one's own po-litical following.

It is a vary simple and easy method. When arguments fall; when the facts don't work out just right; when the case is weak and wobbling, then go is for denunciation, and if all else fall, lug in Tarte. Tarte has not been brought in matter not been brought in yet to any ex-tent, but he will be made to do some service before the campaign is over. What we wish to point out lathat

What we wish to point out is that this "stunted poplar" policy of Mr. Whitney's has some advantages, and that it has an existence in the mind of the Opposition leader.

Contrast it for a moment with the bold enterprise of Mr. Ross in urging

But it was a singular fate that or-dered the "stanted popiar" to be inscribed on the banners of a great party as the most striking and signi-ficant emblem of its policy—the best it can devise for this great and grow-ng province.

Can business men afford to conduct ousliness on the "stunted poplar" nethod? No progress, no growth, no keeping abreast of or shead of he times?
Can farmers afford to plan their

Can larmers afford to plan their farm work on the "stanted poplar" method? Stanted crops, stanted cat-tle, stanted pigs, stanted families? Can this great and growing pro-vince—can Ontario afford to have its affairs managed on the "stanted popular" plan?

Senator Cox, as a business man, Senator Cox, as a business man, and a somewhat successful one, too, evidently thinks not. Speaking at the nomination of Hon. Mr. Stratton the other day at Peterboro, he said, "There is one thing that I, may say

"There is one thing that I, may say to the electors of Peterbore, and I repeak as a business man. I REGARD IT AS OF FIRST IMPORTANCE TO THIS COUNTRY THAT THE ROSS GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE SUSTAINED IN THE COMING ELECTIONS. (Loud cheers.) From impressions and the company of the co TIONS. (Loud cheers,) From impressions I have gathered during my trips throughout the province I cannot for a moment believe that there will be anything but the most tribule of the covernment umplace victory for that govern-ment. I regard it, too, as of first importance that you should retain as your representative in the legis-lature an influential member of the government, and sond back Mr. Stratton to represent you there. I nest you to do it and I am sure you will." (Hear, hear, and applause.)

What Mr. Cox said to West Peterboro can be applied to the electors of East and West Victoria—to return supporters of the Ross administra-tion and share in the benefits of a progressive and enterprising policy the development of the resources of the province.

Don't vote for "stunted poplars."

THE DEFERENDUM IN THE CAMPAIGN

It is evident that Mr. Whitney purposes to make the main fight of the campaign on two issues-opposition to the Referendum and opposition to the development of New Optario. He and most of his parliamentary supporters have denounced the Referending as unconstitutional and un-British; and Mr. Ross has been charged personally with endeavoying to evade the issue. The tory organs have accused Mr. Ross of moral cowardice for not making Prohibition— or the measure of it covered by the Manitoba act—a government meas-ure: to stand or fall by rt. It would be useless to point out that Mr. Rose has never taken this position; and that he could not do so under present circumstances. There has been no special mandate from the people on the question; and both parties are divided with respect to it. Mr. Rose is bound as a constructive statesman to consider this question in all its bearings, just as he is bound to consider all other questions. His views-and those of an colleagues an not which is to be referred to the people to vote upon on a special day, when public attention is undivid-ed by any other question. That is a common-sense, practical, fair and square way of dealing with this com-plicated problem, and we do not see how any reasonable man can lind ault with it. Certainly temperance men and prohibitionists—as reasonable, rair-minded men—cannot, or rather should not, It is true that many do find fault with 1t, 1or one alleged reason or another. Some of these reasons we propose to discuss

Of course, when it comes to dealing with the Referendum as a party question, and endeavoring to make party capital against Mr. Ross, that is another question. That is where Mr. Whitney comes in. If Mr. Whit-ney decides to take that stand-and he has so decided-that is all right Put we fear that not a lew of the extreme prohibitionists who are dereacting the impossible from Mr. Ross, or who are condemning him for not doing the impossible, are looking at the Referendum and every. thing Mr. Ross does with spectacies of the same shads as Mr. Whitney's. We do not suggest for a moment that they are intending to make polfforward the patriotic and inspiring tieal capital for Mr. Whitney. Per-blos of "Building up New Ontario."

Dut if the Referendum had been on entirely new plan it would be observed to condemn it as un-British or unconstitutional, if on its own merits it seemed fair and just and de-sirable. Are we to have no improvement in methods of legislation or government lest some one may stand up and say it is un-British, and that it was not so done in the good old days when George III. was King? Lot us take a leaf out of the Chinese books and stay as we are for the next thousand years. The Referendial was recommended a good many years ago by Mr. (now Sir William) Mercelith, when leader of the Opposition, as a wise and proper method of ascertaining public opinion on this important social guestion, and of securing radification by the people of an act dealing with the question—in precisely the way followed by Mr. Ress. Mr. Mercelith was an authority on constitutional questions, and he would not have spoken in favor of a course that was unconstitution. ent in methods of legislation or got he would not have spoken in favor of a course that was unconstitutional or un-British. He was not trying to evade the issue. Mr. Morzdith's opinion is a complete and unanswerable refutition of Mr. Whitev's present contention. The comparison geens unavoldable as to whether Mr. Meredith or Mr. Whitney would foom or bulk up the larger before the public as a constitutional authority and as a sagacous political leader. A good many conservatives apparently are regretting that tives apparently are regretting that Mr. Whitney did not adopt the plan advocated by Mr. Meredith. But Mr. Whitney has decided upon straight and determined opposition to the Referencium just as he is against New Ontario. He is "agin the gov ernment' and all their works.

Having decided upon the Referen-dum it was not to be expected that he main details of date of vote and the question of majority could be so arranged as to please everyone. We regret to observe an evident determination on the part of some of the more ardent or more extreme prohib-tionists not to be satisfied with any plan that the government might de-cide upon that did not exactly con-cide with their own preconceived deas, and consequently there has been heard in too many quarters the sweeping assertion that this is "a todded Referendum;" that the plan adopted is a very unfair one; and that it is doomed from the start to certain defeat. Some men who ought to know better, and who ought to take a higher stand, predict utter defeat for the temperance cause. It would look as if they were prepar-ing for defeat and making ready to throw the responsibility on the Ross administration. That is not the way to make a good fight. It is not even good party politics. If the temper ance cause was ever worth working for it is worthy of the best efforts now. The Westminster takes a clean now. The Westminster takes a clear stand on this phase of the question misted. Then it continues;

misted. Then it continues:

"Are not prophibitionists sincere, positive, untirthable and ready to go to the poils of a special day for prohibition's own sake? If not, the sentiment is not strong enough or active enough to make the law a vital thing. The real enemies of prohibition in Ontario this day are not the liquor men, nor the santi-prohibitionists, but the disheartened and despendent leaders who are waiting that the cause is dead, killed by a reference to the people and by a demand for a three-in-eight vote. Prohibition would be dead, nod every other good cause would be dead, too, were all its friends as furth-hearted and faithless as some of its leaders whose cries on the housetops have made for the discouragement of the people."

All winter the refrair has been sounding forth, "Spring is coming, for the swallows tell me so." Now we southing torus, "Spring is councy, to we may sing, "Spring is come, for the openings tell me so." And how deligations! Nature has responded! ciuts by man's hand, And yet year by year the shades and textures are becoming more mently perfect; to see this, look at the indinnery display in Duraces & riacter Bros.

The artistels howers were never more natures, the textures of the loces and the straws never more thiny and were loce and the straws never more thiny and were loce and the textures are the softer in shade and quality, the hats themselves never more exquisite in design and trimming. The prevailing shades this year lend themselves to a minities and beauty seniom exceeded; the tuscan, and so fashionable, combines so exquisitely with the shades of blues, prike and greens. Green blending into blue and greens. Green blending into blue and greens, or it is considered the control of shades where the old rooms and the party pink seem to mingic. With these soft that most often seen in ribbons and flowers—for these seem the favorite trimmings—lage is abundantly used, from the leavy tuscan and linen to the flimy neb and real brussels takes, caught up with glittering ornaments of pearls and brillants.

One of the most stylish shapes is this continental, a three-cornered turban that forcibly reminds one of Napoleon and his era. One of the involve the flowers forming the rim and green ribbon decorating the crown. The turbans are all pretty especially a large flat one of pale blue covered with black, with long capreys and black velvet rosettes studied with clusters of pearls. A large black and white hat attracted a good deal of attention, the bluck border with a crown of folded white chilfon and two black plumes longing over the back, and long black velvet streamers over the shoulder; this has the famous name of "The Floradora." Another hat, called after the popular opera, is of grey straw with pluk flowers round the crown and a long grey plume drooping over the face.

One of the Parislan novelties is a large flat shape of green straw with tuscan lace crown and yellow flowers, with large folds of green ribbon. One is of fawn with black and tuscan lace and large knots of roses tint.

One of the daintiest hats is of fawn straw bordered with fall of lace over cream and pink roses, with crashed folds of fawn and cream sattu ribbon and long ribbon streamers.

But the eye can take in what word painting fails to describe; one needs a new vocabulary of expletives, adjectives and nouns to describe a military opening, with its various shades of color and varieties of singe. To Miss McCuske, Miss Ahern, and their assistants, much praise is due, for the blending of shades cannot be surprised, nor the variety of sinpetyle and color which they have displayed.

A visit to the large and handsomely decorated show rooms of this firm will convince anyone that Mesers, Sut-cliffe & Son take no second place in the display of spring millinery. The spacious rooms present a most attracished at side with white aigrette and rosette of black velvet rivbon.

A feature of this season's millinery is the extensive use of finely platted table or chiffon and also taffetta for entire hats, Innumerable yards of this material are disposed in successive rows over a stylish shope, and the brim facing carries out the same idea. Flowers and foliage are used more than ever. Black roses, also faded pink and yellow roses, produce artistic effects.

Among the ornaments the cabooban taken a prominent part. It suggests a large round button and is made of poorles, jet beads and fancy braids and is used extensively in the centre of reaction.

The ladies shewed genuine interest in the opening at R. B. Alian & Conme opening at ht. B. Annual & cager to get a first glimpse of the new spring styles they turned out in large numbers. Visitors pronounced the milinery opening this year "prettier than ever," and Miss Wallace, the young ever," and alise wallace, the young lady in charge was complimented very highly on the fine exhibit made and the good taste everywhere dis-played. The decorations deserve a word of praise—the rooms look charming.

A very stylish and popular model is the "three-cornered" or Tricorne lat. which in New York is called the "Alice Roosevelt." The shape is very Insulandible and becoming. There will be a great many American ready-to-wear lints worn this sentage, which are very effective for outing purposes and lexpensive.

The nats are all trimmed quite low, and probably the newest feature of the season is the exclusive use of pearls in various forms, such as strings, buckles and cabuchons. The rew brilliant finished fancy strawe are irdeed levely, some hats being made critically of chrysanthemun straw, very irgeniously arranged. Those combined with malnes, sequings, mosselies, chilions and ribbens form the chief foundations of the hats, while the quant tes of flowers used exceeds anything in that the lory years. Roses in all sizes come first, with low of foliage, many new things being send generated hat. I have soon as white and black malden-harfern; there is also abundance of illne, forget-me-nots, violets and lily of the valley, and these combined with the soft nets and rich factions from beautiful hats.

Attention is attracted to an applegreer maline hat, trimmed with pink roschuds and foliage, band on left side, with knot of rose pink veitet, and pearl ornaments, crown draped with velvet and limished on back with roschuds and toality in the mals the brim formed of a heautiful piece of sik line colored material, or which are weven large pale yellow flowers and finen colored material, or which are weven large pale yellow flowers and foliage; the crown is of pile blue and kinen colored material, or which are weven large pale yellow flowers and foliage; the crown is of pile blue and kinen colored material, or which are weven large pale yellow flowers and foliage; the crown is of pile blue and kinen colored material, or which are weven large of apple-colored velvet, drupe of heavy kinen-colored silk lace, trimmed with ros

The first hat noticed was a charming Paris pattern of May straw trimmed with fancy cord and wood shade roses, and draped with fancy ribbon. Reporters are privileged persons and a stolen peep was taken at a hat which in the near future will adorn the brows of a bride-to-be. The hat is of Oriental design and is a beautiful creation. It is trimmed with crimpled chiffon; one large phush rose is placed at the front, while two white plumes fall over the back; there are several fancy consments. LINICAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 28th,

SIR RICHARD GARTWRIGHT

Replies for the Government to Speech of Mr. Borden.

THE FRAUDS IN THE CENSUS

Telling Arraignment of Conservative Administration-Descriptionts From Quebec Show How the Population Figera' Interests Bust Be Consid-

Ottawa, March 19.-The second day's debate upon the budget was one of the most interesting that hus been witnessed for several years. The leader of the Opposition concluded his attack upon the Government in a speech of an hour and a half's duration, in which he laid down the trade policy of his party on the lines of the amendment which he moved to the motion of the France Minister. Ho spoke with force and vigor, and aroused the enthusiasm of his approving.

Sir Richard Cartwright spoke at greater longth than has been his custom in recent years, and for some three hours held the close attention of the House. He dealt exhaustively with the tariff and trade questions, and advanced the claim of the farmers, if protection were to be the law 826 worth of animals and farm produce, or less than one-third what we take from them. We export to the United States $4,963,247 worth of manufactured goods, or less than one-thirteenth what we buy from them; in fact, deducting coin and builton, our exports to the United States had increased very little in 15 years, while our imports from that country had increased in that period about threefold.

It was worth while enquiring if it were not possible for the people of Canada to manufacture a considerable proportion of the $56,000,000 we take every year from the United States. It was certainly possible the United States is very short time, if the Government would enact a sufficient, system of protection to do so, and, keep in this country the people who are now going to the United States to work in the very factories there which are turning out the articles which afterwards come to Canada to flood our markets. Surely it was possible also that the $25,700,000 of extricultural products and animals could be produced here, and so increase the wealth and prospericy of our farmers. Last year we imported of animals, $751,025; breadstuffs $7,432,530, (near $24,33,77), provisions, $2,257,183; seeds and roots, $1,205,485, and vegetables roots, $1,205,485, and vegetables $370,419, Mr. Borden said in conclusion: "What we want in this country is a doclared policy. We have not had that during the post flue years. We have Sir Richard Cartwright telling declared policy. We have years. We have Sir Richard Cartwright telling us that the ship's head is polited towards the open sea of free trade. We have had Mr. Fielding telling us that the tariff is a matter of compromise. We have had Mr. Silton telling us in the west that this is a free trade or revenue tariff. We have had Mr. Tarte openly and repeatedly telling the people that he is a protectionist first, has and all the time. We have had him telling the people that there is a crisis because there is not sufficient protection, and we had him telling the people that there is a crisis because there is not sufficient protection, and we had the Prime Minister at the same banquet telling is the tariff is as nearly perfect as it can be. (Caughter.) How can they expect men to put their money into the industries of the country with confidence. We do not want a Carbinet of one national and Canadium policy. (Cheers.) That is the greatest missfortune which any country under Heaven can suffer from. We could not want such vague suggestions as Mr. Fielding's, that the tariff will be readjusted in time. With all moderation, we want a declared policy, so the people will know what to expect.

SIR RICHARD'S REPLY.

Tolling Avraignment of Conservative

In one of the Anest speeches ever heard within the walls of the House of Commons Sir Richard Cartwright replied to Opposition criticisms of the Government's fiscal policy, and a complete exposure of the brands which marked the census takreplied to Opposition criticisms of the Government's fiscal policy, and made a complete exposure of the frauds which marked the census taken by Conservatives in 1891. Sir Richard was in his best form and he trought the Ministerialists up to he highest pitch of enthusiasm. In 10 branch of the speech did the veteran parliamenturian fall to acquit dimental with the marked to his treatment of the census returns, and his corching demunciation of the instrument of the census returns, and his corching demunciation of the instrument of the census returns, and his corching demunciation of the instrument of the census returns, and his corching demunciation of the instrument of the census returns, and his corching demunciation of the instrument of the census counted in 1891. Sir Richard gave the evidence for entertaining the strong belief that at least from 125,000 to 150,000 persons had been wrongly counted in 1891, and consequently should be added to the census taken hast year. With respect to Quebec, the evidence obtained as the result of an investigation carried on by Mr. Thomas Oote, Assistant Ohief Census Commissioner, seems to be overwhelming. Everyone knows that in Quebec the cures make a careful enumeration of the population in their parishes, the fairnoss and accuracy of which are undoubted. Investigation reveals that in 1891, the census ounted 40,014 more names than were recorded three months previously by the parish priests. In the same 24 counties the census of 1901 agrees with the parish priests. In the same 24 counties the census of 1901 agrees with the parish priests. maintained a chagrified silence. But these were not the only proofs of the utter unreliability of the statistics of 1891 offered by Sir Richard. He recalled the choice samples of the way in which the onumerators of that time created to order 25,000 industries, with the object of bolstering up the National Folicy. In 1881 Canada possessed cleven carpet factories, and in 1891 the number was put as 657. Of these 70, omploying 69 souls, were represented as being in Antigoriesh. Ns. The adjoining county of Shebburne was credited with having 69 knitting factories; Huntingdon, Quebec, with having 40 basket factories, employing 61 souls, and Port Hope 147 industrial establishments, of which 120 omployed 290 hands. With regard to Ontario, if the cansus for the two decades under review were correct the remarkable result followed that the 1901 was three times as great or the growth from 1801 to 1901 although the latter period comprised four 3 were of remarkable prosperity.

Tour years of remarkable prosperity. In Ontario botween 1881 and 1891 the number of families had increased from 868,000 to 614,000, giving an increase of 48,000 families and an increase of 191,000 in population. The last census, however, showed an increase from 1891 to 1901 of 40,307 families, and a total growth of population of only 68,000, as against 191,000 in the provious decade. On the other hand, excluding the newer districts of Ontario, the growth in the province, according to the municipal census between 1896 and 1901, lad been about 78,000, while the Government census gave an increase cipal census between 1896 and 1991, had been about 78,000, while the Government census gave an increase of only 16,000. The deduction was clear that there was considerably more persons in Ontario in 1991, and that one of two things had occurred Either the census of Ontario was unduly diminished in 1901 by the errors of enumerators, or the census of 1891 was most unduly swollen by the grave frauds of Conservative enumerators. Sir Richard would prefer to take the former probability, but the evidence pointed to the Conservative enumerators being animated by party motives in showing that there had been no reduction in population. If this was not a sufficient reason it did not affect but only proved Sir Richard's argument, that between 1891 and 1901 the increase in population had been larger than the increase between 1881 and 1891.

The Claim For More Protection.

The Claim For More Protection.

Sir Richard was vary outspoken in his roterence to the claim of more protection for the manufacturers. He had no quarrel with them, but desired to do justice to them as to all classes. This Government had treated the manufacturers with the greatest possible consideration, and the way to advance their interests was not to impose higher taxes upon the rest of the community. If there was to be protection let it not be the jug-handled arrangement which prevailed under the late Government, but one in which the farmers would share.

Mr. Oaler. Mr. Osler, who followed Sir Richard Cartwright, said that all the House had listened to for three and a half hours as but a rottion of what the members had often listened to before.

Mr. Heyd moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House rose at 10.25 nm.

London, March 19.—The debate last evening in the House of Commons on motion of Liberal leader Sir Heary Campbell-Bannerman for the appointment of a solect committee to investigate the whole commercial history of the South African war, including the contracts for the purchase of remounts, meat and forage, and the contracts for freight, called out several aerimonious exchanges of remarks. Reginald McKenna (Liberal) commenting upon the Remount Department, declared that widespread corruption in the horse purchases had been disclosed in almost every country on the globe.

Lord Stanley, Financial Secretary to the War Office, replied to McKenna with an angry denial of a specific charge regarding the purchase of horses in Spain. He said the statement was maliciously false and demanded.

Mr. McKenna said he took his facts from the report of the comptroller and the auditor-general. The imputation of malice was wholly false, but, it was only part of the bogus defence in which the Government was then engaged. He quoted figures and claimed that they bore out his accusations.

Mr. Lambton (Liberal-Unionist) drew Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's fire by declaring that the leader of the Opposition, by his reckless language, had taken from many people the consolation of feeling that their relatives who had died in South Africa had fallon honorably in the service of their country.

To this Sir Henry replied angrily. 'I give the most complete and most comprehensive denial to every word the honorable gentleman has said."

This statement caused confusion in the House and cries of "withdraw," but Sir Henry refused to withdraw his remarks, and Mr. Lambton said his language to Sir Henry referred to "methods of barbarism" and similar talk about the concentration camps and other methods.

The Speaker, Sir William Court Gully, Interrupting, exclaimed: "Both gentlemen are out of order."

Mr. Lambton thereupon apologized, but said that utterances such as he had quoted were gravely injuring the soldiers in South Africa, and the House ought to demand an authoritative declaration of the Opposition's attitude on this question.

Mr. Norton (Advanced Liberal), joined in the attack on the Government. He declared that the losses on South Africa amounted to from 270, 000 to 2100,000. When chalitaged the transports of each column in regarding his authority for the statement, committee to investigate the matter and had then pigeon-holeed the evidence.

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.

Children are not alike either. One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull' children, puts new flesh on thin ones and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow. Scott's Emulsion makes ordi-

In the Orange River Colony, the case of the Boers are dismounted in I in hiding, while, because of the centro of Devet, they are without a prominent leader.

In the Eastern Transvaal, south of the Delagoa Railway line, there are still organized commandoes, but none over 300 strong. All are continually bustled, and every month Commandant-General Botha's influence grows weaker. North of the Delagoa Line, the Boers are more anxious to lead peaceful lives, and will embrace the first opportunity to discontinue hostilities without rendering possible a charge of cowardice.

In the Western Transvaal, the correspondent goes on to say, the Boers are supplied with guns and ammunition, and have unlimited transport and a large amount of stock. Their numbers give them confidence, and the blockhouse system has not been extended sufficiently to alarm them. Because of their general insufficiency the British troops are unable to cope adequately with the Boer forces, all of the burghers in the Western Transvaal being äghting men. The waverers have been captured or have surrendered, and those in the field seem to have no Intention of surrendering.

Delightful Entertainment at the Academy Last Thursday Evening.

Our music-loving citizens, and all who appreciate high-class taient, owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. J. Parnell Morris for many treats provided in the past, and the debt was added to Mast Thursday evening, when Mr. Hirven Jones, England's most embent tenor, Miss Hida Richardson, violon-cellist, and Mr. Owen A. Smiley, the well-known Cunadian locutionist and humorist, appeared here as a result of his enterprising efforts.

The interest of the large and representative audience was centred in Mr. Jones, this being his first visit to Canadas Mr. Jones is a large man, of commanding presence, and possesses a part tenor of great range and power. His first number made him a favorm site, and of this he received many evidences during the evening. His solucions were interpreted with great taste and remarkable expression. His first was a double number, "I Abtempt from Love's Sickness to Fly," (Purcell), and Handel's "The Enemy Said." In the first, a fine old song, the quality of Mr. Jones' voke was heard to splendid advantage. As an encore he gave a wonderfully effective rendition of the Soutch ballad, "Loch Lomond." Mr. Jones' second appearance was for a triple number, the songs of "My Lady Sleeps," (Cowen), "An Irish Love Song" (Lang) and "O My Love's Like a Red, Red Rose." (Loch). When recalled he sang "Molle Bawn." His third number was two Welsh melolies, he first, "The Dove," being sang in Welsh and the second, "Nos Galan" in English fine latter was a spirsted and pretty song and was demonstratively encored, when Mr. Jones repeated it in Welsh in a manner that made the native spirit of the Welshman enter hat to the interpretation.

Miss Richardson was on the program for three numbers but her grandous response to the enthusiastic recalls and vivoxe, his two musical sketches were calced in a particularly finished and vivoxe was a effective and finished third, Dunkler's "Caprice." —It is estimated that there are one million people in Cincago wiso never go to church. This means more than half of the population of the city. In order to reach them the misisters of the various evangelical congregations have started a movement to hold joint services in tents set up in all parts of the city, it is hoped that people who are not attracted by the churches will find their way into the tents. Missionaries who go down into the deeps of city life hold that it is not lack of religious feeling that keeps people away from the churches, but a sense of lack of sympathy and sensitive consciousness of poverty. There are few who have not some religious cerviction and sense of religious cerviction convert the heathen in savage lands they mosey on foreign missions to convert the heathen in savage lands they neglect the spiritually destitute heathen at their doors in the great cities. This charge, as everybody acquainted with church work knows, is not true. The churches and missions cannot force these home heathen into line any more than they can the foreigners. Yet it may be possible in cities like Chicago that it is necessary for church workers to systematise and extend their local missions. It is a well known fact that many will attend open-air meeting who cannot be Induced to go near a church. Especially is this true among those who think the

—The Lindsay Clab should organize for the coming season and arrange with Peterboro and Port Hope as to the formation of a Midhand league. Baseball is the summer game, and the only way to get the people interested is to form a league. Now is the time for local baseballists to get together and take the matter over. The Lindsay team had a successful season last year. They played three games last summer, wanning two of them. Peterboro and Port Hope lost to the locals and the Kingston Ponies won by a good margin. The chib went in debt to the extent of $15$, but taking into consideration that they had many obstacles to overcome as a result of the previous year's financial statement they finished well. There is no reason why Lindsay should not have the best team in the Midhand district as there is plenty of good material which only needs to be developed. We would suggest that the older players who have been in the game for years, drop out and give the younger element an opportunity. ation Probably Withdrawn,

London, March 24.—In the House of Commons yesterday the War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, announced that a fortnight ago Mr. Schalle-burger intimated to Lord Kitchener his desire to be granted a safe conduct through the British lines and back in order to see Mr. Steyn with reference to the possibility of peace proposals. Lord Kitchener, with the consent of the Government, has acceded to the request, The announcement of the War Secretary was received with cheers.

An Armisitee Arranged.

The Daily Chronicle this morning asserts that an armistice has been arranged pending the duration of Schalkburger's mission to Gen. Dewet, and that offensive operations against Dewet, Delarcy and Bothan will be suspended; also that these three generals have agreed honorably to observe the armistice and to refrain from operations until the return of the envoys to the Boer lines.

Will Withdraw Banshment.

London, March 25.—The Associated Press has good reason to believe that Lord Kitchener, in his interview with Mr. Schalkburger, agreed to withdraw the banishment proclamation, issued in September, if Gen. Dewet and the other Boer leaders surrendered.

In a despatch from Pretoria, made public last night, Lord Kitchener gives his usual weekly total of captures, etc., but does not mention the Schalkburger incident. Will Withdraw Banishment, move of Arting Fresheatt Schmitzurger is the result of a communication from the Boer representatives in Purope.

A former member of the Transval Government said last night: After the exchange of the Dutch-English notes, a conference was called for February. This conference was attended by Mr. Kruger, Dr. Leyds, and the delegates, and it was decided to send six emissaries to South Africa by different routes, with despatches for Steyn and Schalkburger, giving them a detailed account of the situation. One of these agents ought to have arrived about this time.

Documents lately received from Schalkburger indicated that peace tarms had recently been discussed by the leaders for South Africa, but the leaders declared they could not accept anything less than the terms, demanded at Middleburg (by Gen. Botha, Feb. 28, 1901), and especially the point of complete amnesty for Cape rebels, because the greater part of the commandoes actually in arms are composed of Cape insurgents.

"The fact that the Boers in the fled are inclined to compromise their demands for absolute independence," continued the speaker, "seems to be indicated by the plan Schalkburger has outlined, for the government of industrial centres. This consists of a British board of administration, with proportional Boer representation."

Offer of Col. Huches.

Ottawa, March 25.—It is understood that Lieut-Col. Sam Highes, M.P., has made an offer to the Minister of Militia to raise a contingent of 2,500 men in Canada to go to South Africa to put down the Boer war. There are said to be conditions attached to the offer. One is that Col. Hughes is to go in the capacity of commander, and the other is that he will not be responsible to any British officer except Lord Kitchener or Gen. French, or some British officerer who, in the opinion of Col. Hughes, is competent and able to appreciate and take advantage of Canadian troops.

New York, March 24. — The Vribune says: A report was current three or four months ago, and denied at the time by representatives of both companies, that negotiations were in progress for the purchase by the United States Steel Corporation of a controlling interest in the Nickel Corporation of London, England. The basis for that report developed yesterday, when it was learned that Charles M. Schwab, acting, however, as an individual, and not in any sense as a repre-

per Company, when asked about a published statement that control of that company, the Canadian Copper Company of Cleveland, and the Nickel Company of Cleveland, and the Nickel Company of Paris, France, had been obtained by Mr. Schwab and several of his financial associates, who had organized a $9,-000,000 for taking over these properties, said:

"Our company obtains a large part of its supply of nickel from the mines of the Canadian Copper Company, in the Province of Ontario, and the New Caledonian Mines of the Nickel Comporation of London (not the Nickel Company of Paris). The stock of these two companies seemed to me a desirable investment, and I and several associates, among them Mr. Schwab, purchased a controlling interest in the Canadian Copper Company, and a considerable block of stock of the Nickel Corporation, although not enough to constitute control. It is our purpose to form a holding company, capitalized, probably at $9,000,000, to which will be transferred the controlling interest in the Canadian Copper Company and Canadian Copper Company and Canadian Coppe

Capacity of Stone Crushers

Capacity of Stone Crushers.

In reply to another question, Mr.
Campbell said a 17 horse-power arusher should crush 100 yards of stone a day, and a 12 horse-power crushers 60 to 70 yards.

Mr. Jas. Graham, of Lindsay, said Victoria County had a stone crusher which the townships of the county were allowed to use, paying $1.25 per cord of stone crushed for the use of if. This has a 14 horse-power engine, and will crush two cords per hour of ordinary field limestone. The strain on the engine was less than for an ordinary threshing. More power was required in moving the machine from place to place than in crushing the stone. "Our experience," added Mr. Graham, "is that no stone which will go through a proper revoking screen is too large for the bottom of the road. It you try to crush too fine you will get a lot of useless dust."

"There is no question as to the benefit of wire fenolog," added John Bright, of Myrtle, president of the South Ontario Institute. "We have good roads where there is no wire. It really costs us nothing to build fences, because where we spent 8500 in shovelling snow before the construction of these fences we are spendleg nothing now. The benefit of these fences in summer is even more apparent than the advantage in winter. Where a wire fence is not built the snow fills the roadway level during the wlater, and there is a meet spot for weeks in spring at the same place. That piece of road will cot up to such air extent than it sometimes costs 50 cents a rod to rebuilt the cut-up section, although a new road may have been built there but two years before."

Warden Gerow, of Pickering township gave one of the clearest pieces of evidence heard during the day as to the value of wire. "There is," said he, "one stretch of road in our township which is lived with wire for a distance of one and a half miles. There has not been a day, even during the exceptional winter for your horse on that plees of road, while exactly at the spot where the rail fence began there was a bank of snow you couldn't get through at all. In a few days from now the road where the wire fence is will be a mud-hole there for three or four weeks to come."

This is a most important matter, and should not be overlooked by municipalities.

"It would be well for the municipalities if they would make more frequent use of this department than they do by asking more frequently for an its. It is a mistaken, but popular, dea that a government audit is very expensive. In some cases if the creating is, in the cases of other with waterworks, electric light, frontage taxes, etc., and a long term of years to go over, but in the case of the average township audit, the expense need not exceed $150, or thereabouts. In the case of towns, no doubt the expense would be doubled, or even twebled, but my experience is that an audit of any municipality is a good thing, and if it does not remunerate the municipality in one way it does in another."

Mistakes on Both Sides.

(Buffalo News.)

Great Britain commenced the Boer war with the expectation that it would be finished in four months, that it would require 47,000 men that it would require 47,000 men, and that the whole outlay would not be over $49,000,000. Mr. Broderick says that the War Office is now feeding 300,000 men, 243,000 hores, and that on March 31 the cost of the war in South Africa will have reached $844,000,000. The Boers made a mistake also. When the war commenced they would just drive the British into the sea, and that would be the end of it. Few nations everestimated the cost of war anywhere rearly correct.

Hament in the Mother Constitution of the livelest scenes witnessed in the House of Commons since the palmiest days of the Irish Nationalists, ended yesterday afternoon with the suspension of John Dillon. During the discussion of South African affairs, the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, yigorously protested against the Government's conduct in uttering "maligant slanders" in calling the Liberals "pro-Boers."

The Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, in the course of an equally incisive reply, said he desired deliberately to accuse Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of losing no opportunity for alandering his countrymen, the soldiers and the Government. Consequently the "malignant slanders" had come from the Opposition side.

The Speaker, Sir William Court Gully, here intervened and declared that the term "malignant slander" was unparliamentary.

Both Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Chamberlain thereupon withdrew the words, amid cheers.

Mr. Chamberlain, proceeding, referred to the Boers who are fighting on the Eritish side, when John Dillon (Irish Nationalist) interjected, "They are traitors," on which Mr. Chamberlain retorted:

"The honorable gentleman is a good judge of traitors."

A scene of great confusion ensued. When order was partially restored Mr. Dillon demanded a ruling on Mr. Chamberlain's words.

The Speaker said:

The motion was carried by 248 to 48 votes.

Mr. Dillon immediately, by direction of the Speaker, left the House, amidst wild Nationalist cheers, and Mr. Chamberlain resumed his speech.

Mr. Dillon's suspension under the present rules cannot exceed a week. His offence would have been much more severely dealt with had the new rules been in force.

The ejection of Mr. Dillon did not serve to clear the atmosphere, and the remainder of the debate was filled with personal allusions and unpleasant expressions, the nature of which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion.

which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion.

David Lloyd-George (Welsh Nationalist), bitterly attacked the Government, drawing a harrowing pleture of conditions in South Africa, and charged the War Office with pigeon-holing important information.

Sir Charles Cayser (Conservative), interrupted Mr. Lloyd-George, saying that the speaker was playing to the pro-Boers, whereupon Mr. Lloyd-George characterized the interruption as "an insolent remark."

This caused confusion in the House and chorus of "Withdraw."

John Redmond (leader of the Irish party in the House of Commons), appealed to the chair, and Sir Charles reluctantly withdrew his statement.

W. R. Plumer (Conservative) and Mr. Redmond then had an altercation, and, after more disorder, Mr. Lloyd-George succeeded in finishing with the remark that he did not know who was responsible for all the errors and incompetency in South Africa, but that the men who had profited by these conditions now sat upon the Government benches.

Mr. Prodrick, the Secretary of State for War, answered Mr. Lloyd-George with a long defence of the War Office.

The Feeling in troland.

London, March 21.—The feeling in Ireland is well illustrated by a resolution now on its way to Mr. Kruger, "care of Queen Wilhelmina," adopted yesterday by the Edenderry (King's County) guardians, an elective body, as follows:

"We desire to record our admiration of the magnificent stand the brave South African Republics have made against the colosal might of the British Empire, and to congratulate the humane Boer leader, Delarcy, on his recent great victory, which not only covers England with disgrace and ridicule, a result eminently gratifying to the rest of the civilized, world, but which must have a chattening effect on rae augoes of the present which we will be present the control of the country of the present of the civilized, world, but which must have a chattening effect on rae augoes of the correct white country but the control of the present white country the present white country the control of the present white country the control of the present white country the control of the present white country the present the pr

Mr. Wessels said he did not believe the ammunition found in the ruins of the Hoboken fire was intended for the Boers. "The Boers have no money to buy ammunition," said he, "but when they need any all they have to do is to capture a British convoy and they have enough to supply them for a long time. The Boer war is a long way from ending as yet. We have about 12,000 troops in the field to-day, and they are fit and strong. London, March 21.—The morning papers here yesterday contained a cablegram from Ottawa to the effect that the steamship Victorian, with the second section of the 2nd Battalion Canadian Mounted Rifles on board, were held at quarantine at Durhan with seyeral cases of smallpox among the men. Enquiry at the War Office and at the Admiratry yesterday failed to clicit any information and at both offices it was stated that no such report had reached there. At the Admiratry it was further stated that the Victorian was on her way home.

The Speaker said:

Mr. Dillon then said:

"I will tell the right honorable gentleman that he is a damned liar."

A dead silence followed this remark. Such unparliamentary language scened to stun the House.

The Speaker invited Mr. Dillon to withdraw the expression, but the latter said:

"I will not withdraw."

"Then I must name you," said the Speaker.

The Government leader, A. J. Balfour, then said:

Ottawa, March 21.—Dr. Roddick's bill to provide for the establishment of a Medical Council in Canada came up yesterday morning before the select committee appointed to consider it. Dr. McDonald, the Deputy Speaker, presided. The chairman suggested that the first thing to do was to discuss the constitutionality of the bill. Hon. Mr. Fisher did not think so. He said that they should proceed to discuss the clauses of the bill and allow the proper authorities to settled the constitutionality of the measure. Mr. McKinnon, Prince Edward Island, agreed with Mr. Fisher. Dr. Roddick said that there was no interference of any kind with the autonomy of the provinces. All the bill asked was that the qualifications of every practitioner should be as high as the highest, no nigher. The bill was then discussed clause by clause. When Sub-section C and D of Section 4, dealing with the requisition for registration and the Board of Examiners were reached, Hon. Sydney Fisher asked for information, as these clauses appeared to a lay mind to intringe on provincial autonomy. Dr. Roddick said that the intention of Sub-section 3 of Section 6 was to provide that this law could not come into force in any province until said province had passed legislation puting it into force. Mr. Fisher thought a special clause would be necessary to accomplish this. The clause stood over until the next meeting. The sub-section providing for the election of representatives of each provincial council stood over. It was auggested that the members of the council should be elected by the profession annually. After some further consideration of the others clauses the committee adjourned.
